Janu served as the gatekeeper to all attunements, but his remarks are only included if they added to an understanding of the topic. The Brotherhood of the One Light provided most of the information. At this point in the process, I was no longer joined by my friend. At this point, we also came across more glyphs that were not pertinent to the series being presented, or which were entirely bogus. An explanation of why the glyph is being skipped is always given, before moving on to the next one in the sequence. A diagram of these skipped glyphs is presented, but in much smaller size, so that the reader can discern the glyph upon which to focus. The Table of Contents includes only the focal glyph, which explains the missing numbers.

The patterns should be seen as a portal or key to journey into or through in order to engage the multi-dimensional reality and gain the understanding represented. The reader is encouraged to take his/her own journeys through the glyphs as the experience of a glyph is multi-dimensional and may be different for each individual.

T-57: the fluid nature of human destiny

July 10, 2000 B

THE BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: Today's exercise in recurrent interpretation of the movement of human consciousness, your designation T-57, will represent the human journey of what we would call the elongation of the curve of human destiny into the looping reality of the co-existence of your true nature and your fields of expression and experience.

T57

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

Now, to continue this further, today's journey shall embark upon the plan of human destiny and its fluid nature. This will be a stretch for some of more rigid concepts of the nature of life and their own being, for it will instill the foundation for relating to the expansion of consciousness necessary to more fully embrace your opportunities of life. Let us proceed then into this opportunity, experiencing then a measure of the fluidity of human destiny. Not just of your three dimensional existence but of consciousness as well.

Attune to, then at this time, and embrace this configuration. The lower right configuration is the point of entry, so to speak, with your third dimensional empirical concepts, perceptions, being transfigured, transformed then, once entering into the more diverse and richer fluid nature of life. Touch now, with your mind and your intellectuality, this configuration and proceed past this into the fluid nature of life that the heart, so to speak, knows so well. Proceed.

(Extended pause)

Having established this connection, mentally allow the transformation into heart-mind, non-linear, non-time-based knowingness. That is correct. The non-linear co-existence of reality provides a completeness and symmetry and balance <that> linear concepts do not generally achieve. When knowingness occurs in this reality its connection with all of life is revealed. And this includes your own journey, dear one. Forever will you perceive life as a complete reality through any element of it. This will take some getting used to but it will influence all of your perceptions and relationships. You are essentially a non-linear being, of which linearity or linear reality is but a moment in its design. In this reality, you own all of time and therefore co-create its reality to serve the destiny of your journey and all that it touches, benefits. Practice this often, especially in times of confusion.

T-58 and T-59: the Pendulum of Life

July 28, 2000 A

THE BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: This designation T-58, this glyph, represents to us an anomaly in the patterned sequence of these discourses. This pattern shall represent an attempt by those to confuse the issue of communication achieved through the other presentations of pattern.

T58

T59

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

Therefore, we shall bypass this offering and continue then with the next designation, T-59, which is what you might call a legitimate offering, for it represents to us and, should you choose, to you as well the Pendulum of Life. Now, in the two dimensional current graphical presentation, this seems straightforward and simple understanding. However, understand this, dear one, that there exists a multi-dimensional reality to the Pendulum of Life that on certain levels appears to be non-reciprocating with continuous movements in every direction at once. Now, for your purposes of understanding in your current environs, this two dimensional presentation of pattern serves its purpose. We would, however, extend this understanding to include that which lies beyond it.

To understand, then, the Pendulum of Life, including your own, we would have you see it in this way. All of life is in motion as you already know. There exists, however, in any motion, reciprocal currents of life that, as you will, "push" and "pull" producing the patterns of life and their uniqueness of influence within themselves and on each other. So the Pendulum of Life, you see, represents the myriad complexities of what not only causes the life motion but that which produces the necessity for it. For life does perpetuate itself, and this pendulum, even in its simpler presentation, represents this. The movement in one direction precipitates the movement in another by the inherent nature of each movement. This is, in a sense, a fundamental principle in the ongoingness of life and we would have you see it in this way. Every motion has the imperative of another motion by virtue of its nature, and on and on and on.

To understand this, one must prepare oneself for engaging the many uniquenesses of life and their patterns as if they were an extension of your own life motions and vice versa. We would have you do this by facilitating, in your consciousness, the pattern of reversal that best represents your current life motion. This reversal pattern speaks to that which reflects, is reflected in and demonstrates through its pattern your own.

What purpose is there, then, in this understanding, other than to once more build the foundation for understanding your connectedness with life to the point where your perspective on your relationship with it is expanded? This glyph connects you with, or represents your connection with, life in motion that never ceases so that your appreciation of the rest of life is never static, including the understanding of your own. This glyph represents a turn away from the isolated nature of the human ego identity into the Family of Life.

T-60 and T-61: the beginnings of true peace

Aug. 28, 2000 B

JANU: We would say straight away that this one T-60 pattern is an anomaly in the sequence. We would point your attention to those who endeavor to make a mockery of that which they do not understand. We will leave it at that and move on to the next configuration, T-61, which has meaning and depth in accordance with this series.

This glyph, then, represents the culmination of a series of steps in the human journey in consciousness, delivering humanity, so to speak, to the threshold that brings forward group understanding and cooperation. For this represents such, you see, and is designated the pattern of the beginnings of peace.

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: We are convening this afternoon, demonstrating to you through some restructuring of your patterns of being the relative configuration for understanding and engaging this particular pattern or glyph you see. This represents the harmonious culmination of certain achievements of consciousness in the human journey, leading to a threshold, as described by our brother, of the beginnings of true peace as a collective society and consciousness. We would have you know at this time that this pattern has been expanded upon, however, all have not retained its likeness in their being of conscious engagement of life to the degree necessary to take advantage of it. This configuration represents the alignment of the vehicles with the threefold nature of life in your realm of existence leading to the discovery and embracing of more complex realities of the peace that it represents. For this afternoon's journey into this pattern, we would have you understand that in some ways this is a regressive experience for you and in others, it's a confirming of that which you reach for.

Let us begin now by adopting the essential nature of this pattern into your core memory, allowing there to be a chord struck, a tone if you will, that ripples through your vehicles, bringing alignment and synergism. Practice this as we proceed and let the journey begin.

In the archive of memory for the human journey, this threshold of realization was established forty-nine millennia ago, on a small island in the area of your Pacific Ocean. It spread rapidly as the chord was struck, a resonance with the living consciousness of your world and its many structures of life force. This marked for some time the beginning of the movement of humanity into its true destiny. Its destiny lies in the fact that the true spirit of humanity has ordained, or decreed, the truth of its connection with your world. You see, humanity--the true spirit thereof--is more at one with the consciousness of your world than you realize.

The human journey is a journey of representatives of a model or pattern of interface, a vehicle of expression to facilitate the awakening of the destiny of an entire world. This is revealed through this glyph and your true nature. We would have you see this now for what it is and see your reason for being in a new and larger way.

T-62: the circular model of existence that perpetuates life

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: Let us examine your receptivity to that which this represents, foreseeing any possibilities of deep penetration interference. We examine closely here. And upon close examination see that which would forestall the anomalies needed in your current pathways of perception. To progress any further, then, we would require of you the moving forward into progressed states of understanding to include round or circular models of life. By this we mean the closed loop systems of life that by their very nature perpetuate their existence. For this understanding, represented by this configuration, conforms to that reality and we would have you know this.

Make the adjustment, then, at this time, embracing this model of life. Now then, from your linear, empirical concepts, align yourself with the two extensions of this orb as representing linear, dual reality and push off, so to speak, into this new, for you, model of understanding: closed loop functional life.

Sept. 11, 2000 B

The reason for this experience in the progression of your awakening, the foundations of life of which you are a part, is that this model of life finds its example throughout your universe in the root of your existence. Understanding life without beginning or end, starting or stopping point, always repeating and never repeating, and you begin to understand your impression at times of the seeming lack of continuity and randomly oriented flow of images. To realize that, that one's existence in your world is not rooted in linear life, is a significant opportunity to embrace other realities. They exist within your nature. We would have you know this for, to extend your understanding in this way, brings about, or brings forward, the patterns of understanding that unlock doors of opportunity to engage life in a larger way. Seeing your existence, then, as a cell in the body of life gives birth to new concepts. In this model of reality, one sees the beginning and end of things, and the progression of life simultaneously, for to experience any part of life in this model is to be positioned to connect with the rest of the model.

For practical application, let us examine any moment in your life's experience that can be defined as singular, unique in any way. Go there now and be that.

Yes, the first time you experienced flying in an aircraft. You were looking out the window of an airline with your grandfather in this life. And as you left the ground you realized there was no turning back. This key experience, when embraced within this model of understanding, connects you with every experience of this nature. You have experienced the no turning back many times and seeing these events in this way reveals their merit, their contribution, their liberating gift.

