

The New Atlantis

This series continues the discussion of Atlantis but relates it more to our current situation. Due to my own life circumstances, there is seven year gap in the series. Nothing is left out; this was just not a focus of interest during that time. Janu was always the Gatekeeper to these journeys, although the Master Lohanna presented the information. Janu's comments are only included if they added to an understanding of the topic at hand. Previously, this was presented in two volumes, but as the series has ended, it seemed prudent to combine the two.

The Atlantis Project is larger and older than the land of Atlantis

July 22, 1999 B

MASTER LOHANNA: Since our last episode, there has come into focus the discernment of a configuration in the alignment of your world's--and, for these purposes, our world as well--pattern for embracing that which is to come in the early months of your new year, meaning 2000. This configuration will demonstrate a cooperative alignment with the solar trajectory of thought that configures your world.

Now, what do we mean by this? This assumes an understanding on the part of the Earth collective that the movement of your world into new configurations of involvement with life is an integral part of a solar realignment of your entire planetary system. Now, understand that the system configuration includes far more than the worlds of your knowingness, and Atlantis is part of this, you see. Now, we do not suggest that the Atlantis project or element began with one continent or island nation. It formulated long before. The term "Atlantis Project" designates the phase of enfoldment of larger issues, you see. But for means of common reference this name is used. There have been grand civilizations, not always indigenous in your world's history, and the ones of your current knowing do not describe its future. Atlantis understanding reminds us all of this larger truth and therefore its significance not only in your past but in your present and in your future. Atlantis reality in the movement of life for your world is. It is the purpose of this Hierarchy of Life by whose authority I present these understandings that the Atlantis adventure continue. And there are many in your midst ready to do so.

Humanity sees Atlantis as a thing of the past, of little or no record or evidence. We in our discussions see it in a different light. We will continue with these in this series and look forward to the continuation.

The fourth of three great centers to continue the human journey

Aug. 19, 1999 A

JANU: Yes, good afternoon, my brother. I am Janu speaking and bringing to our attention this afternoon the subject of your description, Atlantis. We attune ourselves today to that focus which brings about, to some degree, a remembrance of that history and tradition but, as well, its ongoingness. Today's outline and summary will converge upon the notion or idea of the unification of all that has been done and said into the one Atlantis. This will be accomplished by bringing to point, to clarity, the essential nature of that Atlantis project. And it is a project, dear one, yet to be completed.

LOHANNA: The focus, then, of which we speak is the bridge that Atlantis affords and demonstrates, achieving the unity of the human journey with that of three which have taken place so long ago. These three focusses for the journeys of consciousness, Atlantis being the fourth, have their roots in the history of your world. At a time when the grasshopper dominated the kingdom of insects. This period in the history of your world had befallen upon a great ice age and the winds were great and the seas froze over partially, and bridges of ice allowed passage. The birth of civilization was served by outposts of visitors from other worlds. They came in great flying ships and lived in these, planting the seeds for the repopulation of your world. In time, three great centers were begun and great cores were bored into the Earth for heat to melt the ice in these centers. This technology flourished for millennia. So the beginnings of cultures occurred prior to the melting of the ice.

Atlantis was to further humanity in a way that expressed that which was begun so long ago. The evidence of these centers remains and will be discovered by the progenitors of the new Atlantis. Let your fascination with intuitive archeology extend in this direction and we shall see.

The legacy of Anunaki for the New Atlantis

September 29, 1999 A

JANU: I am Janu speaking, commissioned by the Brotherhood of Light to present these understandings for the purpose of bringing together those consciousness that comprise the future of the movement of life for your world. We begin this morning's presentation with the great one himself, the Master Lohanna. "Greatness," dear one, refers to the accumulation of light that is expressed by any being which serves life in such a way as to benefit all of life. We counsel this morning with the one governing this exploration into the understanding of Atlantis. His preparation for these journeys honors him greatly.

LOHANNA: As you have been observing this village of steep sloped roofing, whose name was "Arcania", also known as "Arnokia" at another time, consisted mainly of close proximity dwellings. The significance of this setting is to present to you a measure or sense of this element of Atlantean life. What grew here in the population at that time, being slightly over ten thousand of your years in history, was a sense of movement of the journey of Atlantis that transcended the destiny of this one land. Now grew among this people a coalition of sorts to embark upon a master plan for their continuation of their understanding and ultimate service to that which lay in the future for them. They began this enterprise by acknowledging that they were born of a race of beings that had accomplished transitional existence as the history of their species.

There was one who led this initiative at a time when Atlantis generally was acknowledging its demise. These people accomplished a sort of telepathic communication that bridged physical limitation and began their movement of understanding to invest seeds to bear fruit at a later time, in the New Atlantis, you see. This one who led these was Anunaki. She planted these seeds of the consensus understanding of these people in the genetic code for continuation at another time. These seeds will bear fruit in the consciousness of those touched or triggered by these presentations, and others, in the years to come.

There will come a time when there will be brought into being the return of the Anunaki when the groundwork has been laid in fertile consciousness in the returning members of the Atlantean journey. We will bring this about in due course over the next twenty to thirty years of your time. Ten thousand consciousnesses will suffice for this field of fertility.

