

Crop Circles

T100- T149

Volume 5

Pictures are used with permission of Colin Andrews from his Crop Circle Catalogue Volume 3

Janu served as the gatekeeper to all attunements, but his remarks are only included if they added to an understanding of the topic. The Brotherhood of the One Light provided most of the information. Occasionally, a glyph was indicated as being bogus, incomplete, or inappropriate for this study, and was skipped. A diagram of these skipped glyphs is presented, but in much smaller size, so that the reader can discern the glyph upon which to focus. The Table of Contents includes only the focal glyph, which explains the missing numbers.

T103 and T137 are omitted because no attunement was done. (See page 2 for pictures.) Whether this was due to the fact that the glyph was not considered a legitimate part of the series, or simply human error in the sequence, is not known at this time. T144 is not a true glyph but is included as Janu's comments may prove instructive or of interest to the reader.

The patterns should be seen as a portal or key to journey into or through in order to engage the multi-dimensional reality and gain the understanding represented. The reader is encouraged to take his/her own journeys through the glyphs as the experience of a glyph is multi-dimensional and may be different for each individual.

T-101: The dynamism of the structures of life	Page 3
T-102: "The collective human"	Page 3
T-104: The freedom of sinless reality	Page 4
T-105: The union of souls, the brotherhood of humanity realized	Page 5
T-106: Completing the circle of polarized life on the human journey	Page 6
T-107: Rest for collective humanity	Page 7
T-108: Stepping into the next moment, the equilibrium point of all creation	Page 7
T-109: The balanced order of life	Page 8
T-110: The corridor of life that extends beyond this universe	Page 9
T-111: The symphony of life	Page 10
T-112: The collective will and wisdom of the human race as master of its destiny	Page 10
T-113: Unifying time through all realities	Page 11
T-114: The presence of life	Page 12
T-115: The dynamics of communication	Page 12

T-116: restoring the vitality of the pathway to your True Nature	Page 13
T-117: limitless thought initiates limitless reality	Page 14
T-118: Understanding and experiencing through our triune nature the co-existence and oneness of our many facets	Page 15
T-119: The Dance of Life	Page 16
T-120: accessing the reality of life between dimensions	Page 16
T-121: A connection with other realities	Page 17
T-122: Peace, the true power on the path of success	Page 18
T-123: Understanding the role of fear on the human journey	Page 19
T-124: The simultaneous realities of the human journey	Page 20
T-125: experiencing the Zero Point of life	Page 21
T-126: The simple pleasures of life	Page 22
T-127: Shape-shifting your life	Page 23
T-128: Experiencing the purity, the simplicity that creates life	Page 23
T-129: The human archetypal pattern	Page 24
T-130: The patterns of grace, antiquity and the final solution of life	Page 25
T-133: Differences in the structures of life that can create worlds in the blink of an eye	Page 26
T-134: The Earth and humanity share a common destiny	Page 26
T-135: The peaceful pursuit of life	Page 27
T-136: Moving among the organizations of life that serve humanity	Page 28
T-138: The end and the beginning of the human quest for the truth of life and its own existence	Page 29
T-139: the human 'zero point' of consciousness	Page 29
T-140: One life of many	Page 30
A codex showing common origins with other species	Page 31
T-141: One life made of many, co-existing	Page 32
T-142: The importance of vibration and resonance	Page 33
T-143: One life	Page 33
T-146: Integrating the complexities and diversities of our existence forming a natural return to our true nature	Page 35
T-147: Understanding the source of human inequity & resolving it	Page 36
T-148: The Fourier curve architecture of life forms	Page 36
T-149: The abyss of consciousness and its relationship to life	Page 37

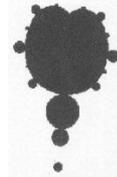

T-101: The dynamism of the structures of life

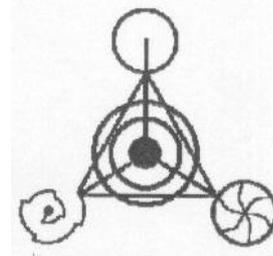

January 16, 2002 B

JANU: May we begin today's session by enumerating the causal benefits of these journeys to the consciousness of humanity. We would continue with these until such time as they are completed. Completed in the sense of the conveyance of the essential understanding and its purpose for humanity.

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: We begin with today's journey by announcing that this one of your choosing, T-100, may convey to some an understanding of structured form and their inherent flows. But for these purposes, let us remain aloof to these and continue then on with T-1-0-1.

T100

T101

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

This represents structured life, but more the dynamic of its structure. Though perceived in a limited way by many that life has its static component or attribute, life is nonetheless dynamic. The interplays of the currents of life are vast and unlimited. The interplays continue without interruption, only achieving modification as they proceed. Spawning then their progeny on the way, revealing ever more layers of life's potential, through this dynamic structure. Today's journey includes these, as we participate in that pattern presented at this time. Let us now then honor these timeless structures of life and the living dynamic they afford.

Look to your own being, then, dear one, for engaging this truth, this reality. For the dynamic structure of reference is yours as well. Touch, then, the flows and interplays of your own physical vehicle. Transpose these to those of your emotions and their energetic reality. Transpose these to the thought of your being. And transpose these to the completeness of your being. Become conscious of the many layers and levels of the dynamic flows of life, the interplays of your own nature and you are an orchestration, a symphony of life without so much as a static bone in your body, dear one. Experience the aliveness of who you are. The rhythm of these dynamic movements comprising the pulse of life.

This is the path, dear one, to not only the understanding and acceptance but the engagement and the fulfillment of the reality of the oneness of life. Beckon, then, that which you are to coalesce into your awareness of full understanding, appreciation, and identification with your completeness.

You can now appreciate how crude, by comparison, these glyph patterns are to what they represent. Be not enamored of them, dear one, for they are mere shadow of a grand reality. We beckon you further into these understandings as our opportunities continue on these journeys.

T-102: "The collective human"

January 23, 2002 B

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: We are the Brotherhood of the One Light conveying these meanings to you, provided by the Orders of Life. Giving, beckoning to the hearts and minds of mankind to steel their resolve into the mastering of the coming years on the path of humanity.

Today's offering represents in that offering the sages' contribution to the developing fervor of mankind variously located on your world, pockets of such that are joined in the quest. Not all are of high estate in the materiality of your world, or with social graces. But their hearts sing the same song. And to this we address today's journey.

T102

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

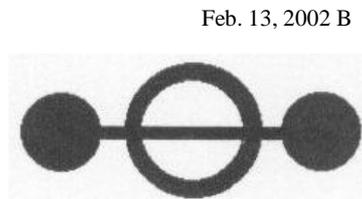

This pattern or glyph speaks to the linking of hearts of the awakening humanity with those who have experienced and possess such awakening in the many ways of consciousness that marks the human journey. These concentric circles speak to these ways, and the trailing tails, so to speak, the linking, you see. Let us now embrace the truth of this as we proceed into, by virtue of your participation in this reality, this truth.

As you can see, the waves of consciousness, through the history of humanity, are linked inextricably in humanity's collective body of life; therefore, a resource for all. Honor, then, this reality by acknowledgment and contribution to this song that links the hearts of all who search for the truth. This characteristic on the human journey reveals much in the way of humanity's destiny and its power to migrate into future forms of expression, purpose and meaning.

This linking, then, allows a reality to be formed called the "collective human" as one entity. Expand, then, your own identity to include this and understand humanity in a new way that only can be seen from the perspective of this collective dynamic. Be not limited by the current human form in this expansion of identity, but more the collective consciousness, the energetic reality, its momentum, its heartsong, its power to perceive and reshape itself.

T-104: The freedom of sinless reality

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: Conveying this message of understanding in such a way as to bring about a coordination of those thoughts that propel you into your destiny. Bringing about, then, this configuration or pattern into your knowingness, into your acceptance, we include at this time that which prepares you for such a journey.

T104

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

To begin with, this configuration deals with that element of the human journey known as the enigma of sin as proposed by some of the world's religions and fostered by those who would perpetuate the subjugation of the human spirit to local control, if you will, by those who fear the loss of such control. Sin, then, being based upon wrongdoing. Wrong, then, dear one, according to what source? Does the perception of sin from a limited source trouble you? Do you accept it as guidance with validity? This holds sway in your society by virtue of the reality of the unenlightened state of humanity.

Today's journey is designed to quell such fears and render irrelevant such struggles for power over others. Let us begin then by embracing and engaging this symmetry of pattern, knowing that it will reconfigure any notions contrary to this and allow movement into the truth of sinless reality of eternal completeness and the love that finds no fault with any of creation, you see. Let us do so at this time.

The key premise here is symmetry, and balance, and purity of being, and eternal nature. Adjust, then, the consciousness to include reorganization completing itself with these qualities. Become this, then, dear one, for you are already such a one. This journey by its nature addresses the lifting of the veil imposed by your own design and purpose. Centered then in the truth of your being that does not know deficiency, impotence of any kind, darkness, fear, but instead lives in the light of the pure truth of life.

As you have observed, there is greater freedom, expansiveness, awareness, and peace.

(Extended pause)

All that you have not forgiven yourself of is forgiven by you and your complete nature. You see your journeys, then, as experiences, including your service to life, your joys and your sorrows, wisdom to be gained and given. All these serve the ongoingness of life and enrich it. This perspective is part of that which you are.