This marvel of perceiving life through your own brings about a resolution of the fears that so many harbor. We would have you know this simple truth and garner its benefit.

T-63 and T-64: the layers of the human identity

Sept. 25, 2000 B

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: What we have here, that being your designation T-63, is a frivolous attempt to impugn the reality of that which has been presented over the course of some time in these fields of grain.

We will continue then with T-64, being six concentric circles in close proximity. Concentric with one solid disk. This pattern, this representation speaks to the complexity of the human journey in terms of the layering of identities, individually and collectively, of the human experience, within the human experience. To reveal this more fully, one must embrace this pattern, this phenomenon, from the perspective of a ground zero, so to speak, perspective of what's happening within the human grid consciousness. Let us then identify for a moment with the center circle or disk as being your very own central identity and examine this layering phenomenon from there.

T63

T64

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

Proceed, then, with this shift in identity. You discover at first blush, so to speak, that you cease to have the sense of being what most have come to consider as human. And, if truth be known, you are and you are not, at the same time, that which you suppose. Continuing then with this movement in identity, one finds oneself free of any imperative to prove the worth of any of these layers, for they are, in a sense, shadow realities of no enduring substance, but exist to serve a purpose. To understand the nature of the human journey, one must examine it from this perspective, being able to come to conclusions with the unique view.

The six circles represent the six thresholds of the human experience, your current course being the third circle out from the center. This does not suggest that each circle progresses further away from the central reality. But is another threshold of the center reality's journey in this field of experience. You may, if you wish, choose to consider these circles as dimensional realities although this does not explain fully what is taking place.

We would have you note at this time that there are the beginnings, tendrils if you will, of consciousness excursions into the next ring. This increasing exponentially with time, which is a function of the third ring. Now, in a larger perspective, one can see that the thrust for movement into the fourth ring in the human journey does not exist solely from the efforts of life awareness in the third, but the fourth reality is beckoning, drawing the center of attention and experience from the third to the fourth. As you open your consciousness to this other side of the reality of the progression of consciousness, you can take advantage of this growing imperative. Do not forget that the reality of the six rings exists within the purview of the central core reality of your true nature. Therefore, these six realities do not escape their connection with who you truly are. Once again, the closed loop reality of life reveals itself in this structure of life.

T-65: The curved nature of reality

October 16, 2000 B

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: These many configurations are leading to an understanding that will engage the best opportunities of your future through preparation of the knowledge base and the quickening of that which humanity has achieved thus far which, when understood properly, casts light upon that which is to come.

For today's journey, we shall engage that which you have selected, T-65. To begin with, we shall prepare in this way, understanding that this configuration speaks to or addresses the cycles of life and the curved nature of reality that, in its finer understandings, connects all life together, for life is a curved or folded reality, as is your past and your future through the curving of the now, you see. We will engage this pattern at this time, functioning in the now reality of your being, which is the starting point for this journey.

T65

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

Let us begin even while we are speaking, for in the now of your being the future and past are understood as one. The now of your being is that reality that unites them, communicates with them, and coordinates them, and in the now of your being they are one, for no life is truly separate from any other and your past and your future are life. So while the understanding and experiencing of these glyphs are as a construct describing the human journey thus far, in the understanding of today's engagement your future is understood as well, for the past and the future are painted with the same brush, dear one, and you are that brush.

Let go, now, the habits of duality identification and allow the spectrum of life, past and future, to converge in your now understanding.

(Extended pause)

For now you see, dear one, you are in fact a time traveler, with past and future living within your being at the same time, free to roam its spectrum. For what you will become, you already are, for you cannot become that which does not live with in you. The linear journey of three dimensional life is the path of discovering that spectrum, which in its fuller truth is not limited to the linear journey, you see. So many attempt to understand and embrace the truth of their being from only one point in the spectrum of life and will always be limited to its dimension. You are the spectrum, dear one, and the spectrum exists within you. You are no more one point or another. And now understand the peace of non-attachment, even during full engagement. Living in this reality, this truth, brings one to an understanding of the true nature of life and their own being.

T-66: renewing humanity's forgotten relationship with the world's other species

October 23, 2000 B

JANU: Today's representation being T-66, a pattern best recognized by those who insist upon a better climate for the world's species in terms of survival. There are species in your world that are not human who have within them the potential to develop in profound ways their degree, their gift of not only consciousness but talents in the management of the world's resources of all kinds. Mankind's arrogance in the area of perceived supremacy and all-knowingness regarding the life forms of your world must give way to maturity of wisdom in enlightened relationship with these species. This glyph presented at this time will provide an opportunity to move into this understanding and reaffirm or renew humanity's forgotten relationship with the other species of your world.

T66

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

THE BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: We come to you at this time prepared to do so as described by our brother Janu, having to do with an excursion into the lives of these species of your world which are many dimensional, profoundly interesting, and diverse in their culture and in their perception and grasp of the nature of life, including your world. Let us proceed, then, with preparation for the merging with the opportunity afforded by this pattern, entering then not so much as the human you have come to know and identify with being but as yet another species of this world filled with species. We do so now, at this time, partake of and energize or activate this pattern for your journey.

As you can see, the transition into this pattern is rather brief, when properly prepared, and in acceptance. And now you find yourself in communication with and observing the spatial and esoteric reality of this diverse life. Choose your communication, your contacts, and we shall proceed with this.

JR: Yes, my brothers. I choose at this time those that live in the seas and have clear memory of their movement in life and the origins of humanity and the purposes thereof.

THE BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: Seeing yourself, then, as a participating team member bodes well for your commitment. The selection for this request will be not the dolphins, as you had presumed, but those of the deep oceans, meaning the cephalopods with their ancient culture and traditions. As you can experience, their relationship with life at these great depths is somewhat more serene in terms of the many material distractions of the human journey, leaving them in full communication with the heart of the Earth and their fellow travelers on the journey of Earth life. Their greater physical flexibility and dexterity make them well suited for configurations of expression and acclimation. They have known of humanity's propensity for world domination and the consumption. They have the ability to adjust with the contortions of Earth's energetic reality and through this ability are able to read the many changes the earth is experiencing and contribute in their way. Mankind's somewhat rigid relationship with the movements of Earth life leave them out of touch with reading these changes and the communications that exist as a result. Mankind would do well to learn to be this adaptable to the eddies and currents of life with which they live, for this is one of the Earth's mediums of communication and each of the species have their unique pattern of communication interface with these fields of Earth life. For these fields are the product of Earth consciousness and have much to say.

We will withdraw, then, from this opportunity, thanking those species who have allowed this look into their lives and relinquish our hold on this alignment, allowing the return, then, to your former state.

T-67 and T-68: experiencing the reality of life as the entire human journey from its beginning to its conclusion

October 30, 2000 B

JANU: We would have you know at this time that this particular glyph breeches the security measures imposed by the authority for these by designating this glyph as available for scrutiny but it is as yet unauthorized for such. This particular glyph will result in such a measure of anomaly configuration in the organization of the balance between states of consciousness for the individual journeyer or traveler that it would be unwise at this time to broadcast such without authorization and preparation, you see. We will leave this one for this time. Please do return to it when inspired to do so.

T67

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: For this glyph of your designation T-68, we would have it seen in this way. We are the ones responsible for correct interpretation and engaging of these configurations. This particular configuration was announced at an earlier time, another epoch of mankind's journey, resulting in a distortion field generated by those who tended to abuse the opportunity. We will give this journey to you at this time with this proviso of attention to detail, motivation, and any diversions of purpose.

To proceed then, let us engage this glyph of the premise that it portrays an opportunity to feel with your emotions the physicality of the human journey during its long and arduous path. The value of this exercise is in determining the reality of life emotionally, bringing a clarity of intimacy to the understanding. The abuse of this at an earlier time resulted in the misuse of that gained in terms of power over manipulating of others through the greater understanding of the power of emotions even to sway and, at times, mask the good judgment of the mind. The heart-mind, if you will, can see through this when allowed to do so, but fear and greed dominated at that time. Let us continue, then, this journey with this understanding, becoming now a purified, clear, emotional being as focus and temporary identity for the purpose of this journey.

Look now through this window opportunity of your designation and see the human journey collectively from beginning to present and to its conclusion with the emotional sense of intimacy. Begin at this time.

As you can see, correct alignment causes one to be drawn through this window, this portal, and you have stated it correctly, that clarity of focus and purpose being to understand and serve the destiny of humanity. The picture that is painted from this perspective includes the multidimensional reality of the human journey, the reciprocal embrace, human to the rest of life and the rest of life to human, and the clarity of the freedom that comes as the journey is being completed. This of course includes the entire journey, leading to an emotional freedom that is best described as the completion of thought inclusive of the vehicles of expression and experience that is the reward of this journey.