New Atlantis, the new kingdom of freedom and awakening

October 25, 1999 A

JANU: Yes, good morning, my brother. I am Janu speaking once more. Let us now, then, take this subject in hand at your request, that being the Atlantis journey. Our brother Lohanna speaks well on this subject and, having volunteered for this assignment, meaning these discourses, he is, in fact, the authority for all that transpires. His knowledge of the protocols involved are exquisite and he beckons those who contribute to this series with the utmost care. The reason being, for this attention to detail, is to preserve in your understanding, and those who follow, the need for great care in implementing what you have called the "New" Atlantis.

Now, this New Atlantis is far more than the images and remembrances and speculations of that that has been in your world. It represents the new kingdom of freedom and awakening on your Earth. This new kingdom shall extend beyond any locale that might be called this "New" nation, realizing itself in the consciousness of all humanity. This "New" Atlantis extends to other creatures of your world as well. A strong participant will be those in the water world. There are a number of species capable of embodying the movement of life in your world into the future. You would do well to become familiar with these and to establish rapport, for they share in your journey as well.

But that is another matter of investigation at another time. We move now our attention to those that carry the burden and the ecstasy of this encounter. We relinquish now this attunement to those capable ones. Prepare yourself, then, for this transition in consciousness.

LOHANNA: Welcome, brother. I am Lohanna, Exalted One by those who witness the truth of that which is to come. For this day's outline and discourse, we will assume three facts not in evidence at this time; however, they prevail. The first being the fact of the ongoing of the human experiment for the next millennium. This fact is represented by, inferred by, certain modifications of the headlong rush into self-destruction in your recent past. The second fact being the close proximity, increased awareness on the part of humanity, of the Hierarchy of Light for your world and others in your development. The third being that awakening to the soul, the true nature, if you will, by a growing number of your population. These three facts characterize humanity's destiny in the near future.

The new millennium includes that which we have been presenting, namely, the New Atlantis in its larger role than it has ever achieved. The new Atlantis sits imbedded, imprinted in the genetic code and spirit being of each one to be involved. Some of you will be present for this development and others will choose other adventures, you see, as spirit beings free to choose.

As we have indicated, the beginnings of this movement physically will be connected with the nations of Greece and her pre-history heritage. In certain ways, the nation of the new Atlantis will begin not as a physical location to be pointed to as a nation, but as a nation of awakenings to a new vision and understanding. Others have been prepared to awaken to the needs of physical support and facilities. This movement will commence at the rising of the new millennium, in the second decade of your new century. Please be alert to this by means of preparation prior to this event, for the preparations have been underway for some time, and even as we speak.

We will continue with this at another time. And thank you, our brother, for this opportunity to progress along this line of understanding. Good day.

A Vision for the Destiny of Humanity and the New Atlantis

November 11, 1999 A

MASTER LOHANNA: We would have you know, beyond any shadow of doubt, that there will be a New Atlantis and it is rising even as we speak in the consciousness of those who prepare for it. For the rising of any nation, if you prefer, begins in the wills and consciousness and vision of those who sustain it.

Now then, as to the vision of the New Atlantis, as we see it and those who prepare for it see it, it will be a conglomerate of foci of disciplines, specialties, specializations if you will, of human endeavor, located adjacent to a rift you would term mountain range near the Himalayas. This is one location, for the climate and altitude will serve that particular specialization.

Another location will be the mid-Atlantic soon to experience a sudden rising. There will be taken advantage of archives of previously deposited information and artifacts, for these will serve the continuation of that particular specialization.

Another location will be in the area of New England, in your country. The specialization here will include genetic development and cross-breeding to refine the human vehicle, you see. The next location is yet to be determined but will be suitable for the specialization of contacting and fulfilling contracts with extra-terrestrials.

Now then, as to what this will mean to the future of humanity, we must explore humanity's destiny to some degree. This destiny of which we speak is visioned as a species moving into a role as contributor to the development of other worlds and cultures. For this to take place, humanity must awaken to its destiny, developing those skills needed to proceed.

We would have you know at this time that there comes among you one who will bring about such revelation as to be described earlier than expected by many. This one will be known to you as an Off-worlder in terms of consciousness but to others one of your own, one of the Earth. But this one will be aware on many levels and will monitor the development of the New Atlantis. He brings before him an entourage that carries the vision. This one possesses a vision for humanity that will only benefit its destiny. Be alert for this in the coming months and the announcement will be made. Should you choose to play a role in this development, you need only petition for it.

JR: I do so petition at this time, Master Lohanna, for service is the theme of our endeavors.

MASTER LOHANNA: Thank you, our brother. It is understood, there will be, in time, opportunity to proceed in this way. Thank you once more for this opportunity to proceed in this manner and we will develop this understanding, this vision for the future of humanity and the New Atlantis as we continue.

New Atlantis and three achievements of humanity

December 21, 1999 B

LOHANNA: I am Lohanna speaking and welcoming you to this round of discussions on the subject of the new adventure we have called Atlantis. Now, what does this really mean for humanity? It means one of two or three things.

The first being an opportunity for mankind to embrace its true destiny as a guiding consciousness for those orders of life within its domain.

Number two: it means humanity will be put to the test to discover its core reality and accept the responsibility for it.

Number three: it means humanity will discover a vision for its future and beyond the millennium and beyond this Earth on which you live.