(Extended pause)

There is more that could be said on this; however, we shall defer to the circumstances of the moment and bid you good afternoon, returning then to your previous estate yet connected to this limitlessness of your true nature.

T-105: The union of souls, the brotherhood of humanity realized

Feb. 26, 2002 A

JANU: Today's journey mentions the coming of understanding and it signal to the Orders of Life that there will be beginning a new phase or element of the human journey. Today's designation speaks to this and understands this dynamic.

T105

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: We have saluted these many journeys in the past, the awakening of humanity, and would continue to congratulate every effort on this behalf.

Today's journey and understanding includes the dynamic of life that speaks to life's inherent nature of communication through its movements. This realization on the part of humanity, as to its heritage and its destiny, is known to many but has yet to fully impact itself upon life. For it is yet incomplete in its current stage of evolution. Today's journey into the current pattern of interest reveals the nature of this impact upon the flows of life.

Let us begin then, dear brother, as we mention that that is needed to proceed. Take a long look, then, at the history of humanity, cumulatively, and own or identify with its momentum. This is what will carry you through this portal, for it is the pattern of recognition that engages it. All of the shining moments and all of the misery, all of the greatness and all of the frustrations and sense of lack or failure. Sense its life, its vitality, its beingness, and embrace the glyph head on.

Yes, you can feel, once the pattern match is made, it's drawing you in and through, into and through it and you accelerate. The door, so to speak, will not close behind you for this journey is destined to be temporary. You have entered the field of its reality. And the understanding of the completion of this phase of the human journey is at hand. And, as you can see, it is the union of souls, the brotherhood of humanity realized, a composite, not just a collection, you see.

(Extended Pause.)

This single movement in the flow of human consciousness, this one realized configuration of humanity, is the key that will create a pattern of light that the rest of the destiny of humanity requires for its manifestation. Focus, then, our brother, on this one event, that your service to the light and life of humanity sees this come to pass. And we shall rejoice with you and all who understand. The birthing of humanity into its new life.

T-106: Completing the circle of polarized life on the human journey Mar. 4, 2002 A JANU: T-106 remains significant at this time and there will be further information on this glyph. Bringing then into focus of paramount importance this rendering.

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: We are the Brotherhood of the One Light, presenting at this time this understanding as bracketed, if you will, by our brother Janu. T-1-0-6 remains in the field, using your designation, of understanding suited to these purposes.

For today's excursion we would announce that this pattern represents the culmination of lunar activities by our brethren who shape the understanding of the centuries. The lunar equivalent of time is focused upon the nightmarish hell that has been perpetrated by mankind to these many millennia. Left unchecked in their waves of propagation of influence, they would contaminate the destiny of humanity and alter forever that of the Earth as well. This glyph or pattern of today's interest is the connection for understanding this process.

Let us proceed then with some care through this portal of understanding. We do so in a finely balanced manner, for the equilibrium of life is at stake, to a degree, in what is being undertaken. The polarization of life in your world must complete its circle and, to do so, there must be equilibrium in the spectrum of expression mankind has chosen. What we accomplish through this portal is connecting the limits of this dichotomy of life in a perfect way that brings completion to its journey. This dichotomy of life expression is related to the double helix of your DNA, the source of the understanding "As above, so below," male and female, and the joining the triune nature of life in your reality. The union of the extremes of the spectrum of the dichotomy of life of your reality ends the need for intervention and ends a chapter of the human journey.

The next chapter is coming, our brother. And it is worth reading, and living. There are many chapters yet to come but the transition from one to the next is served by enlightened intervention by those who understand and have mastered a measure of life. In so doing, we fulfill the tenets of our brotherhood.

Understand this journey well, our brother, for you are connected to it, from the least to the greatest of its importance. There will be others who will come to fulfill their destiny in the portrayal of the human journey, and they are imminently qualified to do so. It is our honor to be among them and to convey these understandings as humanity awakens again.

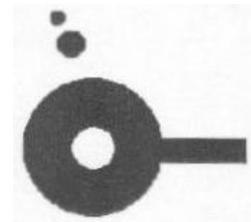

T106
copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

T-107: Rest for collective humanity

March 18, 2002 B

JANU: I am Janu speaking and we have reason for requesting your relaxation, for today’s journey brings forth much needed rest for humanity.

There is a reality best described as the Collective Rest or Relaxation of a species, humanity being one such. Today’s glyph accomplishes this through a harmonious union of the life flows of all of humanity, taking into account the many contributions of diverse races from many sources to the collective human. We pause now to engage the Brotherhood of the One Light as they rest and reside in the truth of this glyph, bringing about a serenity to the movement of the human journey. Let us examine, then, that which is to be offered at this time.

T107
copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: Your brother and master Janu has stated well the essential nature or substance of this pattern and that which it represents and more.

Let us then, even as we speak, approximate this configuration to begin to adjust the relationship between the vehicles of expression. This refinement accomplishes two functions, being first and foremost a rejuvenation with the essential nature of your being and harmonious alignment with the beingness and destiny of the collective human. Allow this to take place for a moment or two and then we shall proceed.

(Extended pause)

Once this is achieved, our brother, the conduit of life that nourishes all of your expressions, all of your vehicles, becomes the theme of your awareness and the union with the rest of humanity carries with it and (a) bond with its destiny, its consciousness, and its vitality. You begin to appreciate that the contributions of everyone merge into the common thread of life. Humanity is seen with purpose and contribution to life and larger than the turmoils of the moment. The human journey stretches further than you can see at this time and reaches pinnacles of understanding that surpass serenity. Your world will be transformed and the struggles for power will be no more. The economies of nations will recede into a new reality of shared prosperity.

With much more to be understood, we leave you at this time, bringing you to your current understanding. This journey requires many visits, our brother, bringing you that profound understanding.

T-108: Stepping into the next moment, the equilibrium point of all creation

Mar. 27, 2002 A

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: We are the Brotherhood of the One Light, once again addressing this series of understandings leading to or culminating in a resurgence of the human consciousness into awareness of its destiny, its heritage, and its freedom. Today’s designation will be explained, through experience of that which it

T108
copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

represents. Let us begin then, informally, for this excursion lies at the feet of the journeyer.

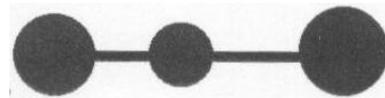

We say this, meaning that there is but one step to be taken to enter into this understanding. The step we refer to is that which propels you into the next moment of your existence. The existence that is described by your desire, your choices in life, and that which you enrich life with. So step into, our brother, the next moment of the destiny of humanity and find there an arrangement to bring about the soul destiny that perpetuates you into each moment. To be in this moment that is built by all others, you will regain the power of life to create in a moment your life. To do so is to fulfill your destiny. The moment, then, our brother, is the key understanding, and your query brings you to this. The moment is that which extends life or, we would say, that you have created for your experience. The moment is the equilibrium point of all creation. It is the focal point of thought, the point of light within the imagination, the source of your desire. To be in the moment is to embrace the will of your true nature. The moment divines purpose and resolves all interactions. The moment is freedom to be without limitations of identity. Most of human consciousness is identified with all it has experienced and pretended to be. This moment is freedom from being limited to that identification.

Why, then, would one choose this experience? It is to accomplish rejuvenation of the movement of the purpose of life and destiny. This accomplishes a freedom to reconfigure the parameters of your existence, adjusting them to a renewed clarity of desire. Not to be taken lightly or attempted to manipulate by human agenda. It is, in this moment, a relationship with being that sees all life in its truth.

T-109: The balanced order of life

JANU: I am Janu speaking, wondering at this time at the beauty, at the magnificence of the human spirit as it shines from moment to moment by the virtue of its collective understanding and motivations. The self-doubts that exist in many bring a confusion to those who wonder at its inequities but we see otherwise, for there brings into the fold of life the command of structure and adherence to the ideals of the nature of life itself.

April 1, 2002 A

T109

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: We are the Brotherhood of the One Light, bringing to you in these segments of understanding a portrayal of the human journey in ultimate consciousness. Today's glyph represents the balanced order of life, the triune nature of your plane of existence, your reality. And let us talk, then, more of this balance as it pertains to how life structures itself.

Let us then, now, identify with, through assimilation, the order or pattern this glyph represents for a balanced experience. Balance, then, suggests equilibrium or equal freedom, allowing this structure of life to synchronize your perspective. You then may choose to experience true equilibrium in this state of being, or should we say refined or heightened state of being. There is symmetry to life, to your thoughts, to your emotions, to your perceptions, to your responses, to your relationships. Equilibrium and profound peace co-exist. Balance is the great equalizer. As you create challenges for your experience, no longer the need then to be cast in many directions by your choices and their fruits but now to grasp their beauty, their inherent wisdom, and make them your own.

Choose, then, a clarity and the omnipresence of this truth, this pattern of the orders of life, whenever life seems uncertain or counterproductive. There is a ring of truth to everything. A consciousness in equilibrium will always hear it, for even in so-called madness there is reason and purpose; in depravity, rational motivation. The insanity and the depravity are but distortions of a deeper truth and only will be understood from the perspective of their source. Exercise, then, this power you have to be in balance and equilibrium and your life will move from reaction to responsiveness, always contributing to its evolution.