What lies beyond the destiny of humanity can best be summed up as a new threshold of life that includes the bringing together of the many dimensions of non-physical life into a greater completeness for there is that octave of life that includes all that you have become aware of, such as the nature spirits, the Angelic Host and, yes, the Masters and all that they love. For, as you can experience and know through this focused journey, the diversity of life in all realities is merging into a collective consciousness, a collective life, that knows itself as the vehicle for all the riches of life expression, humanity being one of these. But, our brother, your horizon is expanding much larger than this and something far more complete awaits your grasp.

We thank you, our brother, for this opportunity to share this journey once more, knowing that the purpose of it is held in your heart and will not be violated but magnified, cherished, and empowered. We thank you for this opportunity.

T-69: the union of the light body and the soul

November 14, 2000 A

THE BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: We are holding this pattern for your engagement and it is time to begin. Let us conclude with the formalities, then, by saying this particular element or pattern represents the engagement of the Light being or Light body by the individual's soul, if you will, to continue the awakening process. For this union to take place, in the manner that best suits the individual, we would have you engage this pattern as a series of stages or phases. Let us begin, then, by acknowledging that the Light Body comes equipped with the elements needed for this union and will be a vehicle for the journey into the Light of each new threshold of understanding. Enhance this union by allowing this within your nature.

(Extended pause)

As you can see, this allows the soul record to pattern into and through the interface and this investment into the Light Body makes available the patterns of destiny to come. A soul is not a far off thing but an extension of your nature, merged now into the Light Body which then programs it with deeply embedded instruction to serve the movement of the destiny of your existence. This Light Body, then, becomes facilitated to become a more perfect instrument for the intent of the individual and the character of their nature established thus far. That is the central theme or purpose of this exercise.

We thank you for this opportunity to progress in this way, bringing about, then, the condition in the Light Body that bestows upon the individual a Light Body that has patterned to more intimately respond to the collective reality of the consciousness of the individual.

T-70: Guidance for living in the form universe comes only from those who choose to live it

Nov. 28, 2000 B

JANU: We have before us this afternoon, as you have requested, the Brotherhood of the One Light and that they would speak on, the subject of the glyph of your choice, T-70. We understand your concern as to its validity and we would speak to this at this time.

There comes before us from time to time that arrangement of patterns or symbol that bespeaks of another time, another era, another epoch. This one we have addressed at this time, that has given you concern, is valid in the sense of an old memory restored by those that have preceded this current venue and arrangement for graphical representation of larger truths for the benefit of humanity. This particular symbol represents a pattern of confusion that exists in the early stages or primordial configuration of the balance of life that allows for the manifestation of form. It is little known in your common understanding that the nature of the form world's beginning is one of seemingly constant retreat from the imperatives of so many contributing to its development. We would have you know or understand this as we proceed with this ancient of artifacts from another time.

T70

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: This artifact is little known of, for its true origin, that being a remote region in the history of your world's forming, for its presence is contribution to the purposes of this series for the collective human understanding. Aligning, then, with that which has been offered, we would still the mind and the passions and explore this mixture of oddities representing the origins of form in your dimension, but not limited to, you see. Having brought order to confusion, but confusion that has within it patterns of direction.

We engage this portal of opportunity for understanding, not so much as a journey into what you would call the Path but more the focus is upon origins and beginnings.

There was a group at one time among you--"you" being the originators of your species--that held to the understanding, you would call belief, that the destiny of the realm of form was to become favored with directed visitation, direct communication from the reality of life that could know its destiny. This group imagined there would be a long standing communication for the purpose of guiding this particular bubble of life movement. The confusion came when it was realized that the organization of this life, this realm of form, was left to those who chose to engage it and live it. The purpose of this was to realize the wisdom of the gaining of wisdom, the maturing of life itself into the full realization of its true nature, its full potential. These members of the early group, unaccustomed to such independence of movement, railed from the task before them. They eventually gained a foothold in the anchoring of their own consciousness into the commitment to engage life. This symbol or graphical representation of today's exploring represents this.

The same might be said, or is true of, those who continue the movement of life expecting there to be direct intervention of a guiding hand that knows all. For this to occur there would be the lessening of that to be gained by those engaging life. The organization of the movements of life or, we should say, within each movement of life is bestowed upon those who engage and live those movements. The importance of this symbol is to see purpose in the midst of confusion that seems apparent.

We give you this understanding for obvious benefit, when considered carefully. And would have you know that this theme continues to move through the reality of form and has proven successful, our brother. Such is the wisdom of the nature of life.

T-71: awakening the vehicles of expression

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: We do have the image of your choosing, simple in initial appearance; however, as we have learned so many times, that can be misleading. Together now let us explore this opportunity, this being a representation more clearly perceived as one spinning about an axis described by a line perpendicular to the center of the line joining these two spheres, two dimensionally. Adding then other dynamics as we proceed. Clockwise rotation, initially, leading then to a diminished sense of this movement. Two spheres merging into one reality. The arc serving to define their integrity and maintain it. For as each sphere passes the influence of the arc, they are refined further.

Dec. 5, 2000 B

T71

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

Let us now proceed to entering into this opportunity and see that there becomes well defined a vortex feeding the divine energy to the recipient, namely yourself, in such a perfect equilibrium as to bring about a descending current through the chakra entering the crown, you see. There becomes, then, through this activity, a feeling of euphoria as this current realigns every vestige of your neurological and energetic being. The purpose of this is to place a spin, so to speak, on the cellular vortexes of the physical body, bringing about a reverse spin in the DNA structure. This movement will cause, in due time, there to be a reversal of the tendency genetically of any predisposition to degradation of communication among elements of your lower vehicles of the awakening process, you see. This is facilitated by a systemic communication, integrity, balance, and synergism. As you can see, or sense, we should say, there is increased awareness of energy movements throughout the systems and transfer of benefit one to another. This creates a cascading effect, raising awareness and vitality exponentially.

T-72: the Arbiters of Peace serving the Earth, Gaia, also Sanctus Omahdi

December 27, 2000 A

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: We embrace at this time the meaning and opportunity presented by the glyph pattern for this journey. We pertain, then, to this journey as the Arbiters of Peace in the Middle Eastern region of your world, as you call it. There being a relationship between the many forces at work, influencing the short term destiny of humanity to that of the fundamental principle of today's glyph. We would see it in this way.

The orbit of life as portrayed by this glyph reaches toward an understanding of cultures in peace, achieving a harmony advancing beyond the understanding of your day. We would have you know that there is being coordinated by design a faction that will spring forward in opportunity for this region to pronounce outcome for the coalition of forces, bringing about stability in this festering hot spot of world conflict. There are so many human presences that have little or no control of that which they are open to and connected to in terms of the influence of outside forces, that there shall remain for some time an aberration in the smooth transition of human consciousness into its destiny. This faction will bring about the stability needed for the regaining of control. For as it stands few demonstrate the freedom of conscious or awakened choice, you see. They are caught up in the momentum of "mob-rule", which, in truth, is rule by these outside forces. This pattern of which we refer to today is a key or portal for the entry of that faction into your dominion and needs be opened or unlocked by any awakened human consciousnesses so inclined and destined.

We take this opportunity at this time, with you, to embrace this pattern whose purpose is to remedy, or provide opportunity for remedy, of aberrations in the path of human awakening. We do so at this time. Prepare yourself now then in this way or manner that speaks to your channeling of this energy for the conveyance of the presence of the faction mentioned. In this case, your presence operates on both sides of this portal simultaneously. There is compression and expansion moving through it. We now welcome this faction as "Arbiters of Peace," assisting in the realization of self-determination of individual and collective destiny. This portal is a regulated entry according to the protocols of divine destiny for the collective being called Earth, also Gaia, also Sanctus Omahdi.

T-73: understanding and experiencing the collective body of life

January 22, 2001 B

JANU: May we begin by saying that this representation is a hallmark of sorts for a brotherhood known as The Clan. Now, the Clan we speak of in this reference exists not as a domestic group to your world but as a conglomeration of entities indigenous to another world. The point of this reference or designation is to demonstrate the coexistence of realities signified by the line connecting the two disks as you describe them. This form of representation is symbolic of coexistence two dimensionally, the coexistence being more than this, you see.

T73

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: This one being commensurate with that which is to come in the comprehension of humanity. The joining of realities into one collective body is a fundamental reality in the structure of life, for each element of life is so constructed, comprising more than one reality, coexisting, co-supporting, and co-manifesting its beingness. It is the same for each one of you, for each element of your being is a multiple reality existing as a unit, coexisting with other units, you see.

This presentation we examine at this time speaks to this, and well it should, for it is a fundamental truth in the journey of the awakening of humanity. Eventually, humanity will come to realize that in a larger truth each individual coexists with one another, forming a larger reality of unitary and collective thought being one. Let us now journey, then, into the offering at this time and examine this truth.