There are many giant steps in the path of human destiny, some of which will be met in a refined way and on schedule. Others will come and go to be reshaped and dealt with at another time. Now, all are needed for humanity's future to unfold, for they offer possibilities for alternative destinies. Human destiny comprises about thirty percent, if you will, of the destiny of your world. There are many other elements of the destiny of your world not appreciated by humanity. The destiny of your world is not limited to the physical exploration of other worlds or the building of technology and the acquisition of resources. As with all life, creation is a journey in consciousness and that which brings wisdom to the Source of Life. So, for humanity to fulfill its destiny, this quality of being must develop in proportion to rest of the human journey.

New Atlantis takes this into account and will be a strong theme in realizing this proportion, this balance, this equilibrium in the destiny of humanity. The previous Atlantis sojourn explored the mechanics of life. This next opportunity will explore and develop the reason for it.

A Time Capsule in the Florida Keys

April 4, 2000 B

JANU: Let us bring our attention around, then, to a rather small area of the world, a tiny peninsula in the Florida Keys. Much has been said of the fabled Atlantis and yet there is legacy to be seen by those who would see. The Atlantean journey of ten thousand years past left, among other things a richness and a ritual that speaks to the scientific approach to understanding. Many of the sciences of your day find their roots or at least their heritage, their lineage, through the Atlantean epoch. Science of life in the sea being one.

And at the location of this small peninsula marked by shallow depth of the ocean floor for approximately three miles there remains hidden in these waters a small capsule or container that was left for a future find. This capsule is of a green hue with a uniform arrangement of patterns in relief around its surface. It is three meters in length with an oval configuration from end to end. It is approximately one half meter in width at the widest point and uniform from one end to the other. It is sealed around its circumference at this wide point of its oval configuration. It contains within it an array of technical terminology and findings in the script of that time. There are certain artifacts that will lead to the understanding of their language. Life under the sea, not only in controlled habitation, controlled environments, but with physical adaptation is discussed in this. There are some remnants that bear testimony to these findings. The capsule is oriented north by northeast, with a downward slant of 45 degrees in that direction. It will be found with soundings but not with metal detection equipment, you see. And it will be found by those prepared to continue, by authority of their Atlantean heritage, the Atlantean journey.

This legacy will continue the developing findings of the science of life in the sea, both for its natural inhabitants and that of humanity, that once had understanding of this. It lies in the ocean bottom, the capsule of which we speak, seventeen meters below the ocean floor and was placed there in a cave long ago. This legacy was left by a team of scientists who knew that continuation of this knowledge would not take place in their time but in the future. They were six in number and well established in the Atlantean hierarchy of life and scientific community.

The capsule material is impervious to the sea and to marine life. It is designed to be stabilized by the salt water and its temperature. Removing it from this environment will facilitate its opening, you see. Not quite time yet. But could be within this lifetime of yours.

We thank you for this visit and would convey these understandings to further the awakening and ongoingness of humanity in a constructive manner. We are the Brotherhood of Light and the Atlantean Council upon whose authority this has been given. Namaste, our brother.

Reciprocity

September 11, 2000 C

MASTER LOHANNA: We shall proceed beginning with, at this time, an element of understanding leading to the adoption of such principles as to bring about a further increase in the understanding of that which is to come. For that which is to come is ordained by those who contribute in their way to the fulfilling of the destiny of life through their understanding of their embrace of it. These principles of which we speak bear upon the examination of life and its core principles. The Atlantis "project," if you will, mission of sorts, has an integrity, a longevity, and is of such substance and depth as to be an opportunity for the projection of the human journey well into your future. Make no mistake that your future and its destiny are not yours alone but are part of larger movements of life, one being the Earth on which you reside. For Atlantis, in its inherent design and commission, includes this. This undertaking represents a maximum effort to achieve the greatness of the potential of your world.

For today's examination of these principles of which we speak, let us begin with the principle of reciprocity. There is included within the design of life a constant flow of reciprocation intertwined with the ebbs and flows, the eddies, currents, whirlpools, ever changing patterns of life's motions. This reciprocity is symbiotic with the essential core vitality of life and its imperative. This principle of understanding has to do with understanding and embracing the magic of what some have called the natural flow, "being in the flow" so to speak. For the "flow," as you have called it, is no less than this motion of life and its symbiosis among its elements that we have described. Allow yourself to experience these motions of life and find your own destiny intertwined among them. You will understand your reason for being and your natural imperative to continue your motion of life. Atlantis understands this and the currents and flows of the old Atlantis live still in the eddies and currents of that which is to come due to this interlife relationship and reality. Move forward then with us in this way of understanding as we explore the full dimension of your original inquiry to begin the search for this understanding of what has been referred to as your past.

The Homo Sapiens element of the Atlantis experiment

November 14, 2000 B

MASTER LOHANNA: Yes, greetings, my brother. I am Lohanna speaking once more, greeting you and welcoming you to this opportunity to progress with that which has been established through these communications. We would begin with and have you understand that there will be a series of these core principles described or introduced during the last communication. These principles will conclude with the coming together of that which belongs to the nether world as described by or introduced by your brother Janu. The nether world we speak of is that which brings about the cohesion of the movement of life in the direction of realization of potential.