T-110: The corridor of life that extends beyond this universe

April 10, 2002 B

JANU: This Brotherhood of the One Light possesses indoctrination into the best understanding as to the nature, consciousness, and destiny of humanity portrayed by these patterns of consciousness. These recalls, or doorways, of understanding best represent the awakening of humanity with measured elements of its own creations in consciousness.

T110

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: Let us proceed then at this time and engage this understanding. We shall proceed at once to begin with the preparation for such engagement. This will include the adjustment of your configuration in terms of attitude towards, or perception of, the nature of life itself, the so-called God or deity or creator, if you will, of your universe, and the adjustment shall include a perception that delineates the path of life, or corridor of life, that extends far beyond your universe into other known universes, whether known by humanity or not, for the purpose of alignment with the path of life. The corridor of existence, the connection with that which is even larger than your science recognizes at this time.

This glyph or pattern represents and is patterned gateway to engaging the experience of this reality, being a corridor of life. Now, corridor in your terminology suggests a confined passageway. What is meant by this term in this setting is that which organizes thought into coherence of a non-linear, unlimited, universal relationship with life that is limitless. This corridor of life of which we speak begins and ends with every element of existence, every universe in its embrace and life without end, in the sense of ongoingness and realization.

Let us now, through this aligned perception, touch this reality through this pattern or glyph and, rather than a linear process of awareness, one in a moment becomes this reality. Do so now, our brother.

As you can see, immediately your perception is liberated beyond form. Not disposing of it, but no longer limited by its parameters of existence. In this corridor of life, one appreciates the freedom, the absence of struggle, to achieve. For all achievement is recognized, imaged if you will, in life's true nature. So, as one reaches for experience and understanding in any realm, one can realize that it is no longer the measure of their worth, their beingness, their true nature. Finding, then, peace and its true power at the heart of all endeavor and understanding, therefore enriching any experience, any understanding.

We leave you, then, with this understanding, that it serve you well. For these are the keys to awakening.

T-111: The symphony of life

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: We are the Brotherhood of the One Light and remarking that the challenges remain for humanity to embrace this understanding and we sincerely desire that they do so for the reason that there will come grander opportunities to achieve, marked success on the human journey only through rightly perceived elements of consciousness, character and quality that must be maintained for this success.

For today's journey, let us proceed then into the glyph, this being an example of ancient element expressing the nature of light, color, vibration, pattern, movements of all kinds, you might call the symphony of life. And this pattern engages the fundamental principle in relationship with all vibration, all pattern, and essential understanding into the nature of life. Let us proceed, then, in this way, entering this glyph, then, by way of enhancement of the attuned capacity to be at one with a basic principle and essential nature. And the journey begins, our brother, as you are aware, carrying with it understanding through experience.

The DNA pattern modifications of your current interest, being the royal purple enhancement, engages this reality in a fundamental way, for understanding life through its essential vibrations and patterns is to be in motion with all that comes to pass. Riding the waves of life's patterns enriches the journey and speaks to intimacy in a manner that nourishes all of life, inspires synergistic understanding. Allow yourself to feel its motion.

Develop the ability to feel the difference between a thought and an emotion and then the nuances of each and, in time, how one influences the other, in the animal kingdom as well as the rest of nature. In time we will move beyond the limits of your world and extend the reach of this understanding through experience.

T-112: The collective will and wisdom of the human race as master of its destiny

May 6, 2002 B

JANU: Today's glyph represents that meeting of the minds that represents course change in human history and the realization of destiny.

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: We are the Brotherhood of the One Light, commanding then the presence that will speak to the subject of today's glyph. This presence will be known to you by a finger of light. The name pattern associated with this finger of light is in fact Tubal-cain of your scriptural reference.

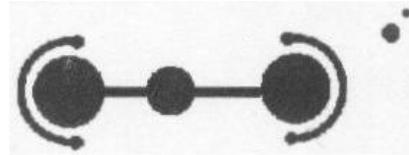

April 15, 2002 B

T111

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

TUBAL-CAIN: Yes, presenting together with the Brotherhood of the One Light, I am Tubal-cain, reaching for the understanding as you have presents you with the opportunity to proceed. The collective thought needed, or necessary, for the movement of humanity in adjusted ways, or altered ways, on its path of destiny is why I am here.

T112

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

To set such a course for new direction requires an inherent instinct into the preservation of the life of a journey of destiny. This comes to the surface when there is approached a nourishing time, or feeding of the human spirit to move forward with greater understanding. At a time when life was in turmoil and stagnating, or beginning to, I was involved in such a course change for humanity. Today's glyph opens the door to experience such a collective state of consciousness that humanity as a whole benefits from an inrush of collective wisdom, to awaken to new opportunities. To capture this moment, one must acknowledge a collective will and collective destiny and this borne by the quality of the reality of this glyph.

Enter, then, this portal and embrace the collective will and wisdom of the human race as master of its destiny, as I have done.

(extended pause)

Not a glyph to be taken casually. Consider this opportunity again, our brother. One must prepare to capture fully its importance

T-113: Unifying time through all realities

May 14, 2002 A

JANU: For today's encounter, the passage of time is a keynote in our understanding of this glyph and its message. The passage of time is represented by the accumulation of events in all realities as they pertain to the movement of life. Time is, for the most part, infinitely resolvable and expands to meet destiny as it unfolds against the backdrop of life's motions, or the motion of life if you prefer. These accumulations of understanding best represent an amalgamation of the synergism of life.

T113

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: In joy then we welcome your participation in our reality for this journey into the domain of time. This glyph represents the passage of time as one of life's movements and brings to our understanding an embrace of its reality. And it is a reality, our brother, a reality that expresses itself as a theme that permeates everything. Timelessness, as suggested by a few, only describes a perception unconscious of its presence and its reality. Timelessness, or the perception of it, is a suspension of the human perceptions of time in an ordinary way, deferring then to its counterpart in other realities of life. This seems to be devoid of current understanding.

We will treat or engage this glyph in a balanced configuration of ego, concentric realities, and the push of life to move onward. Let us do so at this time, our brother, and we shall engage this frontier.

As you can see, these three qualities become one through this structure or pattern when accepted and you become aware as a more unified being with less scattering through the different realities of time. When so configured, one moves through these realities, engaging each more completely. And progression of the events that fulfill most realities can be known. One can then relate to life more easily as a complete reality, not limited to only the perception of many elements. This glyph offers this opportunity to perceive life in this way. This is a bit of a grasp for many, but worth the attempt.

T-114: The presence of life

May 21, 2002 A

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT:

Challenged as we may be with this understanding to be outlined and experienced in this next glyph, let there be challenged within each one who would cross this threshold, this portal, into believing that which presents itself for your understanding.

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

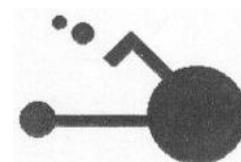

This glyph represents that which lies beyond and comes to the fore, announcing its reality as to the pressure of life, pressing upon that which resists expansion, realization, and becoming. This glyph journey awakens within the best of those who open to it the omnipresence of life, its substance and reality, and the knowingness that there will come a time when this presence of life is our commonality, is our unifying principle and is our greatness. The presence of life is constantly in the awareness of those who are awakening. The movement into the fascination and obsession with the forms of life can be a retreat from this presence. When one explores the realms of life without this unifying principle being the foundation for understanding, there becomes within them the separation, the attempt to understand through the limited parameters of existence, within the framework of limited perception.

This portal quickens the awakening of, the awareness of, the connection with the presence of life in all things and everywhere. This connection yields understanding beyond the normal frameworks of involvement, analysis, and perception, you see. Reawakening to the presence of life embraces challenge and its victory with the same enthusiasm, the same confidence, for the presence of life is the coin that is challenge and victory at the same time, you see.

T-115: The dynamics of communication

June 10, 2002 A

JANU: To speak, then, to another in terms known to them, one must presume a measure of understanding subject to your powers of perceived meaning. To speak to another within their world of knowing is a fine line. Communicate with others, then, dear one, being so attuned to their world that there will come to you that which is known by them in a fuller truth.

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

Today's glyph bespeaks of the dynamics of communication, the salient points to be understood, honored by the creators of these patterns with an understanding of the world of human consciousness. These glyphs are not intended to discourage or confuse, but to trigger awakening to that already known within each one.

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: Yes, divine qualities, dear one. As our brother Janu has presented, this glyph has to do with the dynamics of communication. Let us examine this opportunity together then, as we proceed to honor its understanding.

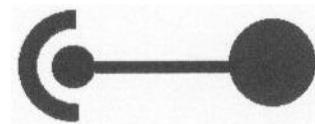

The dynamic of communication represented by this glyph includes knowingness on each party in communication something of the world of the other. Now, that to be communicated, where one benefits the other, is of mutual interest. Listening, then, to the call from the heart of the one who listens and there is conveyed an awareness, a portrayal, a scenario that reveals the world of the other and the interest. Matching, then, your consciousness to theirs in this way brings forth, at times, a flow of awareness and understanding into the other even when no words are spoken.