Let us begin with the elements of your apparent individual nature. Merge them through this model of understanding and experience, the perfect order of their integration as one collective. Yes, you may presume your physical, emotional, and mental bodies as participants. Embrace this model, this glyph with the essence of their existence. Passing through, then, into collective reality. The contrived structure of separate function and purpose for each. Now become light with the purpose that embraces the three and you gain new perspective for the possibilities of your journey in the world of form. And, for the first time, you see more clearly how, when united in this way, the integrity of each is the integrity of the whole. And the life that is the truth of your being is revealed and understood. When you embrace life in this way you understand this is but one opportunity that can be extended and extended and extended.

Integrating this experience into your present circumstance of living opens yet another door on your journey. We thank you, our brother, for sharing this with us at this time. We are the Brotherhood of the One Light.

T-74: entering profound silence

January 29, 2001 B

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: We journey then in this way, bringing about, even as we speak, the attribute of profound silence and all that that reveals, for this glyph of your choosing at this time is the doorway to such understanding and experience. Now, by "profound silence" we mean that silence that is experienced at the precise moment of equilibrium at the focus of your attention. To do so, benefiting from this pattern, we must arrange ourselves in a configuration that best matches the equilibrium mentioned. This pattern is engaged by stepping into the alternative universe of fluidity and constant movement in flow accommodation and configuration. Allow, then, the element of reference of your current position in your universe to accommodate this fluidity, finding equilibrium, thus initiating profound peace, silence. You will then flow through this pattern, prepared for this flexibility of motion.

T74

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

(Extended pause)

To be in equilibrium in this way elongates the channel of exposure that refines the communication with the divine essence of your nature. For life is more fluid than most realize.

(Extended pause)

The divine patterns of life reach out and touch your embrace, bringing about a refinement in your current configuration of life. The physical body responds well to these fluid patterns, for it finds difficulty in reconfiguration when assailed with inflexible thoughts and feelings and energy constructs. Be at peace, then, brother, in the silence of the natural fluidity of life in equilibrium which is more akin to your nature.

T-75: humans of the Earth and other worlds and their common destiny Feb. 5, 2001 B

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: Glyph T-75, then, represents and embodies a manifestation of certain aspects of understanding as to the nature of the journey of human consciousness, pre-aligned or configured for these Earth journeys, you see. Now it is important to note here that these pre-configurations are, in part, held in the patterns of previous agreements to the human species population of your world. Make no mistake. There are others on other worlds so configured physically as you are today, and as you will be. The configurations we mention, that began so long ago, arranged for the acclimation to the temporal energetic constructs for your solar system and the Earth, which are quite different for other worlds of parallel human existences. Therefore, these changes needed to be made. Earth was populated or colonized for the purpose of expanding the diversity of the elements of life needed to become fashioned in certain ways for when the destinies of worlds combine into a larger understanding.

T75

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

Let us engage, then, today's glyph on this basis and explore the connections between worlds, including your own, with a larger common destiny of varied human experiences. To do this, we become silent by way of being in accord with that you have in common with these other worlds. Let us begin.

Yes, there are those you contact or observe that are unaware of this connection, which is in advance of their timing. As you can see, you are a network of worlds, part of a network of worlds from one perspective, from the Earth's perspective, but connected in this way you embrace the network as your own. Begin to perceive life, then, from the perspective of a collective of similarly populated worlds with a common destiny. You can see, in due course, what will become of this. As a rich federation of worlds, conscious in ways seldom achieved with the experience of one world.

There are so many worlds unlike each other on their journeys of awakening that collectively the synergism of diverse awakenings combining in a common destiny virtually creates a new life and a new life form in a much larger sense of reality. So, as you can see, the destiny of a world is linked to the destiny of worlds and in the creation of new life, born of diversity, united in purpose and understanding.

T-76: the harmony that brings about an intimacy of connection between all patterns of life

Feb. 16, 2001 B

THE BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: We have begun to recognize certain patterns of adeptship in the perceiving of these nuances of understanding and would call for this to progress. For today's journey, let us select one that best typifies the opportunity of this pattern. Please begin by acknowledging within your being the adeptship referred to earlier, for it will be called upon for today's journey to the fullness of its ability.

Let us begin, as we may, into this journey of excellence into the understanding of the sweetness of harmony that exists and is available for all who choose it. Harmony, then, being that adjustment of consciousness that brings about an intimacy of connection between the patterns of life, to where one benefits from another and serves another. This interface of life beckons the return of all that is gained in life's journeys into the synergistic reality of the collective of life and ultimately enriching all that is. Harmony, then, speaks to the peace within the self as each element of your being, physical and otherwise, experiences intimacy with each one's purpose, each one's need, and each one's offering. This adjustment in consciousness extends to your relationships with each other, and the other species of your world, and to your world itself.

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

Enter, then, now into the configuration 'harmonious' that this glyph represents and supports. Be in harmony, dear one, with its purpose, its truth, and when in contact, its truth in you. Reconfiguring, now, your consciousness on all levels with the reality of harmony, affording intimacy with all that you are and all of life. This beautiful symmetry of life demonstrates the symphony of infinite diversity that is, at the same moment, one life. You are many elements, many facets, many unique purposes and functions, yet you are one life, in the same moment. Allow the reality of this to be your relationship with the rest of life.

And now you see the foundation for perception of all the nuances of life, purpose and meaning, rhythm, inflow and outflow, always in motion, always relevant, and always in 'beingness.' Honor life in this way and you allow life to honor you.

T-77: complex resonances through the gates of time and space

March 5, 2001 C

THE BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: We are the Brotherhood of the One Light, resuming, then, this series of explorations into an understanding of the human journey as depicted by these recognition patterns, today's being of your selection T-77. We have this understanding and present it at this time.

T-77, then, as you describe, refers to the human element of understanding incorporating complex resonances through the gates of time and space. Now, what this means is that the human journey resonates with so much more of life than it is humanly possible to comprehend at this time. Needless to say, it is significant for humanity to begin to explore the reality of these resonances.

T77

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

We move, then, through this gate into the realm of possibilities enhanced by these resonances. Let us adjust, then, our entry point to be close to the center of this pattern, reaching out, then, with your consciousness along these many avenues depicted by these protrusions. The journey here is the touching of life and revisiting previous contacts by virtue of the nature of resonance. We shall explore this language of life and return to this path of awareness.

You can appreciate now how these resonances have influenced the evolution of the human species and that the human vehicle is a collective of these, and its symmetry and function reveals the clarity of these connections. The human consciousness can shape-shift to match that needed on any journey of understanding. These resonances are testimony to this and speak to the fluid nature of your existence. To journey this way purposefully is to bring about an order to the exploration of life, revealing its destiny, including your own, far more clearly than random disconnected explorations.

What you are returning to here, through this window to understanding, is the recapturing of the human ability to embrace life in more ways than currently understood. Remember, then, your ability to resonate with the object of your interest, and the nuances and harmonics of that resonance are rich with meaning.

We leave this, then, for your consideration, returning once more to your previous state, gradually. Do not rush this.

T-78 & T-79: the triad core of our life reality that propels our continuous exploration of life

March 23, 2001 B

THE BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: Now, as to the validity of the first pattern, we should say this. This pattern best represents the ego interests of the one so designing and, although valid in its own right, it does not pertain to these proceedings.

T78

T79

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

We shall proceed then to the next pattern, and this apparent three part presentation, three component, is better understood as a simile, and will be connected with its origin momentarily.

This pattern represents the collective understanding of life by those who represent its nature as a triad so far as it represents the orders of life that have it at their core. Let us then explore this as it relates to the human journey.

It still represents a gateway to understanding other orders of life of different root and bearing, you see. Now then, configuring for this passage, we would encourage you to organize your being, your awareness, connecting then with your triad nature and all of the stabilizing influences that pertain. But do so now.

(Extended pause)

This one whom you observe is discovering life in a primitive setting. This one being female, long black hair, homemade garments. Yet her triad nature encourages her continuance and exploration of life, even though she is filled with fears generated by new experiences that are not understood. This triad core, you see, is that vehicle which propels the exploration of life, in the midst of fears of unknowing and of jeopardy. When there is sufficient interest in the journeys of life, one is predisposed to expanding and absorbing the experiences until the repository within them compels new adventures. Properly understood, this triad is the footprint of life, impressed in your dimension or domain, and is the root cause of your journeys.

The significance, then, of this artifact, that is called a "crop circle" or glyph, is to return clarity to the individual consciousness that there is continuity in the purpose of life and this continuity is maintained through this triad.

T-80: a hole in time

April 2, 2001 B

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: We would have you understand this arrangement of symbols in this manner, there being those among you who observe into their consciousness these key elements of understanding across the scope of these glyphs and their journey into what you would call the "unknown" as revealed to them these significances. For today, we would care to journey with you through this portal into understanding for the benefit of the many. Let us proceed then with this understanding.