Now then, for today's exercise in understanding, let us proceed with the principle next in line, that being the Homo Sapiens element of this journey of understanding as a principle of life formation and relationship with the design and intent of this grand experiment. As a principle, as such, the Homo Sapiens element of this larger movement begins with the acceptance of, and commitment to, involvement by the orders of life in the denser dimensional aspects of this grand journey. Homo Sapiens, from the perspective of the first principles of this journey, this grand journey, included the beginnings of sentience by elements of the denser reality that Homo Sapiens included.

Homo Sapiens, then, better understood as a manifestation of a principle designed to collect the nature of the elements of the movement of life in the denser realities. This contribution to the overall plan will bring about an assimilation of the Homo Sapiens density into the currents of life that return charge to life's source.

You are, as it were, in your human form, the completion of a circuit, if understood energetically, of charge and discharge of the commission for Life by its Hierarchy. Therefore, it is imperative that the collective consciousness, individually and collectively, embrace all elements of the grand journey of your world. The Atlantis model is part of this scheme and began with the first movements of life on your world. The human principle in the movement of life called Earth is as a catalyst for the progression of understanding as global consciousness reaches towards its zenith. Atlantis is the unifying effort toward that end and will continue to be so. We would have you understand the importance of the human role in these developments and proceed accordingly.

Elements of Progression for the AAtlantis Project

November 13, 2001 C

MASTER LOHANNA: I am Lohanna, once more, bringing you up-to-date, as it were, with those events and elements of progression for what has been called the AAtlantis Project. Atlantis, then, being one of many ventures into the understanding of life and the fulfillment of human destiny, which you have been apprised of recently as being more than one destiny, more than one platform of life.

Atlantis today succumbs to the pressures of old and the twists and turns of that history. The Atlantis of tomorrow breaks forth from this into a shining, a new glory of adventure and achievement and understanding. The Atlantis of tomorrow reaches this pinnacle seventy years hence and continues its long journey into the awakening of its associations and the creations. Atlantis will become a shining flower in the bouquet of human destiny and bring to bear much that will be known as the shining moments of the human journey.

Atlantis has been stuck, or fixed if you will, in the memories of humanity as an ended epoch of uncertain achievement and conflicting understandings of failures. Be it known that no more will this be the case, for the reawakening of the journey of Atlantis in the hearts and minds of so many who have contributed will dispel those fears and doubts into a new vision of the future. Be so warned, alerted, and prepared for these.

We welcome all who find within them such response. The Council on Genetics has been brought into the focus for the redeployment of those who contributed in the past to this understanding and would prevail upon those to deliver or contribute to a greater understanding of the role of genetics in the reshaping of the human vehicle for journeying in the new vision of Atlantis.

We encourage you to consider this in your researches, as you have known these and have belonged to such councils. The Human Genome Project is a worthy study but doesn't go far enough for these purposes. Your researches into the interaction between the human genome and consciousness is essential. There are a number of other councils to be reactivated and we shall explore these in due course. Leaving this connection for the moment, we bid you good afternoon.

New Atlantis will unite humanity into one body of awareness

December 19, 2002 A

JANU: To elaborate slightly on a portion of today's opportunity to communicate with that great one, Lohanna, on the subject of Atlantis. Being, then, composed of many facets, we would say that the human element or component is but one and its journey leads to an amalgamation of achievements and resources to form what will be called eventually new life. Today's journey speaks to this and grants the wish to understand Atlantis.

LOHANNA: Atlantis, then, to be understood as a prime ingredient in the movement of Earth through her journey into becoming. The role of Atlantis in this has many facets, as our brother has just said, and the vision for this experiment will be completed when humanity fulfills its destiny as the collective consciousness, the assimilator of consciousness, and the divine coordinator, that will serve with wise direction the destiny of all the life that is Earth. Humanity has much to achieve in this area and Atlantis plays a role.

Atlantis, make no mistake, experienced many changes, many turmoils, and has yet to fulfill its destiny. The new Atlantis, of which we speak, reaches far into your future but does so with a staunch and bright nugget of truth gleaned from its earlier days. The name 'Atlantis' had earlier origins, not of your Earth. They began at a time when Earth was evolving into a habitable planet for life with an environment capable of the triple or tricode existence of water, you see. Atlantis had its share of the darker and light skinned people. Some of these were implants into that culture.

Let us adjust now to a view of Atlantis that speaks to what is to come and preparations under way. Atlantis resounds once again to bring about change in the human condition that will eventually integrate specializations in consciousness into one body of awareness, of capability, and wisdom, multifaceted, diverse to say the least but integrated, a sensitivity across all disciplines to their interconnectedness and mutual benefit and, as a result, a vision for collective destiny that can be realized with great impetus. The common vision that will unite humanity will be encouraged and nurtured by the heart--the living higher expression of love rather than the narrow and limited current day to day visions of survival and power.

The New Atlantis will unite humanity in this way, opening new vistas of exploration not possible with such effectiveness and, shall we say, rapidity not experienced at this time. Humanity will begin to share one thought with clarity, integrated--integrating the visions of many and their contribution. Atlantis of old experimented with this but could not master the integration. Too many power struggles, you see. The New Atlantis will be a shining moment on the human journey. You are welcome, our brother, in your growing understanding.