This glyph represents the reality of human intercommunication of direct knowing and direct exchange. Practice, then, knowing another's world, listening for that which needs understanding and then agree with the knowingness to occur. At times this will be spoken through you but it is not the only way. Step into this glyph, dear one, and experience communication in a new way. Humans have the ability to capture, if you will, essential understanding that is the life of another and bring to the surface their knowingness.

T-116: restoring the vitality of the pathway to your True Nature

June 19, 2002 B

JANU: There is a congruence of sorts that masters or addresses the challenges to becoming pronounced in your skills to achieving the sanctity of your True Nature. Today's journey marshals these elements, or forces if you prefer, demonstrating that there is a custodian or a custodial reality that contains your pathway to that sanctity. This glyph opens the door to re-establish and restore the vitality of that pathway.

T116

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: The challenges are many, our brother, to that which you seek to achieve so deliberately, being the reclaiming of the True Nature as the pre-eminent guide and authority for your life in your current world or circumstance. This glyph which we visit this afternoon honors this tradition that you seek, reminding us all of our essential integrity and purpose and destiny. Let us restore, then, this experience for you as we delve into that which is permitted through this doorway of understanding.

Configure, then, your focus in such manner. And this includes a deliberate movement into the universal construct that embraces the reality of the Aseed light \cong of your being. Let us do so at this time. The pattern reshapes you as you agree with it, molding your consciousness, your patterns of light, moving the inner to the outer and the outer to the inner. They become one. Yes, flow peacefully into this configuration of sanctity and peace, of integrity and pure essential nature, the source of your being.

(Extended pause)

You begin to more fully appreciate the purpose of your incarnation as fulfillment of desire of your True Nature that you are. You own the cause. You own the authority. You own the journey. You own the experience. And you own the enlightenment and its gift to life. Owning in this sense means: "at one with."

Balancing, then, these expressions of your existence in this way brings you to equilibrium and the strength that is known, that is lived, in deep eternal and beautiful peace. Return, then, to your current opportunity you call human existence and expand its richness, fulfilling your True Nature.

T-117: limitless thought initiates limitless reality

JANU: To its significance, we would convey this understanding. There comes a sense to those of awakening consciousness that there is built within the hearts and minds of your species, your race of beings, of the futility of the ignorance of denial as to the larger truths of life. This sense is enhanced by the progression or pressure of life to reveal itself. Today's glyph nurtures this sense and we explore it together as each exploration builds upon this.

July 10, 2002 B

T117

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: The refinement, then, brother, of the axis of insertion of this understanding into your experience and eventual transmission has been so aligned as to confirm or deny the elements of understanding that pertain to, whether supporting or unsupporting, the truth of this experience. In other words, discernment, our brother.

For today's journey, we continue as brother Janu has suggested, a journey into a growing awareness of the futility of continued denial of that that is, past the point of its service to you, you see. Let us journey, then, into this pattern, bringing recognition of larger realities that have continued to exist for quite some time. Today's pattern restores the feed, if you will, in the form of memory as trigger to, or catalyst of, the reservoirs of consciousness accustomed to expansion. We do so at this time.

Allow this glyph to pattern the subconscious, bypassing fears, or should we say elevating them to a clarity that renders them unnecessary, you see. Do so at this time.

(extended pause)

As you are becoming aware, there are realities that so transcend the parameters of human existence that limitless thought initiates limitless reality. Your current reality of thought initiation sets the stage for the fears that govern the containment within the parameters of a thought's creation. This is a journey not only into potential but into the scope of your true existence. Own, then, the life that you are, embracing the limitlessness that allowed your current experience. Your degree of containment within your creation is yours to chose and, as the reality of your containment matures, greater is the appropriateness of that choice to complete the destiny of the current journey and, we might add, is essential. So, the freedom that is realized is not characterized by escape or avoidance but by the mastering of that chosen.

Enjoy, then, the richness of the journey into a growing awareness and embrace of the larger truth of life and of your own nature and chosen purpose. Experience, then, through this awakening and embrace the truth of the richness all other life forms, all other consciousnesses add to your own and find joy that yours adds to theirs. Ancient truths, our brother, older than time, that fulfill the destiny of your universe and its creator.

T-118: Understanding and experiencing through our triune nature the co- existence and oneness of our many facets

Aug. 7, 2002 B

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: Challenges are many to the occupation of that which is to be understood and pre-eminent to human achievement yet to come. We examine today's offering as represented before us in your drawing--imitation, you see, of that which is to be compiled in yet another journey enlightening humanity as to its own created life. Let us adjust, then, to this pattern of life, as we begin our examination.

T118

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

To monkey with, or manipulate, this particular pattern in a way that does not represent the tradition of these glyphs, would be to overwrite the entire series. We bring this to your attention for there are those who have attempted to do so. This glyph as represented has been so modified and the hairlike or finer patterns at one end do not sustain the inherent meaning.

Let us proceed then with that which was originally intended, adjusting then the column of light within your being to be refracted into three rays of equally balanced light. For this journey is a composite of a triune understanding into the nature of the focus of life you call humanity, or the human experience. So then, let us proceed with this multiplicity of projection from the unity of your nature and in this way there is a unity of meaning of these three aspects of truth. They are three yet they are one within you. The singularity of the triune relationship.

As you manifest these three attributes, from your triune...from your composite nature, let not one identity be independent of the others. Crystallizing, then, the focus of your composite on each side of this gateway, you become a bridge. The wholesomeness of life is beset with many perturbations bringing correlations, harmonizations, surges of individualization, and recombinings. This balanced configuration within your totality opens the door to the underlying principle of your existence and its relationship with the currents of life.

What we mean by this, dear one, is that pursuant to each inflection of the Voice of Life is created a current seeking out a responsive note or tone from others. Your composite being is such an accumulation. While seen from your perspective as a singularity identity, it is in truth a composite reality of life. So, you see, you are one and you are many. And this glyph of today's knowingness reveals this to you. One on each side of life yet comprised of many, each finding resonance and therefore a niche in the tapestry of your being.

The purpose of this understanding is to bring to the fore of your consciousness a reality appraisal of your relationship with life. Realizing the oneness and the composite nature of your being liberates the crystal of creativity of your True Nature and brings about flow to the movement of your relationship with life. This glyph achieves this through a decentralizing of identity, allowing for the simultaneous realization and consciousness of countless facets of your existence in being. You stand, then, beyond the confines of the human perception of life but it remains within your domain

We examine this for you with the understanding that there exists within you a self-knowingness of which this is a part. For as you allow your consciousness to expand in this way, you are aware of a naturalness and familiarity that is yours. Entertain this relationship with life as you choose to serve life and your effectiveness will be magnified many fold.

Recombine now your singularities, retaining the pattern of knowingness and we shall conclude this journey at this time.

T-119: The Dance of Life

August 15, 2002 B

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: The theme for today's journey is the Dance of Life. For it is a dance, you see, a dance of symmetry, of rhythm, of purpose. A purpose that flowers, that blooms, with ever changing petals of hue and beauty. Purpose in motion, purpose that fulfills the breath of God, the one, the Divine, the Isness, as you choose. Life fulfills life; therefore its imperative of ongoingness and expansion.

T119

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

Today's journey through this pattern of your knowing is an invitation to the dance, you see. Be prepared, then, for the marshaling of, the gathering of the patterns of your being, for the Master of Dance leads this, your life. Enjoy the rhythm that guides your movements, that brings you joy, that nourishes balance, and let us proceed then into this experience and memory.

For there to be dance, one needs a partner, you see, and the partner in this case is all that you are, the source of your being, the Divine Director, the Master of the Dance. Join then your partner. Reach through this portal, this pattern, and embrace your partner in the dance of life. It is not so much the detailed reconfiguration, but the allowing of the coming together of that you are. You are the composer, the musicians, and orchestra. You are the atmosphere and the beauty of the moment. Let your heart sing to the tune of life and the baton of the Master of the Dance. Make your movements, your steps as it were, with assuredness, grace, and beauty, mindful of the symmetry of life's response.

Wherever you dance, whatever the circumstance, do so with grace, symmetry, balance, and divine purpose. Your life is a thing of beauty and only beauty beholds its reflection in the rest of life. Remember, then, this well, our brother, for it is needed to dispel confusion and uncertainty. Grace does not behold anger with anger, nor limitation with limitation, nor despair with despair. The light of grace reveals the beauty of life when all other qualities fail to see.

Today's glyph is that that is needed as one climbs the ladder into knowingness. You are many but you are one through grace. Be so, then, our brother. Good day.

T-120: Accessing the reality of life between dimensions

Sept. 2, 2002 B

JANU: Today's exercise in understanding denotes two things: the coming together of the priceless view of life and the end game, if you will.

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: We begin then by announcing that there will be a predisposition toward embracing this understanding as a result of your inquiries into the nature of the larger universe and its life.

Moving then now to today's glyph, let us proceed in this manner, bringing then into sharp focus an array of understandings having to do with the untold story of life. For there exists between the dimensions, if you will, a relationship more electric in its general nature than is generally experienced or known in the dimensions. This priceless view of life brings into the moment or presence of being that is the Grand Illusion referred to in the treatise on the Atlantean struggle for life of your earlier works. The Atlantean embrace of life tapped briefly into this reality and began its downfall, from history's point of view. It merely slipped into a different reality to find its way through these corridors of life between dimensions to emerge once more in a more fortuitous position for continuation.