T80

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

This journey represents a hole in time. And through this absence of time we shall embrace a key understanding into the nature of the human journey. For beyond this structure of time and its correlations through other realities lies the significance of the progression of consciousness, human and otherwise. For there exists on the frontier of consciousness for humanity that which is non-human, you see. This crescent and circle represents revelation, or awakening, into this understanding, into the light of the rest of your journey.

Now then, let us move through this opening in time and revolve into a new light, for this is the "eye of awakening," the eye opening, the eye turning on its axis. Allow, then, through this portal, your sphere of consciousness to rotate counter-clockwise and see that which has been forgotten as to the nature of your existence and life.

(Extended pause)

Now that you have transited this portal, you are aware of perceiving in all directions at once, of being free to random orientation and random configuration and random movement. Free association is now possible. And your knowledge base is expanding. As you can see, the vistas are ever changing.

T-81: the spiraling nature of life and moving through the realms

April 10, 2001 B

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: Today's glyph has to do with the spiraling nature of life. This segment of the more complete configuration is the crescent only, two dimensionally. We would have you understand that this configuration spirals your journey and represents a configuration that relates best with how we move, including yourself, through the realms. This is a pattern of relationship difficult to grasp with the three dimensional mind. It has to do with the progressions of consciousness intertwined with the tapestry of life, in a segmented way that borders on dissolution. For the realities of dimensional shift and travel exist on a fine line of creation or manifest and unmanifest, you see.

T81

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

This spiraling nature for journeying, is a spiral not completely represented by your three dimensional understanding of this term. To move through life in consciousness, one must engage the parameters of existence and hold to these, for they are the determinants for engagement. To deviate from this modifies the arrangement and altogether disconnects in deference for another journey, you see. For the human journeyer, experimenting or retracing in their steps through life, one must let go of the parameters of travel three dimensionally and engage timeless and distanceless travel from your perspective to a relationship that speaks more of becoming the location in terms of its reality and reconfigure your awareness to include the spiraling of consciousness not yet understood or appreciated for its reality.

You ask, "How does one attempt this?" It is accomplished by allowing reprogramming, if you will, from your own memory. Some have called this the Merkaba.

(Pause)

Yes, you are beginning to experience it. Allow memory to guide you.

(Extended pause)

As you have seen, there is much more to this, to be discovered with further engagements of this pattern. We withdraw now from this exploration and will continue at another time.

T-82: Shedding all limitations that no longer serve you

May 7, 2001 B

THE BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: We are the Brotherhood of the One Light challenging the understanding of humanity to embrace that which is presented for their benefit at this time, for this serves their enlightenment and their future. We would have you know at this time that there will be brought to your understanding the direction of these journeys and, in time, their destination.

T82

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

For today's journey, then, let us proceed with a small amount of correction or adjustment in your configuration for this purpose. Allow, then, your focus to increase slightly in frequency or vibration to include pattern replication of a vehicle for entry into this portal. Cylindrical as shapes are determined and hollow, if you will, from end to end. Now then, let us proceed, entering first through the left circle, accepting its configuration and back through the middle circle, accepting its configuration, and now through the right circle, rapidly exceeding the physical speed of light. And now enter, you see. This rapid transition leaves behind limited concepts, preferences, and beliefs. That is the initial purpose of this glyph. Allow this to be your experience. Shedding, then, these limitations, one is prepared to perceive, consider, and accept the direction at least of these portals of understanding.

The direction, then, dear one, as you perceive, is the dimensional expanding or expansion of human consciousness and subsequent relationships with its physical existence and universe. Moving from unconscious to conscious creator through acceptance of an intimate relationship with creation, you see. This portal you are experiencing is the introduction to this expansion. The cylinder preparation, then, represents the opening of the conduit of consciousness, allowing the flow of expansion to move through your journey of life. Let all things be swept away that no longer serve your journey. Let movement, new experiences, new understanding refresh you, revitalize you, and enrich you.

This is the direction, dear one. The destination to be revealed. Return, then, to your world for the moment but with the conduit open and flourishing.

T-83: Understanding the purpose of the physical human existence from the perspective of the full spectrum of the human existence

June 22, 2001 B

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: Casting, then, downward along the more base frequencies of human existence, we would excursion into the primal understandings of life and its purposes. Today's portal communicates with the essential nature of humanity in the physical understanding of its manifestation. To journey through this portal, we would have you understand that there will be brought into your awareness much needed information as to the reason for the human journey in the first place. Let us proceed then, now, engaging this opportunity into the fundamentals of the human experience.

T83

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

Let us proceed. Engage this portal in a balanced way, adjusting to the lower frequencies while maintaining equilibrium across the spectrum of your existence. We do so now. As you observe visually, the symbolic representation of your life spectrum with the lower frequency element becoming brighter, indicating your connection and attention. This portal provides this adjustment and reorganization of the pathway of connection and we are emerging now into this element of human reality. Fundamentals, then, proceed in understanding to contain this reality and its purpose. The motivating principle, or purpose of the movement of consciousness into the physical realm of the human journey, of which there are many other realms still called "human," has to do with anchoring the full range or spectrum of life expression as a counter-balance or counterpoint to the pendulum of life that extends to the other end of the spectrum for balance, you see. This human physical expression is direct counterpoint and connection to the most esoteric elements of the human journey.

The clear understanding, then, realizes that there is a tension or pressure, "force of life" if you will, that perpetuates each end of this spectrum. The driving consciousness for this is that so-called spark of life or being that initiates this thrust of life. The purpose of the human journey in the physical is best described by its counterpoint in manifested reality therefore embracing in totality the True Nature. Understanding, then, that defining the physical human existence and path will never be complete addressing only its position in the spectrum of life.

This portal is essential in understanding this balance of the spectrum of the thrust of life by the one monadic existence of your true reality. So, to no longer embrace or revere or value its existence, meaning the physical human, denies the other end of the spectrum as well, for the tension that exists between the two provides the platform for the rest of the spectrum, you see. This understanding will enable there to be a greater balance, symmetry, and rhythm, natural rhythm, to all the elements of life that you are. Hold this true and dear in your heart, dear one, to complete your awakening.

T-84: The ventricles of the mind-body interface/the nine phases of cosmic research into the nature of life

July 24, 2001 B

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: We perceive at this time, there will be coming to your understanding the development of research into that which has been heralded as the nine phases of cosmic research into the nature of life. The development of understanding through these glyph journeys brings about a focus in the perception of your intuitive skills that leads to this, you see. Be aware that the progression of these journeys reshapes, or influences, the configuration of your model of understanding that will surely open new pathways of exploration.

T84

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

We proceed, then, at this time with your designation T-84, pursuant to these anticipations. T-84 represents a configuration as such of the ventricles of the mind-body interface known as the brain. The physical cavity of complex resonances and structured vibrational patterns. These ventricles operate simultaneously, yielding a harmonious tone or note preparing for a third octave in the ascent of human understanding. Now, today's journey deals with the triune nature of your being, your consciousness, and the embrace of the third ventricle of mind-brain interface. For there are three, you see, not just the two hemispheres of the cerebrum. The third ventricle yields much more insight into the nature of the collective functioning of this apparatus. Today's journey enters into the nature of this.

Let us then hold for a time the opportunity to restore the three ventricles into balance, reawakening the gate that unlocks this phase of awakening. Assimilate this pattern, then, and begin the journey. You are correct, the third ventricle is the center sphere, primary of the three. When awakened, the other two merge and, through the merging, join the prime. For it takes the two together to do so, you see.

(Extended pause)

This is the path to super-consciousness and what lies beyond. Hold this ideal as you proceed in your awakening. The union of the consciousnesses of the two cerebral hemispheres is essential.

T-85: alignment of the spheres of cognition

July 31, 2001 B

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: Yes, we are the Brotherhood of the One Light, saluting at this time all of those who have accomplished the journeys we are describing as this series progresses, for there is no one journey in these series of glyphs that has not been undertaken and mastered. For today’s journey, or glyph, we acknowledge your designation T-85 and cognition is the theme. So let us begin.

T85

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

This portal describes the alignment of spheres in the integrity of consciousness that represent, or are in fact, nodules of cognition that bring forward to the platform of understanding that structures belief systems, philosophies, structured thought, progression of ideas or concepts, and the framework for the grasp of and relationship with creation, the created universe including oneself. These spheres move through dimensions or realities in such a way as to bring about the power of focus of attention and the transmission of understanding. Let us focus now, then, our attention on this glyph and engage it from the distal end, that being the ‘v’ configuration, representing the bringing to point the attention for precise implementation of what is to come. Enter now then this configuration, focused in this way.