We will conclude, then, this episode of understanding. Let us continue with these, for they do serve the awakening of humanity. I am Lohanna of Atlantis and beyond.

Atlantis: past and future

April 21, 2005 A

LOHANNA: I am Lohanna once more, seeking then with you to discover and explain the magic and the glory of Atlantis, especially as it pertains to today, on its journey, you see.

Atlantis is a rising star in the journey of humanity, for it beckons the interest of those who have come near and far to participate, to observe, to gain knowledge of that which it is becoming. We talk then of the emerging Atlantis, where so many cast their gaze upon its history. Much to be learned in both directions, our brother, for there is truth in both and Atlantis lives in both, for what we have come to at this time is a beckoning of and a reckoning of those who have known and been Atlantis and those who have an affinity for its future.

In its past, Atlantis was a refuge for the beings who would embrace the stars, claim them as their own, and expand their Light in mystery within themselves. Many experiments and discoveries yielded a profound understanding of the ways of nature, including life beyond your orb. But what Atlantis was destined to become, a gateway, a bridge to the new humanity, no longer limited to the squabbles and conflicts of Earth struggles for power and dominance of each other. Atlantis will see the light and the hope of humanity expressed in new ways, bringing about new freedom much larger than your influence of the day, for society in your time teaches you limitation, tradition without change, and socially acceptable patterns of life and thought; but the New Atlantis leaves this behind and restores in humanity, in human consciousness, latent freedom, unlimited creativity, and intimacy with the venues of life.

This is what we will discover on this journey, our brother. The magic and the freedom of the future. Join with us on this journey, and we shall grow together in this new way of understanding.

A return to the Atlantis series with Master Lohanna

May 10, 2012 A

JANU: I am Janu speaking, exploring, then this morning, that you have requested: a resumption of the series on Atlantis, originally presented by Master Lohanna. What we see here is the definite possibility, should you choose to engage this once more. We will have aligned that needed for such and will petition Master Lohanna once more. We agree this is a worthy effort, involving not only the history of the Earth but its future as well. Let us begin this series again, giving sufficient time for preparation.

The New Atlantis

June 5, 2012 A

JANU: We have with us this morning that one who represents this series of journeys on Atlantis. The Master Lohanna will commence this discourse, as it pertains to the recovery of the initial purpose of Atlantis and that which is to come.

MASTER LOHANNA: The subject of Atlantis continues to be a reality. Let there be an understanding that the future of Atlantis lies dormant no more. The recovery of this ideal on the human journey shall become apparent in due course as others subscribe to this reawakening. Atlantis forms, then, a nurturing of the human journey in the sense of that which pertains to its understanding and command of life regarding self-determination, individually and collectively.

Now then, to begin with, let us explore that which reaches into the roots of this journey, the Atlantis of old. A journey rich with the ups and downs of life, if you will, the progressions, the reversals, the misunderstandings and the achievements. Atlantis was a nation that moved in the direction of building a consensus as to the reality of life. Many faceted was this grasp of reality but, unbeknownst to the participants, it set the stage for the future Atlantis. Bringing then our attention to that which is to come, and that which is in progress, this foundation laying will manifest in the areas of teaching that which is gained to all who participate on each level of understanding, uniting then the group consciousness of humanity into the embrace of a larger life, bringing a richness to all according to the needs of each.

Atlantis will proclaim victory for having a direction understood and being achieved. Of course, no victory, then, is the final word on any subject. Atlantis will be repatterned, re-formed, re-energized with greater clarity and wisdom gained from the past, considered in the interim, and envisioned for the future. Atlantis already has several thousand attuned to this path of victory, and, yes, all of humanity will benefit.

We see a grand vision in the arts. Music will take on new dimension. Leadership of the people will grow into leadership through self-determination, determination born of deeper understanding, illumination, and a sense of purpose. Yes, common purpose as well. We see the formation of new technologies, not for their own sake but embraced by the people to fulfill their purpose, that is larger than technology, you see. We see reforms in the understanding of all other creatures of the world: their role, their purpose, their aspirations, their needs. We see an opening to lifeforms, beings, intelligences not of the Earth per se although having been involved with this world for eons of time.

Threads of these understandings existed in Atlantis of old, but the threads of tradition and limited vision modified their awakening, their flowering. This will not be the case to that degree in the future. Atlantis will initially be seen as a location, giving way to, in the future, location-less and more universal. We see this coming, our brother, and are determined that it be, given a chance.

Welcoming all into their future, we are the new Atlantis and we bid you namaste.

Let the new legacy begin

August 10, 2012 A

JANU: I am Janu speaking, returning once more to that which portends to be a new dimension for human journeys in time to come. Already begun, then you see, for the beginning of any journey of significance has its preparation, its foundation laying, its building of momentum, and development of content and purpose.

Let us atune, then, this morning, to that one who best represents for us this new journey of Atlantis, the Master Lohanna.