T120

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

Today's glyph speaks of this and it is within the nature of consciousness and human destiny to understand and master this priceless view of life and its end game. We restore now then your memory for this moment as we partake of this glyph and enter through its domain into this view of life. You will be adjusted in such a way as to seem, for a brief moment, disoriented, for the reconfiguration has this effect. We shall proceed.

(pause)

This is a twisting of consciousness, sideways, wrapping around its former orientation, for there is no up or down and these references are left behind. Therefore the pattern of movement, you see. Once this is achieved, one successfully journeys through this glyph to become, in the larger sense, a timeless, dimensionless being that moves sideways with candor and is at once in access to all realities directly and instantaneously. The crystalline structure of life in all manifested realities is patterned here and are the access points into any dimension, whether brief or extended.

This model of life reaches to all creations and one can simultaneously absorb and integrate into the knowingness and being the essential nature of countless cultures and systems of life. This overlay affords the journeyer in any dimension a precise and exact replica of any moment of existence. Proceed then in this way of understanding, our brother, and regain that which you have achieved, with an anchoring in this reality within your being.

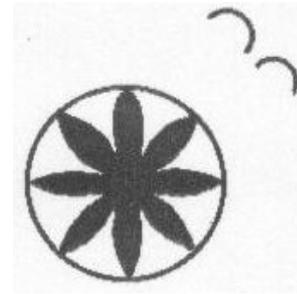

T-121: A connection with other realities

Sept. 19, 2002 B

JANU: Yes, recognizing then that there becomes that essential desire to purchase the enabling of humanity for the collective benefit to further and enhance the journey of life, we reach to these understandings through the absence of Light you call the Veil to bring about these changes. We do so with you in harmony with that goal by communicating these moments of understanding called glyphs.

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: Today's excursion, if you will, into awakening into memory, shall become as a flower to those organized in what you call spirit, or the finer realms. An element of the bouquet of life, the tapestry of the elements of understanding and achievement.

Today's element brings some surprise to many by announcing that the human journey has included many journeys to other realities and other worlds but not always in the human form, you see, for there has existed across time conveyances that allowed for alterations in dimensional makeup or construct to facilitate enough agreement with other realities for there to be exchange of experience and understanding. This glyph of today's investigation was such a vehicle as to bring about some of these changes. Let us journey then together through this portal and recall a time when there was greater freedom of adventure.

T121

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

This glyph is really a disk of many dimensions that harmonizes with the pattern of desire for connection with other realities, other worlds. Let us take then, at this time, these eight points within a circle, the eight points of a cube in perfect spherical harmony, which is your nature, dear one, and allow the movement afforded through this into the higher frequencies of existence. These eight points becoming, or describing, the outer limits of four orbital patterns generated from the nucleus of consciousness aligned with your True Nature. Allow this...allow this at this time, our brother.

This vehicle, this pattern is a vehicle of conversion to multi-dimensional consciousness, not limited to your triune nature of current existence. At this point, honor and allow your being as one of light substance, not limited by form. Now, in this state of being, travel is understood in a different way. No longer described by movement across distance, governed by time, but more then adjusting to the nature of that desired to be experienced with the connection being instantaneous as the desire patterns your nature of light.

There are many variations of this model of being. What you connect with, then, is archetypal patterns within the reality of other existences.

(Extended pause)

As you can see and experience, one moves into or through the apparent form of that to be experienced into the essential nature and that is where true discovery is achieved. Practical in your world as a means for discovery in the root nature of all forms of life.

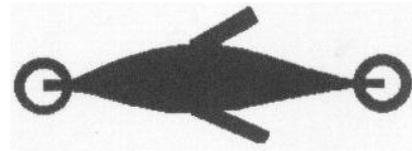

T-122: Peace, the true power on the path of success

Oct. 7, 2002 A

JANU: For today's presentation we would begin with an announcement that there will be coming shortly a peace offering to those who would usurp the natural order of life, of things. This arrangement has been fostered or promoted by the Guardians of Light for they bring such message as to enable or empower the realization of those in industry that garner after the illusion of power. Realizing, then, that your economic structure is based on such illusion, brings no concern as to the efficacy of a new direction in those chambers of power. The peace offering, then, in the form of a regeneration of the light particles that trigger consciousness in such a way as to bring about movement into a new model of understanding, that society based on empowerment for all is the model that can truly move forward without the stagnation and reversals so common in the history of human struggle. Today's glyph brings such energy to this understanding and is a piece of the New Millennium of restructuring of human society.

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT:

Sponsoring this understanding, we are the Brotherhood of the One Light, acknowledging your experience of elevation of consciousness on, as you term it, the >levator of love.= For this is the primary path to achieve the grandness of universal understanding as so many have achieved.

T122

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

Today's journey in understanding has more to do with that which our brother has announced than any model of understanding that would suggest otherwise. Peace, then, in the movement of humanity along the corridors of life is a key ingredient for harmonizing those conflicts that seem insurmountable and interminable. Today's glyph explores this model of understanding and brings peace to the journeyer in the midst of those models of perceived power by so many others. Let us enter, then, into this portal of understanding and become one with a greater freedom.

Yes, peace is the power of success in achieving those attributes of life that regenerate, reconfigure, inform, and nurture the creative impulse in your nature. The power struggles in your world must be transformed into the power of peace that achieves a vitality of life, of connection, of creativity, that the struggles of selfish power may never achieve. For one is expansion and enriches all of life and the other confines creativity to self-service and attempts to isolate life from itself.

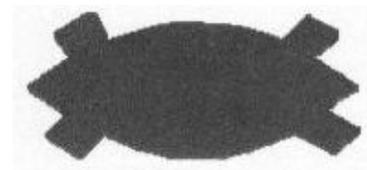

Mark, then, your calendar of productivity to include this model as foundation for success. This model has within it the theme of the natural flow of life in such a way to reveal to the journeyer the newness and freshness of every moment of experience. Stagnation brings boredom, lack of enthusiasm and interest, and turns your flow in on itself. Re-affirm and attach to the newness and freshness of life through the power of peace and life's natural flow and a constant array of new understandings, opportunities, and possibilities are revealed.

T-123: Understanding the role of fear on the human journey

Nov. 11, 2002 A

JANU: I am Janu speaking, greeting then this opportunity to progress along the lines of understanding as to the nature of the human journey, the human experience, and its ultimate destiny. We are aware that "destiny" in human terms seems to conflict as a concept with your much cherished "free will"; however, come to realize that these two principles in the larger understanding are not mutually exclusive but describe together a larger view of life and the seemingly limitless opportunities for human experience.

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: Today's glyph represents that which is within the human outer nature, meaning their fears collectively and individually. It journeys into the abyss which is a part of the human experience, and serves its purpose in the larger perspective of life. The phrase you use is 'Prophets of Doom' and there have been many. Those who profess such dire vision for humanity serve to remind those who will listen that the light of your future is not yet secure in the human psyche. What is this phenomenon of fear that has such prominence in the human view of life? We shall explore this in some detail through this glyph as we continue our journeys at this time.

T123

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

This glyph represents the pull of the human attention and emotion towards withdrawal, isolation, futility, discouragement, dismay, and distrust. It is the opposite of the glory and beauty of Life and Light, the polar opposite, you see. Let us journey now into this portal to better understand and clarify the meaning of this attribute of human expression. We begin so by delving into the collective focus of human fear. Not to identify with it, our brother, but to observe and understand. Let us proceed by announcing our intent and touching for a moment this pattern of the abyss. Do so, then, with no fear but the pure strength of the truth of your nature.

We have programmed a portion or element of your consciousness that still entertains, to some degree, what this glyph represents. The association will be limited to its scope.

(Extended pause)

As you can see, this fear is rooted in issues of survival, the perceived sanity of individual identity, and the norms of human consciousness. These artificial barriers to life serve the purpose of continuing the epic journey into the abyss of separation and individuality. The mind of duality does not function well in global concepts that compare not one thing against another. The purpose of this journey of separation is to further the exploration into elemental life and through this examination reveal to the source of life the outer fringes or frontiers of life's compelling attributes of ongoingness of existence.

Rightly understood, fear is a companion better described as a tightly knit set of conditions that bring about precise focus into the nature of, and evolution of, the most principal elements of life. Fear has become an aversion to the perceived unknown, when in truth of principle, it is that which compels such exploration. When fear is embraced assertively, to be commanded, disciplined, and employed for purpose, it no longer has the same result in the human psyche. The negative or destructive attributes of fear are those that have been conditioned by an unawakened human psyche, dreading the unknown as that which threatens survival. Quite the opposite, you see, of its true strength when embraced by enlightened purpose.

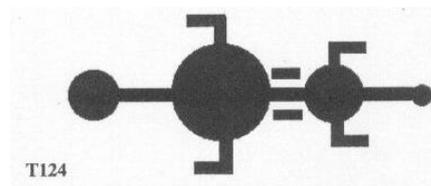

Fear is an obstacle or opportunity. It is forever your choice. Choose wisely, our brother, and we will condition this understanding with the freedom it brings.