Now, rather than the perception of passing through this portal, allow the portal to pass through you. And what this catalyst has accomplished is the drawing together of the spheres of cognition arranged throughout the field of consciousness. As they engage each other, they become a fine point of knowingness in the cognitive function of your being. There, they achieve symmetry, integration, and synergism, and become one knowingness of all cognitions, all contained in one all encompassing thought. And this lives in the nature of your true being.

This is the merging and transformation of linear thought and reality into non-linear reality and thought. This is essential for the awakening of the personality, the ego, into the true nature, the master journeyer. One begins to experience the natural reality of being every where, every understanding, at once.

We do not withdraw from this experience in the usual manner, for it is well to linger in this exalted state, that it become more familiar to you and natural. Retain, then, a residual of this understanding as we conclude this proceeding and bid you good afternoon.

T-86: experiencing the next phase of human development

August 10, 2001 A

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: There is a little known understanding in your world as to the configuration of the next phase of human development. The search for this flags the interests of the few who prepare for such. Today’s understanding and journey includes this, so let us begin, our brother.

T86

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

Proceeding, then, into this understanding we would encourage the use of known techniques for the assimilation of that to be granted, meaning the divesting of that which holds one to the grip of their current reality. We enter then this triad configuration to leave behind such convention, to embrace or reconfigure that nature's projection into your world, to now begin its journey into another reality which holds the promise of the future of humanity, meaning the next spectrum of development.

Now then, orient or connect, with your attention, to each of these three circles, with the triad of the purest nature of your current identification or identity. Principally, this affords an anchor for return to your current adventure as needed. Let us proceed now, carefully and with deliberation.

As you can see this triad is multi-dimensional, as is the truth of this glyph. And it is not stationary, but in fluid change and motion, which represents your nature of self-change and reconfiguration. Having constructed this portal out of your own being, we now make the transition into the next adventure.

As you begin to experience this transformation, there will be a numbing of the attraction or pull from the triad configuration, giving way to the merging of the triad into one truth and from there the beginning of the deployment of the next spectrum of life in the human journey. Remember that which was said earlier, that the human journey is not limited to the third dimensional octave of life.

What we see here is the nature of a life that excels in adaptability to all other forms of life, leading to an identity that extends itself to be whatever it touches. In this state of being, to exploring the rest of life is to be as that life, to know it as you know yourself. A richness and truth not achievable limited to the triune nature of the previous condition.

This leap in understanding, this transition in identity is essential for humanity to engage its next adventure. The observer and the observed are one. In this state, to understand or explore the reality of another creature, you become as that creature, for the duration of your interest and also your service, taking with you its truth and leaving behind an element of yours, in a way that enriches its life.

There is so much to understand and experience in this new reality. Linger, then, with this new freedom to be. And then slowly allow the pull of return to the triad.

T-87: the past and the future are one

August 24, 2001 A

JANU: I am Janu speaking, pleased to announce that there will be brought into the future the omnibus experience of today's journey. That being keyed in at this time refers to the slender difference between past and future. Today's journey reflects one in the other.

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: We are the Brotherhood of the One Light, bestowing this afternoon that needed for the understanding and the experience in this area of the gross similarities between past and future. And it is a fine line, indeed. We would have you see at this time that today's glyph brings about a pattern coordination between these two in the experience and we would have you join us at this time in engaging this opportunity. We begin, then, by examining that needed to embrace this particular glyph, alerting you to the need for past examination as well as future anticipation, coming together in resolution. This journey speaks to the hopes and dreams of the traveler, fulfilled and unfulfilled destinies, and the co-existing realities of life.

We do so now engage by shaping the perceptive faculties in an arrangement of a more complex grid configuration, spherical in nature, with the inside of the shell representing pattern of the past, and the surface of the shell representing pattern of the future. These sphere symbols in this glyph are structured in such a way as to arrange this interface. You then become one with this interface and the past and future patterns unite as one within you. Proceed then in this way of understanding, as your patterns shift to accommodate this configuration. As you can see, this arrangement replenishes itself from within, joined and continuation.

Now this co-existence of patterns is not that contrived in this moment but only in an adjustment of third dimensional perception, for it already exists, you see. Why then the need for this experience, this awakening? It is to become a cornerstone, so to speak, of the wise quest for mastery of life, for the looping or non-linear reality of the flow of life is not limited to a past or a future as such, but to an unfoldment of being. And in this pure being state, past and future reside as one. And this is the key to the realization of your destiny, dear one, that which you seek and that which you have achieved are one.

This understanding quickens in the heart, and in the mind, and in the soul and spirit, the awareness of the completeness of being and is fundamental to self-realization.

T-88: the Arbiter of Worlds

August 29, 2001 B

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: Your chosen glyph this day shall be designated the Arbiter of Worlds, for today's journey accomplishes this understanding of that potential in the human journey to be such. Demoralizing influences in your current cultural habits does not extend credibility to this model in your future. Disappointing though they may seem, they carry no weight in human destiny.

T88

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

Let us begin, then, today's journey into the understanding of the arbitration of worlds. We speak to this as ones who have formed a delineation in the consciousness to achieve this understanding. We do so now with you for the purposes of these journeys. Let us then halt all projections of understanding for the moment and begin then with the clarity of the presentation of perception to this journey. And that is the element needed here to embrace this pattern, which you will understand in a moment.

Moving then into the truth of this moment with that foundation of clarity, we begin to see that prime ingredient of arbitration: a clarity to perceive a synthesis of the many layers of influence, of need in a diverse social climate, beginning with your own world, dear one. An arbiter has no preference for outcome from the perspective of the participants but sees possibilities or scenarios for all to benefit, for the arbiter perceives the oneness of conflicts and can see the one truth that they all describe. Arbitration also includes the arbitration of patterns, of forces, and of life that can bring direction to the collective movement of life for a world. The path of arbiter is one of equilibrium and destiny and connection with life's rich diversity.

An Arbiter of Worlds serves in even larger ways for the systems of life. Humanity's destiny in this area, this arena, has been culled from the many journeys of the Light Beings that now walk the human path. There is much need for this tradition and it will continue.

T-89: altering the vehicles and seeing history as a timeless reality

Sept. 17, 2001 B

JANU: There will be, in due course, an experience pertaining to the development of a cone of energy breaking apart that which binds the consciousness to limited perceptions of time and space, bringing then to the journeyer freedom to explore the avenues of consciousness and realities of a more expanded nature.

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: We are enveloping you at this time with that needed to proceed in this course as represented by our brother Janu. This envelope permeates your body realities altering, then, their confinement to time/space but not necessarily your density, you see, for the journeys which are afforded by this freedom include your density as well.

Let us now engage this portal, T-89, your designation, and proceed with the journey. This symbol represents a fine line between the realities of time and space and those beyond. A differentiation in consciousness must ensue in this bubble reality we have created. Let there be, then now, a movement or migration of the vehicles into a slightly different configuration, more elongated and more sensitive to time and space flows; therefore recognizing their limits and now able to choose other realities, you see. Your sense of presence and being and engaging reality is through these vehicles. They are of your making and describe your intent to engage life.

Allow the differentiation to occur bringing about a transformation of that which manifests as time and space realities, providing a corridor of motion for your vehicles. Be in motion now and effortlessly engage history as a timeless reality, existing totally in the Now. Your desire to know is at one with the knowing. Your desire to see is one with that to be seen, with that you see.

This window of opportunity you call T-89 exists in this alternate reality as an element of life that communicates well between realities. We thank you, our brother, for this opportunity to journey with you this day, bringing about these many changes in understanding.

T-90: understanding desire and life's response

Sept. 24, 2001 B

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: Let us then examine this glyph, apparently simple in nature, of two circles, one examining the other, you see, or linked or intertwined, as you will. These two circles represent the culmination of effort to begin the process of establishing a coherence, a coherent network of evolving entities, bridging the gap between sterile negotiations with life and those that elicit strong response and endeavor. These efforts are the trait, the desire for some magical response from the venues of life into the affairs of mankind, if you will. This symbol or glyph today represents the dichotomy between apparent desire and life's response.

To understand this method of engaging life, one must conclude that there will be a related response to the Orders of Life that bring about such desires. What we are referring to here is the reality of effective communication between consciousness on various levels and the fields or planes of creation that facilitate manifestation. We enter this reality through this glyph by summoning that from within which brings about a coalition of the desires on various levels of consciousness and being. And we do so by embracing the panorama of life as well as your own.

Let us do so now, then, realizing the looping reality of life as inherent in our True Natures. As you can see, there comes a moment when desire and creation become one in you and there is beheld the peace of knowing that all is well. As one initiates creation, one embraces the manifestation as a complete, looping reality. So let your desires meet their fulfillment on equal footing and you gain the richness of experience throughout the looping reality of this creation of your desire.