MASTER LOHANNA: I am Lohanna speaking, wishing you well this morning on this journey of understanding, delving into a new role for humanity, a new adventure in the seeking of understanding and development of your culture and consciousness. What we see unfolding as we speak is the development of the location selected for the physical focus, for the time being, of the future of Atlantis. We see this emerging in due course into the more public awareness, and, as stated earlier, the island of Crete looms large in this although not the central focus. Greece, having played a role in the past for anchoring Atlantean understanding in that area of the world, will serve once more, but then again not the central physical focus for the birthing of Atlantis. We will speak of this again, in due course, be assured of that. For now, this morning, let us journey into the understanding of that which is to come.

Atlantis, its beginnings again, will have a ripple effect through human society, confusing at first for, on the surface, appears to be in contradiction to your established norms of the day. It will suggest changes, and many of these, but organized in such a way as to provide the beginnings of clear understanding of the needs for change. Atlantis will perform at its best when encountered by those who are open to it and those who have agreed, in one way or another.

The best initial changes to come will be in the area of public consciousness accepting Atlantis as part of its own history, 'owning it' so to speak, and challenging its promise to become a new and refreshing direction. Atlantis already lives in the hearts and minds of many, from historical records to vast speculation, for in the human spirit there still exists the longing for a richer life with less suffering and poverty, mutual distress, distrust, and, yes, some cruelty. Atlantis is a larger effort than most will understand at first. And, yes, Atlantis will set the stage for another new beginning, beyond its legacy.

These epoch journeys into new life will go on and on, delivering humanity into new vistas. Atlantis was designed in the beginning to be a vehicle for humanity, and the life it serves on your world, to realize its full potential and to be ever more of true service to the many forms of life. Let the legacy creation begin, then. It is an endless journey, and a rich one.

The case for Atlantis

Sept. 18, 2012

MASTER LOHANNA: Yes, greetings, brother, I am Lohanna speaking, welcoming this opportunity to address this subject so dear to many of us. We do understand the need for making the case for Atlantis, to humanity in general.

The case for this activity is founded in a tradition in the human journey of fundamental movements and developments in culture and consciousness with purpose and direction, Atlantis being one, and more to come. As stated earlier, the Atlantis legacy will lay the foundation for the next significant journey for humanity. The case for Atlantis is well founded by way of the many brilliant minds and efforts already invested in the development of humanity.

Humanity's focus in time to come will amount to a larger active responsibility for the care of your world, our world, and through this stewardship qualify as counselor for other worlds as well. Humanity will become a shining light in this region of life, for Earth will develop this way, as well. Much change is needed for human consciousness to have this vision, and to bring it about. Atlantis will continue the tradition of this development and, of course, always it is up to the choices, the decisions of those involved. For what can you lay claim to that you have ignored?

Atlantis will be more than a physical location, a center for understanding and the mastering of life, in the sense of being one with it. Atlantis, in time, will have a voice, a presence, and a contribution off planet, off your world. Atlantis, through its participants and their consciousness, shall reveal many developments on Earth to those who are interested, and discover similar quests and achievements of this nature on other worlds. Yes, in time Atlantis as a focus will give way to a new era of expansion, influence, and service. As humanity is consumed at the moment with visiting other worlds, in due course it will include the Atlantis legacy, its contribution, for in a sense, our brother, it is in the DNA of humanity and part of its history and now part of its future. There is a possibility, when called for, the name Atlantis will be elevated to something new but not to be dwelled upon at this time.

So the case for Atlantis is that it has been and will be a major contributor to the core reality of the human journey. As to the future of the past leaders of Atlantis, and their reincarnation, too early to tell, for the leadership will not be just based through incarnation, although considered as part of leadership. We shall see. The Atlantis of the future could be an attraction for this, but as we said, too soon to tell.

Atlantis: a network of worlds

Oct. 31, 2012

JANU: We have with us this morning another opportunity to partake of the vision of Atlantis as presented by the Master Lohanna. This continuation of the evolution of Atlantis and its legacy must be remembered as continuing path for humanity and the Earth. Atlantis belongs to a series of these, many of which have been incorporated in the larger understanding of Atlantis and its purpose.

MASTER LOHANNA: I am Lohanna, reaching then into the wisdom of Atlantis and its gift of service to the life of humanity and more.

Atlantis will become an organization, a network, a system of life that will grow into that which the name 'Atlantis' can no longer encompass. The new name will be born of the revelations to come in large part due to off-world connections. What it will become already exists in some ways on other worlds. Therefore, the natural evolution of networking of worlds into a reality that includes other worlds as well; the Earth then becoming part of the brotherhood of worlds.

The basis for the Atlantis movement was not born on the Earth alone, you see. Atlantis has its roots in other venues of life, some much older than humanity, civilized humanity. And the deepening understanding for humanity in this direction will in part be coming from the off-world roots. But the Atlantis name is of the Earth; the new name not necessarily. These names are earmarks of thresholds of development and evolution, and these names mark them.

The focus of Atlantis in the immediate future will be the preparation of humanity for this network of worlds, and a foundation laid for the embracing of their contribution to this evolution. The Earth will join a community of worlds already well on their way, in some cases, as an example of what is to come.

So you see, our brother, Atlantis is much larger than the land of old, and the movement from its description to this new understanding was inevitable. For, without change, as you know, life fades away. So the new Atlantis to come in the near future will be populated with those of this vision of something larger, more meaningful, grander purpose, and a commitment beyond the individual, you see, for all will benefit and humanity will be seen in a new light.