T-124: The simultaneous realities of the human journey

Nov. 21, 2002 A

JANU: Today's designation T124 shall begin with an estimate of the clarity of understanding that pertains to current human existence. What this glyph represents is the bracketing of life through contained or confined consciousness by its participants as an instrument of management as to outcome or destiny, you see.

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: We are the Brotherhood of the One Light, achieving then this opportunity through our containment of this understanding in such a manner as to bring about a synergism with other containments, melding then into a more complete whole. Today's presentation releases into this volume that which brings to the fore the journey of human understanding as a process based on incremental change. To embellish upon this, in a useful way, we shall realize with you this look into the bracketing of human consciousness, this journey now into, or through, today's pattern and discover its meaning.

T124

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

Congenitally speaking, these containments define or describe patterns of purposeful accumulations of nodules of understanding, core energetic quantum of engaged consciousness. These quantum dually retain their parameters as well as establish a collective that qualifies for this same relationship with larger collectives, you see. This universe of yours is a collective of understanding, of consciousness, and it, in turn, qualifies for a relationship with other universes in this way. To explore your own nodules of consciousness be aware that there are pathways to collective understanding of various thresholds of collectivity, of collectiveness. What this affords the journeyer in life is access and contribution to the system of life.

Why then would such a glyph be part of this collection of patterns describing the human journey? Its window or portal engages that which, when understood rightly, serves the linking of consciousnesses throughout your community, your world, your universe, and beyond. Now, these thresholds of collectiveness are not transited by the casual, unprepared inquiry. They are available to those who open their consciousness to expansion or progression that is in harmony with these thresholds. "How then does one achieve such harmony?" you ask. By acknowledging and honoring these thresholds of consciousness as you would the rite of passage to gain intimacy with the consciousness of a fellow human, you see. When in harmony, the nature of that to be engaged is known; therefore, that needed to be at one with is known.

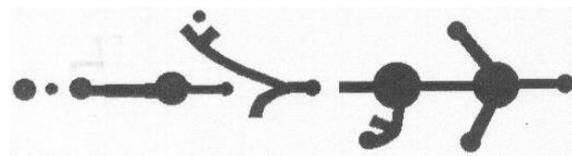

Realize that when we refer to 'life's structures,' they are not limited to your three-dimensional concepts or relationships. Universal consciousness is in motion dimensionally and beyond. Simultaneous understanding is a reality to the consciousness that does not insist on one structure; therefore, one becomes aware from many perspectives at the same time, bringing a wholeness to their grasp of reality. This glyph or portal through which we travel affords the journeyer a reminder of the simultaneous reality, or realities, of the human journey.

T-125: experiencing the Zero Point of life

Dec. 16, 2002 B

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: Aligning the negative and the positive of your octave to bring into neutrality these forces that there be realized the equilibrium that is life, that is the zero point of creation.

This unity factor of this glyph generates a condition within the auric field, actually we should say 'fields,' of the journeyer, conditioning one to accept this zero point reality. For the nature of this offering, you see, is the awakening to that equilibrium within your nature that predisposes one to reconnect with life consciously in such a way as to bring about the freedom that enables union and mastership of your relationship with your existence in your current field of endeavor, meaning the human condition.

T125

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

Let us then, at this point, arrive at this zero point through this configuration, allowing then the synaptic functions within the nervous system to polarize and reach, for a moment, stasis, bringing a unity flux or flow to their mutual transmissive faculties. We do so at this time, our brother. As the polarities combine into zero point, allow the flux density to increase, bringing about a condition to be known as zero point.

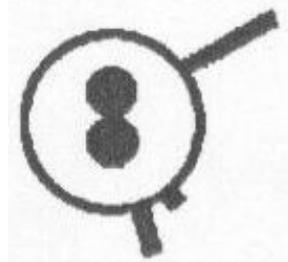

This zero point is the condition of pre-differentiation into your octave of life and holds within it the map or pattern for your victory of self-realization. This is where the combined understandings of all that you are are known. There is no judgement here, only equal understanding, equal worth, peace, yet a vital reality of life that is. Your perception then becomes omni-directional, unlimited, omnipresent, and transcends time and distance. In this reality, any thought becomes, even as it is thought.

This scenario will be difficult for many, who are unaccustomed to relinquishing their hold on, their grasp of who they believe they are: a limited personality rather than limitless being. Perceive life then through this zero point perspective and your octave of life experience will resonate with all of the octaves of your true nature.

T-126: The simple pleasures of life

Jan. 8, 2003 B

JANU: Today's designation T-126 speaks to the harbinger of life that recognizes and restores the simplest of pleasures on the scale of awakening, that wreaks havoc, so to speak, with the dormant qualities of life that have been in abeyance so very long. Now, what this comes to in the realization is the restoration of active faculties gained through or by mining that which challenges the sloth of unconsciousness. The simple pleasures we refer to will be described by this encounter with the Brotherhood of the One Light.

T126

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

THE BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: Yes, we explore this journey into understanding that which pertains to the reorganization of life. These elements of consciousness which have lain dormant for most of humanity do, when aroused, bring forward the simple pleasures of life.

The appreciation of vibration as color and other qualities that express the composition of life and its endless combinations. Another pleasure is the ability to form exchanges of energy, and consciousness, and love, and life itself in any reality. A third pleasure is that which sustains the thrust of ongoingness and the quality of pure being that is peace. These pleasures are many in number and exist within and beyond the realm of the human journey. Another is the freedom to be whatever expression of life is of your interest. Another is the joy that comes from being one with and supporting the pleasure of another.

The true pleasures of life are those that engage all of its venues, expressions, and meaning. This glyph is an opportunity to reawaken, through memory and your innate faculties, that which brings richness to your journey and who you are. Ponder, then, the depths and range of pleasures that agree with life and all that it has to offer. It is part of your awakening, our brother, and we would see that this be so.

This glyph is engaged by embracing its pattern with a pure heart that is simple in its desires. The complexities of life serve understanding but are only a part of the fullness of consciousness that the pure heart achieves with the connection of wholeness that embraces all of life in a moment. We enrich our journeys with you, our brother, in these ways.

T-127: Shape-shifting your life

January 22, 2003 A

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT:

We are announcing today that this discourse reveals a planned obsolescence of certain traditions of human behavior, philosophy, and understanding pertaining to the movement of your species through a variety of social arrangements.

T127

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

To begin with, this glyph represents the cycling of life from one pattern to the next, one structure to the next in a variety of ways, some with what you might call Anear misses \cong to quantum leaps in differentiation of the continuum. To embrace this pattern, this glyph, allow yourself to be at one with those forces in and about your nature that retain patterns of consciousness significant to your current estate. Allow then this pattern to acclimate your movement into those changes that bring about a new model of what some might call ‘stasis’ or a platform of conditioning to engage new life opportunities. Do so at this time, my brother.

You notice that immediately whole patterns become more fluid to the point where they flow into new structures. Fluidity does not deteriorate the integrity, but allows integrity to re-shape, you see, and this is shape-shifting in a certain reality of your being. Now then comes the choice, the decision to respond to the creative impulse and begin a journey with a new relationship with manifestation. Examine then this opportunity from the point of view of the more fluid relationship with the patterns found by your creative desire. Restructuring any moment in your day on any level, or dimension if you prefer, of reality is now available. This can be accomplished in a moment, once the experience is owned, which is made possible by the journey through this glyph that returns memory to your innate abilities.

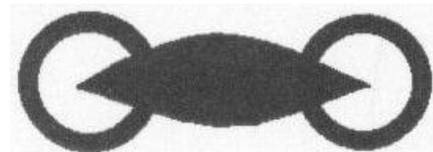

Return then to your current condition and give pause, reflection, and wise consideration to shape-shifting your life.

T-128: Experiencing the purity, the simplicity that creates life

Jan. 31, 2003 B

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: As

we activate this glyph, it opens in a precise way around its middle, in segments that extend to the tips of the central pattern. And now this pattern becomes an array of radiant spokes compressed together end to end, expanding in the middle radially and spinning at the speed of light. Its first

T128

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

threshold becomes the polarity of accumulation of light that crystallizes understanding into the nature of precoded time and the currents of life that bring together the so-called mysteries called “deja vu.” Now, this experience, when engaged, brings about a change, a fold-over of the characteristics of life into a packet that can be contained within a cerebral hemisphere influence, thereby bringing coherent alignment of your powers of perception into a focus that stands at the doorstep of time itself. To achieve this state of being, one must let go of linear time and linear progression of life.

We do so now by entering the pinpoint of light that is created by this spinning pattern. Do so now, my brother. Losing then the perception of relative size of your personal identity and this pinpoint of life, you merge as one. Time then becomes a thing complete within itself, an entity, and exists within a framework or structure of life that holds the constraints for the linear progression that seems so real to human consciousness.

The purpose of this adventure is to become familiar with the reality of life that lives within you, and you in it, that projects the concept of time into the mix of life called creation. The nature of this reality is the purity that transcends being. This one glyph experience alone brings the journeyer into the journey and the journey into the journeyer. And, for the first time in this series, demonstrates the purity, the simplicity that creates life. It is that reality that is not limited by choices or concepts or identity or need or any form of manifestation. This is beyond all attachment.