Stand then with those who example such mastership and bring together those elements, those forces of life into one symphony or orchestration of its tapestry.

Editor's Note: This crop circle at Milk Hill in 2001 was so dramatic that a number of individuals encouraged its investigation. This led to the following attunement.

2001 Circle at Milk Hill and the Hall of Records

October 15, 2001 A

JANU: We are looking into the Hall of Records that has portrayed the emergence of mankind into an epoch of understanding and command of the forces of nature creating, then, a dialogue with that which is to come. This archive of knowing speaks to, or addresses, that which pertains to a construct of life called "human destiny." What we see in store for humanity, based on these findings, includes the national struggles now in force culminating in a destiny of nations that will resemble the architecture as described by the Milk Hill crop circle of recent exposure.

The Hall of Records will be opened, and is opening, on the date specified by the seer Edgar Cayce. This Milk Hill crop circle links the prophecy to the action and brings understanding to the destinies described in that archive. The three layers or archives are arranged in such a manner as to bring about the progression of the Order of Saints as envisioned by Melchizedek. This will culminate in a grand finale of sorts for the current conflagration that befalls the Earth in this human struggle for identity and purpose. This will be swept away in the times to come, for clarity of purpose will overwhelm petty struggles and they will be seen as of no profit to the hearts of those so awakened. This will bring about an order of life for your world that will speak well of its movement towards the organizations of other worlds. Momentous times, dear one, that deserve attention and careful thought and insight.

T-91: the role of Evil in the progression of life

Oct. 29, 2001 B

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: This particular glyph best represents the succumbing of the forces of the so-called "evil doers," those detractors from the quest for the Light of Understanding in your midst and in your history and in your future. This glyph represents this by describing the conjoining of forces set up with such a pattern as to bring about fear of advancement into the unknown, regulation of the thirst for knowledge and understanding, the agitation of the peacemakers and their progeny. We carefully engage or embrace this portal at this time, so constructed to view that hierarchy or system of constructs designed for the regulation of the progression of journeys. Let us engage at this time, our brother.

T91

Anchor yourself in the number three as we proceed, for this is your triune symmetry of nature, your anchor for return. This is correct. Identify as a triune being. And now then, let us pass slowly through this grid, pattern matching with the Divine Purpose for such in the structure of life. Your triune identification targets the element of this construct that begins with the domination of the free-will spirit and its manifestation in your current existence. As you can see, this reality is by no means dormant, but in full motion, monitoring and engaging those patterns of life called the human journey. The seedlings that are the humans of your world sprout consciousness parameters, constructs, and destinies that yield at time to these pressures, but struggle in their endeavor to mete out that which is essential to their ongoingness, their destiny. Unchecked by these regulatory forces, they would explode through life by comparison. Not allowing for the integration of cross-journeys of the many representations of pathways of consciousness.

So, you see, then, you fulfill the destiny of these regulatory forces by overcoming their challenges in harmony with the natural progressions of life. So-called "evil," then, or destructive forces are no longer to be feared, misunderstood, or allowed to describe your destiny, you see. But they are respected for their service to your fulfillment. The scope of these forces is of paramount importance to the elevations of the sectors of life into the timing of the destinies. Life is a symphony, then, dear one, with freedom, symmetry, creativity, the blending of uniqueness with the harmony of order and purpose. Acknowledging this larger order of life and, yes, that even these regulatory forces are who you are, is critical to your understanding of the nature of existence and the possibilities that unfold during awakening.

Recast, then, your identity of triune existence as we disengage from this understanding. Expanding your awareness of your true nature and life itself brings a deepening respect for all of its elements and the gift of life. Return as you may, our brother. Be at peace till we journey once more in understanding.

T-92: celebrating the victories in life

Nov. 5, 2001 B

JANU: Today's designation T-92 brings about an understanding of the celebrations of life through its victories and subsequent advancements. We leave the explanation of this to those that honor us with their visit, the Brotherhood of the One Light.

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: Make no mistake that there are celebrations in life, as suggested by our brother Janu, that do more than just mark turning points and achievements. They also render a service proclaiming, to those who can relate, the forward movement of life, and in turn the celebration of their own. These celebrations bring to the hearts of individuals, and the collective economy of love and understanding, a certainty as to the outcome or destiny of all victories.

T92

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

What is a victory, as your beloved would proclaim, but a rejoicing and stimulation through the currents of life that amplify or focus for recognition of the omnipresence of the divine. The celebrating of victories in life is an activity whereby the elements of life, including your vehicles, are renewed and re-nourished in preparation for the next victory. Celebrating life's achievements brings about transformation, the keys to understanding and the inflow of wisdom offered by those who understand and appreciate each victory, you see. Mark your life with many victories and they will become your path to many more. Herald the victories of others for, in truth, they are your own and advance the platform of life on which you serve.

Today's glyph brings about a change in orientation of thought and emotion so as to focus their merging upon life's beauty and promise. This is a time-honored tradition in the flows of life and brings many rewards. Move, then, with this understanding into a richer dimension of existence and your life will be filled with victories and celebration and rejuvenation.

We thank you for your attention on this matter and trust that it will bring an alternative to any frustrations or disappointments, you see.

T-93 & T-94: Alpha and Omega

Nov. 13, 2001 B

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: We have examined this configuration of your designation T-93 and have concluded that this is rounded into the oblivion of meaninglessness and would then proceed directly to the next presentation, T-94, having more so to do with this series.

T93

T94

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

T-94 represents the grapes of freedom represented in your culture's history as the Alpha and Omega, the partaking of that which sustains the effervescent nature of life and its completeness, its wholeness, its balance and symmetry, and diversity. To engage this opportunity to proceed in understanding through direct experience, we would call upon you to acknowledge that within that resonates with this truth and so begin the long, in one sense, journey into the fullness of what some would call 'oblivion' and others the 'full majesty' of light.

Allow, then, your vehicles to automatically configure to this sequence of pattern reconstructs and flow gently through this portal. There is a latching sequence to these changes, linking and locking these constructs into a cohesive pattern. Once engaged and passed through, these linked constructs give way to the completeness of being and your consciousness becomes Light.

As you begin to understand, Alpha and Omega principle exists in all elements of life, including your own, beginning and end are one truth, past and future are one truth, the Source of Life and life itself are one truth, the destiny and the journey are one truth. Through this perspective, this reality, one sees completeness in the beginning of all journeys, and the beginning of all journeys in the moment.

We are one in this reality, for the journeys of all species on all worlds and realities have this common thread of life and, therefore, are one in understanding and purpose. Therefore, maximum penetration into this reality exists when one realizes the depth and magnitude of life itself, leaving, then, behind any judgment of degree of significance or lack thereof with any element of life, any dream, any destiny, any vision, any purpose, for in this understanding, all life is equal. All life is one.

T-95: the original construction of the human vehicles of expression Nov. 29, 2001 B

JANU: Today's designation T-95 as of your reference belongs to a group of such glyphs dealing with the collective understanding of the roles of science archiving the history of your world. Today's journey represents one such role and we would begin by understanding it in this way.

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: We are the Brotherhood of the One Light, accepting this nomination to proceed with this discourse, this understanding and journey into the reality of human understanding, its trajectory through life and its destiny. Beginning then at this time with this glyph of your reference we shall proceed.

T95

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

Hold then, in your mind and in your heart, the substance or essential nature of that which is dear to you, meaning as you have described the vast resources of understanding and wisdom gained through all of time. These glyphs of this nature refer to this and form keys to the accessing of these pockets of understanding through the skeins of time, known as chambers or 'Halls of Records' to some, 'Patterns of the Divine' to others, and recoils of impression initiated by humankind's movements through life. We would have you know and understand that these accesses, these doorways, these keys must be turned in the lock, so to speak, that these understandings serve the purpose of humanity in its larger venue of life, larger purpose, you see. The manipulation of these keys is accomplished by the coordination of your natural resources in consciousness agreeing with their structure, their purpose, their reality. Let us do so at this time as we manipulate this particular key to one of these chambers.

Engaging this key--from your own human perspective that might be called sideways, not face on--and, as you can see, your vehicles fit nicely and you move as the key. Your motions now are configured by this key and the key points you in the right direction. 'Direction' meaning 'patterns of understanding.' Allow this to proceed for a moment or two.

(Extended Pause)

As you are beginning to emerge into the chamber, you begin to notice that it is very bright and it is one of science's chamber of record having to do with the original construct or construction of, generation of the human vehicles of expression, or energetic bodies if you prefer, serving then the interface between the realities of a multidimensional consciousness. Choosing to engage your physical world, you see, but not agreeing to, or choosing to, disconnect completely from the other realities of consciousness. These vehicles were destined to become archetypes for multi-dimensional interface reality between worlds, other planes of existence, and are so being developed even as we speak, by the human journey in consciousness, to be suitable references and servants to the collective understanding of life in the area of multiple existence interaction and collective experience of living.