Atlantis: old and new

Dec. 14, 2012

JANU: Atlantis looms large in the view of the destiny of humanity, for this is not a new idea or beginning, you see. It is an ancient plan for humanity, born of a tradition of life that includes the coming together of many worlds and cultures, growing into the maturity of the community and grander achievements. What we reach for this morning is more understanding of this and the possibilities that await humanity on this journey. We turn our attention now to the Master Lohanna, who embarked upon this mission a long time ago.

MASTER LOHANNA: Yes, greetings, our brother. I am Lohanna, speaking once more on this subject of the new Atlantis, soon to be known by another name.

These journeys that we embark upon serve a purpose, to bring awareness to that which is to come, and to those who are involved, whether conscious of it or not. For we all are served by good communication, good will, and commitment, pooling our creative resources into the creation and manifestation of the human journey.

Now then, as to this new development of what belongs to this journey of humanity. Much letting go of old traditional thought and behavior. What belongs to this next journey for humanity is a profound softening of prejudices, isolation, selfish preferences, and pessimism. For these things stand in the way of a rich future and they perpetuate themselves through long standing fears in the human psyche. These movements into the future are bold steps for humanity, individually and collectively. The old Atlantis had them as well, but there was a strong contingent with a vision larger than that. And there are those in your society or culture today that do as well. And, yes, there have been visitations from other worlds that understand this and, in their way, have tried to lift humanity into a freer life.

Atlantis will become the bright future it was meant to be. Wars will no longer be needed, or tolerated, or supported. The famine in the world will give way to a brotherhood that cares for each other. The theme that Atlantis will become, will become a way of life, with richer diversity, possibilities, opportunities, and achievements. And, in time, humans will have pride in their world as it plays a role in life with other worlds, and even this, our brother, will give way to a grander pride, if you will, in what the network of worlds will achieve. Even being human of the Earth gives way to a larger identity that is more universal, and less limited. As these shifts in identity occur, opportunities are revealed for engagement in life, not possible previously.

So the journey begun as Atlantis continues. And, yes, our brother, there was journeying that led to Atlantis, not so much from ancient times but from other realities. There is a coming together of those who these heritages filled with anticipation and a desire to proceed.

The vision of the New Atlantis

Jan. 23, 2013

JANU: Atlantis being a bold step into the future commands respect from those who participate and those who observe its progress. Much to be gained by this enterprise, for reasons yet to be anticipated. The totality of the Atlantis journey is coming into view through the Master Lohanna. This one's presence is welcomed.

MASTER LOHANNA: Yes, greetings, our brother. We are here, as requested. And you are correct. The Atlantis journey is continuing, soon to be renamed, but not just yet. More of a foothold in the affairs of the Earth is called for, and it will come, in large measure, through the returning memories, the awakened memories of those who have participated and the enthusiasm of those who wish to. So, you see, it will not spread from one locale to the rest of the Earth; it will spring forward all over the Earth. That's where the memories reside, befitting a journey that is global. As part of the motivation for changing its name is to cast it into its role in the bright future, not condemned by negative perceptions of its past, for it is evolving too, our brother, as are we all.

Atlantis is not just a reality in spirit, as you put it, but those of the Earth who are beginning to remember and gaining a vision and the few who have never forgotten, you see. You, yourself, our brother, are not a distant observer, but are contributing much through these dialogues, and their documentation, and eventual presentation. We encourage this. It takes a bit of faith and courage to continue something that others seemingly have no awareness of, to the point of not open to it either, you see. So, press on, as it were. Bringing a foundation for understanding through these discourses will plant the seeds of perceived possibilities.

Do not look for the trappings of other organizations, other movements demonstrating their allegiance and their identity through their appearance, you see. Atlantis is not born of this; it is born of a consciousness in the minds and hearts and deeds of those who share a growing vision. That is a lasting foundation for humanity to evolve. The others come and go.

You ask, "What kind of leadership is called for in a movement such as this?" The leadership, our brother, is of the growing common vision which opens like a flower to display more and more of its beauty and its wisdom, its benefit and its service to life. That is leadership that cannot be owned or claimed by any one person or group.

Let there be, then, a climax to the ways of the past, and a birthing of the new, never forgetting that the new had its roots in the journey. We will speak more of the manifestations and direction of this new vision. Observe all the inequities in society, the divisions and the struggles for survival and power and advantage, giving way to a universal perspective that embraces all of humanity.

Atlantis and human destiny

March 4, 2013

JANU: We will continue with the journey of the New Atlantis. We shall take part in this as contributors to this effort, for we know of many who have been served by the journey of Atlantis. Reaching then into the knowledge of what is to come, we present the Master Lohanna.

MASTER LOHANNA: We have some measure of information to impart to restore the vision of Atlantis for those who would participate. For this vision and the destiny of humanity walk hand in hand. We would counsel that there lies before us a path for humanity to transition to a destiny larger than this Earth.

Forays into new adventures will have some direction as revealed by each phase of the journey. Where life on Earth has been the focus for so many for so long, exclusive of other possibilities, we are here to say that this will change, our brother, for it must. Humanity progresses when faced with new challenge, new opportunity to explore, understand, assimilate, and contribute. This is the vision of Atlantis, and, yes, soon to be renamed, to speak of and capture a new threshold for creative engagement.