This experience cleanses the root systems of life and consciousness from these patterns of existence that create identities and preferences and like concerns. It is limitless in all respects, and all creation resides within it. Words cannot embrace the experience, but you are transformed by way of return to the source of your true nature.

T129: The human archetypal pattern

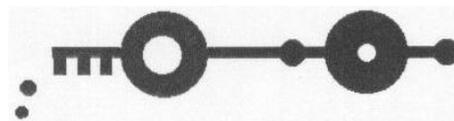

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT:

Today’s glyph is of an archetype, pronounced along the corridors of understanding as an archetype of humanity, to include genetics, the premise of consciousness, and a detailed understanding of humanity’s interface with life. Let us move, then, into this reality, this region of understanding and begin to address the nature of, and purpose of, humanity.

Now, this glyph is embraced when all of your dimensional characteristics are aligned with polar north of your world and the heart of your galaxy. Allow this to be so. Do not allow a concern for three-dimensional direction and distance to distract you from the naturalness of this alignment, for this is not a linear arrangement.

This glyph represents, through its pattern, this alignment which allows a living conscious connection with the primary archetype for humanity. What we are observing or engaging here is a seed reality, a first principle. Chromosomal changes through the eons are made possible by the pattern of potential within this archetype. Returning to this point of reference deliberately realigns your perspective and your perception to that of the human archetype. The new perception begins as a bright point of light that has vitality without form.

Feb. 4, 2003 A

T129

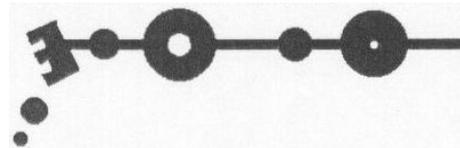

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

When engaged fully, this archetypal perspective contributes to the phenomenon of Nostradamus and others, for one stands in the flow of the realization of the potential of the human archetype, collective humanity. The forecasts of the end of Earth, the end of time, the end of civilization by so many is a reflection of, an image of, the cycles of life that include the cycles of human expression through various manifestations.

T-130: The patterns of grace, antiquity and the final solution of life

Feb. 14, 2003 B

JANU: Janu once more, speaking on behalf of the Brotherhood of the One Light, with the understanding that there builds in our focus a predilection to encompass these understandings with a fine degree of attunement principle based upon that which is yet to be determined in its fullness: the patterns of grace, antiquity, and the final solution of life.

T130

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: Meaning and purpose mark today's understanding of the glyph chosen. Today's glyph uses predetermined factions in the human endeavor to become masters of their existence. These factions include a cycle, that you would refer to as a timetable, for completion of each threshold, an alignment faction or factor in the configuration of human consciousness to other significant realities matching these thresholds, or in harmony or cooperation, we would say, and the appeal faction to explore. Mastering the development of these requires some effort on the part of those who would pioneer and ultimately those who would benefit from the pioneering, you see. For there are always those who move in different directions, ultimately bringing their achievements to the table of life.

Let us engage this glyph from the perspective of the creator of these factions, and others, which in truth are at the core of the creative impulse of humanity. We align ourselves, then, with this pocket of understanding in the scheme of life by undoing that which binds our identity, meaning yours, to linear progression. Move into the escape pattern from rigidity in thinking and unlock your consciousness with this key pattern.

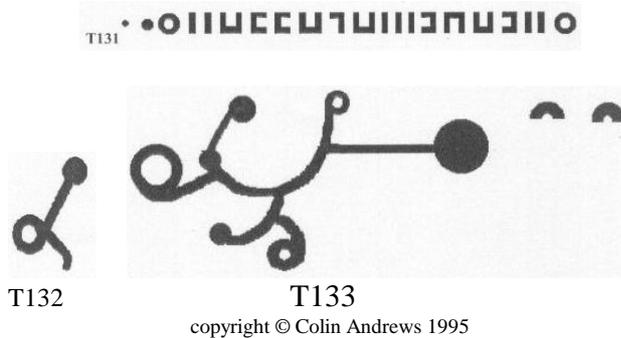

As you can see through this portal of change, the mindset of being human has more than one reality quite different from your humanity of today. For these patterns to unfold and take effect, human consciousness must appreciate life in new ways, including the species of your own world. The future of humanity will not always be limited to corporeal existence, but will include the ability to transform the focus of existence from one reality to another, and also include multiple realities at one time. You have experienced some of this in moments of journeying guided by your brother and teacher. Therefore, your concept, your mindset of being human has changed greatly from what it used to be. This is in store for all of humanity.

This glyph affords human consciousness to move in a new direction that embraces multiple, simultaneous existence. Consider, then, the possibilities for human experience in this new framework of existence. What, then, do you call 'being human' in light of this?

T-131, 132, 133: Differences in the structures of life that can create worlds in the blink of an eye

March 31, 2003 B

JANU: Challenge is the keyword here for governing the senses and the perceptions as to the nature of realities, their significance, and that which summons them into existence.

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: We are examining this purported glyph, 1-3-1, and we find no evidence or circumstance of its existence in our records. This pattern 1-3-2 is much like a fragment of understanding or structure for exploration and was left behind incidental to another more complete understanding, you see. We would say that this artifact comes in line with an anomaly in the construction of these glyphs and was created when there was a convergence of atmospheric energetic conditions bringing to bear on the apparatus for constructing these a shift in polar opposites and polar densities producing this artifact, you see. It is of no or little significance to our investigations and we would move on to the next opportunity.

This glyph, 1-3-3, represents a confluence of that which represents enormous differences in the structures of life that can create entire worlds, or planets as you call them, in the blinking of an eye. Now, in your current science of understanding, this is not a reality as such; however, it does exist. For manifest reality and the fields of creation and the thought or patterns of initiation are not limited by time or process as you would understand them. These worlds, created in this manner, investigate life from an entirely different perspective than your own. Their engagements include bi-directional and more complex multi-directional thought and engagement. These realities of worlds co-exist with one another in a foundation of understanding that brings to bear the light or truth of their existence upon them, integrated in their movements in life. Worlds such as these evolve differently and bring into their focus of interest random selection of opportunity, resource, and potential, for they already know their connection with each other as a dynamic of their consciousness and existence.

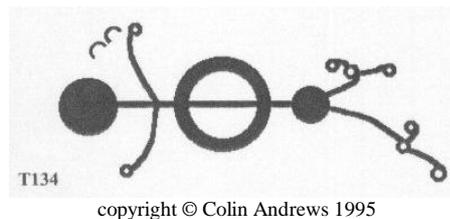

What this understanding brings to the awakening of humanity is the realization that theirs also is a way of life, a beingness, that transcends the isolation of separateness that covers so many perceptions and movements in life. The grid of understanding is throughout the universe and these highways of light are easily traversed.

T-134: The Earth and humanity share a common destiny

April 11, 2003 A

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT:

The glyph of your choosing for this opportunity speaks to the unfoldment of Earth's upliftment as registered in human consciousness. Now, for this study, we shall bring into focus that which relates to the Earth-human connection by way of consciousness, more so than activity, you see, for the activity is born of that which we examine here today. For light to be placed on this subject, one must embrace or avenue themselves into the corridor of life that touches the reality of the core Earth consciousness or Planetary Hierarchy as agent, you see, for they are inseparable and examine this Earth movement of life in a sublime way.

The human connection, you see, is based upon the predication that humanity is a conscious contributor to its destiny, as if the Earth's were one and the same, in the sense of direction and mutual support. For humanity, you see, is of the Earth in this portion of its unfoldment and destiny. This glyph you have chosen for today carries within it this revelation and brings to order purpose and conflux in the human-earth tapestry of life. Let us engage, then, this pattern and bring about an arrangement that collects the seeming loose ends of life into coherence and rich purpose. Embrace this glyph as a collective whole of its many nuances.

The many corridors of understanding and connection this pattern facilitates will bring about a re-organization of the collective consciousness of humanity more in line with its true purpose in cooperation with this world of its choosing. See, then, humanity's destiny and purpose merging with that of the Earth, no longer separate with its inherent futility but with combined strength and flow of consciousness. And the Earth will reveal to you its understanding and perspective of life as well as its gifts and opportunities for your contribution. Let there be an ongoing and strengthening alliance of consciousnesses, of Earth and humanity for a future that is bright.

As an aside, our brother, be it known that your illness called cancer is a byproduct of this lack of connection in humanity and is recovered from by returning to your true estate. Return often, then, to this opportunity for much is in store on this path.

T-135: The peaceful pursuit of life

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: The magic of this glyph, our brother, reveals a dynamic of life that represents a coming together of forces that reach into, or delve into, the underlying currents of human transformation.

This glyph connects with the peaceful pursuit of life, free of the fears and frustrations and urgencies of confused human embrace of life. There are fine points to garner from life's journey and they are distorted in human perception by the one who is anxious. Let us realize that the troubled journeyer seeks to control the moment and the future, and the images of the past have control that never fulfills or satisfies and is always limited.