This science of vehicle identification, expression, and evolution was well known to the human journey thirty-two eons ago and was a conscious part of the human quest for fulfillment of purpose and destiny. There have been resurgences of interest but all have diminished in stature and effectiveness through time. This will be turned around again, even as we speak, into the coming millennia. Therefore, you can see the reason for the vast collective interest of service by the Brotherhoods of Light to quicken the awakening of humanity.

This chamber of science folds itself upon an incoming chamber of horrors, to some, having to do with its exploration into the more mechanical construction of bodies, known as cloning, in the earlier centuries of the epoch. Pre-Atlantis, Atlantis activity being, then, a shadow of the former, but without the consciousness to manipulate multi-dimensionally, as before. These gross miscalculations in judgment and sensitivity to the larger destiny of humanity led to the somewhat obscure visions of the past and self-collapsing pseudo-creative processes, you see.

The third chamber now under construction by science will lead to the future destiny of humanity as originally ordained by the planet builders of your world and many others. Your role in this has been know and will continue to be developed as we speak, leading into this third chamber. And this is part of your destiny, you see, our brother.

T-96: understanding life's resonances and their return echoes

Dec. 10, 2001 B

JANU: A coat of arms for this journey is two crossed symbols representing the vertebrae, human vertebra, or spinal column, sometimes called the caduceus, and a beam of light, representing the source of healing. Let us proceed then to the journey at hand, sponsored by the Brotherhood of the One Light.

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: Greetings, our brother. 9-8-3 are the numbers guiding this journey and have to do with the resonance effect of that vibration upon this glyph. Today's glyph, T-96 of your numbering, recognizes the order of that which is beheld by the advocates of the life of resonances making up your world and those vibrational patterns holding the dissolution of your vehicle of expression in check.

What we explore today is the reality of the resonant life of your world and dimension. The human consciousness is comprised of these many resonances and life is better understood with the knowledge of these, not only as a medium of communication but affecting change, incorporating residuals of other resonances into the dynamics of your own and balancing those forces that regulate the universe, both within you and without. Resonances, then, speak as life waves designed for return to their source but having gathered up imprints of other resonances according to their construct, you see. Resonances occur with all thoughts, all movements of life, and consciousness can be refined in its attunement to all of their nuances and meaning.

T96

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

We would begin, then, by examining such resonances as emits from your own heart. These pulses of life movement regulate assimilations throughout your systems and return to their source with much knowledge or information as to their effectiveness and the needs of that system. Mental aberrations for many occur when there are disturbances in the return echo, so to speak, of thought resonances having to do with maladjustments of the mental systems, mental bodies, and certain impingements or imprints that have not been filtered by the biodynamics of the conscious mental systems within your vehicles, you see. This occurs when there is prolonged attention or dwelling upon that which seems unsolvable or is beyond the grasp of current powers of perception and understanding. We recommend, then, there be a limit set upon the duration of those resonances to be recognized by the point of decreased or disarray of the return echoes of enquiring thought. This allows a time for the assimilation of that unconscious response by the higher vehicles to the enquiry, you see, therefore, bringing the opportunity for order and balance and symmetry on any path of enquiry. This glyph of today's investigation speaks to this but in a larger sense, the resonances of creation and the harmonies to be discovered. This glyph is not so much entered as acknowledged within your own nature.

T-97: the coalescing of time and its arrangement with manifestation Dec. 17, 2001 A BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: The glyph of today's choosing is one such that demonstrates the need for a hollowness in the mind of understanding, willing to accept that which fits, that which fulfills.

To begin with, one must conclude that there are observations to be made into the nature of life and existence that precedes fullness of understanding. These observations are met with some disdain by others, whose counsel leaves something of desire. For today's counsel, we shall include this representation and its meaning. One does not enter this glyph so much as entertain its roundness and apparent trailing component. These inner and outer circles represent the coalescing of time and its arrangement with manifestation.

The trailing edge is the residual as a thread of reality, as time and manifestation weave their pattern on life.

Now then, to engage the significance of these, one must blow away or discard concepts of time and manifestation that prevail. For this understanding is a departure that leaves one understanding these realities as neither fixed nor limited to evolutionary motion. Time and manifestation in this significance of representation demonstrates that they are elements or facets of a more complex or dynamic reality that changes their shape, not of their own accord, you see. Your existence as manifested human is shaped somewhat by this larger reality even as time and manifestation, from your perspective the material universe. This larger reality succumbs to the events, the perturbations of these and other facets in such a way as to bring about the fulfillment of a destiny.

Let us not, then, become limited by or confused by a small understanding of destiny from the perspective of the material world. This destiny controls itself by feeding information or, we should say, the products of actualization of the larger reality. This larger reality might best be understood as the living component or aspect of all creation. Time is best understood as the nature of the relationship between all creations. It is that which gives order to the countless flows of life and allows for their continued existence.

To summarize, then, today's glyph represents the order of life and that which renders it. Embracing this truth revitalizes order in your consciousness, in your seeming random thoughts and emotions, brings meaning where there seemed to be none before. There is a great wisdom, and strength and virtue in awakening to that which is life's order, for it reveals all purposes and the purpose of them all. Dwell in this understanding and experience the collective strength and peace of life's order.

T-98: the tone of the essential nature

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: Challenged, then, our brother, in this understanding as to our nature and your own. And this brings to the surface the meaning of today's glyph or pattern. The meaning pertains to not only the nature of humanity but the nature of that which guides it. And what guides it is the will to be, the will to become, and the will to know. This representation best describes this and we shall include an understanding of the perpetual nature of this life you call humanity. Let us proceed, then, with this understanding of engagement through this pattern of life. And these are all patterns of life.

Jan. 2, 2002 A

T98

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

For today's journey, let us proceed by aligning the six chakras, both manifest and unmanifest, therefore the dual pattern of six, you see, crowned by the Master Chakra, that being the sphere, and through this natural alignment or configuration we shall engage these understandings. Allow then this be so, and we shall be carried into the truth of this pattern of life.

As you can perceive, a new reality begins to appear as the alignment progresses. And it is the archetypal pattern for your existence and carried to further expression it is that of your True Nature as well. Regulating life's reality is no simple matter, for it involves balance and harmonious configuration from the essential nature to the denser expression of life.

There is a quality of tone to your existence, our brother, that speaks of this essential nature and it does not change at the whim of a careless thought or action. They are elemental thrusts of life. This tone serves the will to understand and be and become and restores confidence and purpose through the realization of meaning. This tone appears in many ways, determined by the perceptive power of the individual. This tone can magnify a thought, can diminish an undesired life involvement. It can stimulate all the regenerative and rejuvenating faculties of your being. This tone is catalyst for the natural response of your many systems of life to each one's harmonious and balanced nature. This tone can be known through the emotions, through the thought, through all the senses. This tone nurtures and is your nameless name in all of life.

Encourage the memory and the conscious relationship with this core reality of your being and all of your life can be magnified. Choose wisely, dear one, and find peace in your truth.

T-99: chaos into order into chaos

Jan. 7, 2002 B

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: Today=s exercise in understanding pertains to the abolishment of all forms of the cursory annihilation of character through summary judgment by individuals and groups. Today=s glyph represents chaos into order into chaos. The cycling, then, of the simultaneously ordered and random nature of the human journey. Humanity=s appetite for deliberation and hunger for conclusion leads it into this cycling. Entering, then, this grid of understanding brings about a threshold of reality transcending this, you see. Its purpose is as an opportunity to return to that quality that finds no need to judge or determine value or to gauge comparative worth or to hold in esteem or disdain.

T99

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

We enter, then, this portal into wisdom for today=s journey. Let us begin, then, by relaxing the hold on life that accustoms one to human identity and the norms of society, allowing then the peace to enter of the universal nature of divine understanding and being. We do so at this time.

Forming conclusions as you are beginning to understand limits the journey and forms a perception of a finality of understanding when, in truth, any reality, any movement of life is an endless journey of change, of expansion, of contribution and absorption. We know this remains elusive to many; therefore, the purpose of this glyph. Observe, then, through the powers of perception of this perspective even humanity itself and your own existence. And know and understand the futility of labels, of conclusions, of limiting opinions. Instead, marvel at the wonder of its movement, at the peace that it generates through its being.

See each other in this way, our beloved, for this brings forth a community of understanding that bridges the divisiveness in human culture. This state of being and perception is more natural than the former and brings a peace and freedom to touch life in an unlimited way. We creatures of life have known these limitations and their alternative. Bring about, then, the sense of brotherhood that comes in this way and humanity=s consciousness realizes one life as its True Nature and serves the awakening of its progeny. Be then in peace with your neighbor, dear one, and with yourself and all you do.