A common language for those who participate in the new societies, will be a collection of many disciplines, as is your language today. Ultimately, this collection of disciplines will include language learned from off-world communication, eventually to the point that those of your current time would be hard pressed to understand. But this is the process of merging with the life of other worlds.

You ask, "What will be the foundation and structure for this new reality and continuation?" The foundation and structure will be a growing vision of commitment to human destiny, mutual support and acceptance, the embrace of pieces of the puzzle inspired in, and envisioned by, each person's insight. Not realizing at first that they draw upon a collective reality not fully aware of yet. But the pieces will come together, our brother, for they must. For the reality of the new Atlantis and the coming new name is that this is and has been human destiny all along the way, not some separate island and its culture 10,000 years ago. That is where some pieces of the puzzle attempted to begin the formation of the picture, you see. As one opens to their own piece of the puzzle, they may open their consciousness to seeing other pieces as well, therefore growing their vision. And collectively all of humanity comes to embrace this possibility on its path of destiny. Yet to be revealed, but already begun.

It is well to begin considering the reality of the collective human, for more and more individualities will combine to enrich the foundation, the platform for individual creativity and genius. Nothing lost and so much more gained. More ability to perceive and understand another's vision, another's piece of the puzzle and the direction it leads, benefiting individuals and the collective human at the same time. The body of life is evolving and the fears of being isolated in a limited individuality perception will give way.

New language, new culture, new name, and new vision

May 20, 2013

JANU: Atlantis, then, is beginning to loom large on the horizon of human destiny. The one who has spoken with us, and speaks with us today, the Master Lohanna, continues his representation of the destiny of Atlantis, which is the human destiny. They are one. For today's journey, let us attune to the presence of this one and his truth.

MASTER LOHANNA: I am Lohanna and, in many ways, I am Atlantis, its reality and its future. For having once lived on the land of Atlantis, I understand its fundamental principles and potential.

Where we are, at this moment today, in this journey, is still the development stage of the firming up of a foundation for the future, benefiting from that built in the past that is compatible. Yes, the name Atlantis, for many in the public arena, is limited by past conceptions and misconceptions. The main element that is moving forward, our brother, is the consciousness of Atlantis. When one lives in a culture, they are imprinted with the life of that culture and there are still those today with that imprint. For that imprint survives in the memory, carried from one lifetime to another. What we attempt to do at this time is bring that memory closer to the foreground of human consciousness and, as a conscious memory, embraced once more.

It is important to perceive or see, our brother, that Atlantis is not a place or a technology. It is a point of view, a philosophy, an understanding of human destiny. Be aware, then, that the Earth and its consciousness has always been a participant in human destiny and there is understanding there as well. So the vision for Atlantis does not include the trappings of old, stone structures and the brutality that existed, but the refinement of all that was achieved to further human evolution and enrichment of spirit.

So, as you attempt to peer into the future of Atlantis, realize that it isn't so much structure and form that you seek, but a way of seeing life and your role in it. Atlantis as an idea played its role in the past, with all of the foibles of any culture. Not so much a place of magic but a place of growing creativity and experimentation with life and a vision of the future. Your quest in understanding of their language, the language of Atlantis, be it known, our brother, it is no longer needed. Atlantis will be a new language and a new name and a new reality, birthed from the old with its own destiny and culture. Knowledge of the old language would have no place to go.

Developing the new Atlantis

July 10, 2013

JANU: The Master Lohanna will speak, for this is his agreed upon project, if you will.

MASTER LOHANNA: I am Lohanna, welcoming this opportunity to continue our journeys, forming then the manifestation of Atlantis, the new Atlantis. Yes, to be renamed.

For today's journey, let us examine more securely what will be the transition from everything that was to the new. It is a profound change for virtually nothing of the old will be carried forward. Only the consciousness gained that will serve the new. So, in most ways, our brother, we are starting new beginnings. This is why the name "Atlantis" will be replaced. But the original mission, to fulfill the destiny of humanity, will remain. Much of this new endeavor will be focused upon human consciousness and an environment that supports this, stimulates creativity, and an openness to explore. So, you see, the vision is still manifesting.

How then does one proceed with something new, with the scope of what will be, including those who have been imprinted with the past? We do not do this alone, our brother. We have the support and insight of many with experience of worlds in what you might call 'other dimensions,' although a limited term, for much of what will be accomplished on the Earth has been accomplished elsewhere. The new frontier, so to speak, our brother, is awakening into the destiny of consciousness and the human component of this must develop as well, and already is, here and there on other worlds, for the family of humanity is larger than what most are aware of.

We understand that humanity is more comfortable with names for different realities, for purposes of identification and connection and communication. Understand this, our brother, that the need for names exists in the absence of direct connection, a mind awakened to a larger life where names as such are a limitation. However, there will be a new name for Atlantis, with a foundation based upon global and universal understanding and embrace. This new adventure is so more profoundly integrated with humanity, the Earth, its creatures, and its visitors. Word names will always be limiting, but are designed to be inspirational and immediately recognizable and understood, for the New Atlantis vision and destiny serves all of life.

Every aspect of this is under development and you are welcome, our brother, along with many others. Thank you for your interest and I am Lohanna.