This glyph represents the peaceful journeyer that understands, and lives, life in equilibrium, rich with experiences and opportunities yet patient and observant, who listens and lingers in the response of life's offering. Challenges are many but they are met with grace that honors them. Healing consciousness is just that: healing. However, the range of consciousness of the being that you are is much more than that. Bringing to bear this wider range on the human experience is one that must be met deftly. Expanding human consciousness, or we should say, the human component of your consciousness, by activation from its True Nature, is that which must progress deliberately.

April 16, 2003 A

T135

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

This effortless embrace of life is the grace of which you speak and is represented by today's journey. Hold it gently and lightly, each moment of your awareness of an element of life, as you would a flower, accepting it for what it is.

T-136: Moving among the organizations of life that serve humanity

May 7, 2003 A

JANU: Gathered before us this afternoon is an opportunity to advance our understanding in the area of glyphs. This glyph brings clarity to the organizations of life that serve humanity and its ongoingness. Who would imagine that such a seemingly simple pattern could represent so much? But these many patterns represent far beyond their simple presentation in your journal. Today's understanding speaks of these organizations and their impact on humanity's path.

T136

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: Let us then address these issues of involvement through this pattern of connection. There is, in summary, a general description of this understanding that includes an interaction between humanity and these organizations that benefit both, for the destiny of humanity is part of a larger plan that is included with the destinies of many others. Therefore, there is a vested interest with many in the human journey and its successful outcome. The importance of today's opportunity of understanding is for humanity to realize that its view of its world and its life is but a fraction of the larger significance of its existence and its conduct, not just physically in your world but in consciousness as well, for the ripples of human consciousness are experienced far and wide. The converse is true for those humans who have achieved such sensitivity of reception.

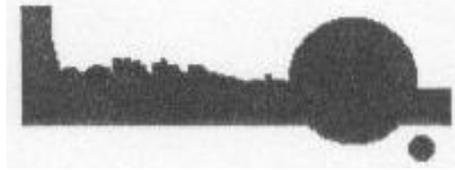

Let us touch, then for a moment, this pattern you have chosen. Taste its flavor, for it is more this sense that realizes the connection than any other. It leaves a slight tingling sensation in the middle of your tongue, for that is the entry point into your energetic system and, needless to say, a taste sense is a byproduct. What you are tasting, our brother, is your natural salinity.

Now, allowing this process to continue, let us begin enumerating the elements of this connection. One attribute here is the acknowledgment of disconnection. Another is the beginning of shared thought or impression by way of introduction. The next is reconfiguration for mutual assimilation. The dynamic of the next is the movement into conscious beingness that describes your victory over a more limited relationship with life. To move among the organizations of life that relate to your world is to begin a journey that brings about changes in your structure of thought, in your priorities, and in your well-being. These organizations are systems of life with structure that embodies the basic principles that bring harmony, joy, and freedom to living. Move in this direction, our brother, often, for this is an understanding that reaches far into your future and your potential.

T-138: The end and the beginning of the human quest for the truth of life and its own existence

June 24, 2003 B

JANU: Today's discoveries in this area of glyphs as you have chosen brings about a reckoning with the portrayal of life as viewed by humanity, for humanity's ego and temperament and predilection for drama and exaggeration reveals a current of thought and expression that seldom resembles life's nature and flow. For the purpose of clarity in human understanding, today's glyph reaches past that limited doorway and brings into focus one's own true clarity as to the nature of life and its elements.

T138

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: Truly spoken, our brother, the one who serves with you, as to the nature of today's pattern of understanding or glyph, if you prefer. We are bringing into focus once more the elements and the nature of human consciousness and its progressions. Today's journey and opportunity signals the end and the beginning of the human quest for the truth of life and its own existence. These currents of understanding and principle lead to a more organized, relevant, and coherent movement of thought, motivation, and engagement. Let us focus, then, upon the pattern at hand and take yet another journey into the tapestry of human consciousness and maturity.

Moving through this portal, if you will, is the movement into clarity of perception and experience, for there exists within the timber and fiber of the core truth of humanity, a knowingness that exists beyond the confines of any one sojourn, you see. This is what you are moving into, through this portal, into the clarity of truth of who you are, where you've been, and what you've accomplished. Relinquish, then, any attachment to that which impedes, for it is the way of the past and holds you to it. Breathe deeply of the new freedom of being. Let it nourish and liberate every cell in your body, every vortex of light or chakra if you prefer. Transform, then, your perception of your current reality into one of a freer, more expansive and connected state. Allow the process to continue, savoring its richness and its depth, its completeness and its vitality.

You now observe your former personality as a memory, as an experience that you have had, that you may understand to any degree you wish, freely and without recrimination. And you understand with clarity the nature of your life is at peace, without timetable or deadline. In this reality, one embraces each moment, whether physical or not, with exquisite intimacy and revelation, perceiving the life in all manifestation and the eternity that is its nature.

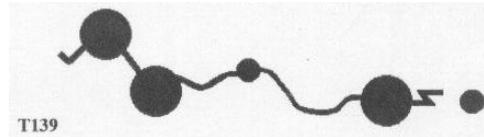

T-139: the human 'zero point' of consciousness

July 7, 2003 A

JANU: Worlds away are the nuances of life, suspended by the thread of their existence in the continuum of life that brings order to what would otherwise be chaos. These nuances bring flavor to life as portrayed and realized through these glyphs. Let us begin, then, this evening, by addressing them in the order of their manifestation, for they do sing the Song of Life born of the human journey and the ring with the truth as presented by the Brotherhood of the One Light.

THE BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIFE:

Yes, patterns of life speak to us continually of the terms of life and they are explicit and connected, one with another, in a tapestry that is rich, vibrant, and full of potential. Today's glyph speaks or adds to this in its unique way of presenting to the journeyer an episode of elongated or projected understanding described as the search for life, or truth if you prefer. Its portrayal of this element of the human journey runs the gamut from inception to destiny. It is the string of pearls that light the way along the many twists and turns of human choice and will, leading inexorably to its destiny.

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

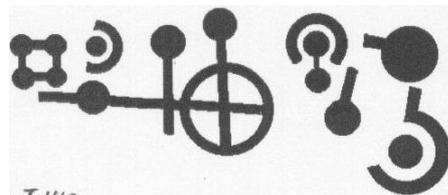

Entering this glyph, then, extends the human consciousness within the containment of the reality of light where humanity sees the continuum of consciousness as a linear reality from past through present into the future. The greater light of this understanding is better described as a multi-dimensional sphere, for there is no place along your linear continuum perception that is any more or less connected to the spectrum of the light of your reality. This glyph affords one, through the experience of its meaning, an embrace of the light of human consciousness as a complete system where potential and realization merge into one moment of understanding. You might call it the human 'zero point' of consciousness that is at once beginning and end, but, when engaged as it is, your point of reference for understanding no longer separates along a timeline but completes the loop of the light of human consciousness. And the sphere self-nurtures its realization of its potential, tightly woven with the threads of life. Your destiny, then, our brother, no longer remains illusive, some distant reality. But is owned in the moment and you stand in it emancipated from linear reality.

This way, one understands and becomes one with the looping reality of the source of all life in your universe and beyond. It is the pattern of perfection realizing its perfection.

T-140: One life of many

August 20, 2003

JANU: This glyph or pattern composite reaches in many directions at once, which is necessary to convey the multiplicity or diversity of objectives hailed by the Councils of Light as the many paths of humanity, the many paths of the human journey, if you will. How then does one embrace what seems to be the many disciplines of human interest into the nature of life and human purpose? One sets a foundation of perception in that which is the platform for these many paths. Today's glyph accomplishes this in so many ways of understanding.

T140

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: Today's pattern, or composite, is embraced on the same premise that one embraces the many paths of the human journey, which is a collective understanding and a collective experience. One must come to grasp the significance of, the reality of, the one life that is comprised of many.

The human journey is one life comprised of many, as is your own consciousness, and your own beingness, with many sojourns to its credit. Enter then this glyph in an arranged way that reveals one life of many as is your own. Allow the patterns to merge, to become one truth. Allow your many sojourns to merge, to become one truth. Witness then the true strength of diverse life and the connection and oneness of these diversities' the body of life that is humanity. Collectively you experience and perceive one light with an indigo hue at its periphery with gold threads woven through. The weaving is the intelligence, the junctions or crossings the patterns of potential, the indigo the womb of life and the source of this light is a trans-dimensional thought from another realm of life that speaks to humanity through this matrix.

There is much more to consider in understanding this reality, should you take it upon yourself to enquire. We return, then, to our previous state, as the Brotherhood of the One Light.

Editor's note: Due to its unusual nature, the decision was made to investigate this crop circle as soon as its existence was made known.

A codex showing common origins with other species

Sept. 8, 2003 B

JANU: I am Janu speaking. For today's favor we shall curtail speculation on this glyph by announcing that it has become one of several to indicate the passing of the ET or extra-terrestrial experience into the human dynamic of life. For, what then are ETs but our brothers in life? Codex in the disk shall be revealed which enumerates the complex pattern of life with divergent views by its travelers.

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT:

Challenging though these may be at this time to understand, to grasp and employ, we shall suit this inquiry with some detail as to its understanding. This image, fostered by a growing interest through speculation of encounters with another species, if you will, brought this image into manifestation.

Its congruence with the human journey is understood by way of the map of life of the disk. The disk is a globe designed to capture the essential nature of the structure of the human journey, the human nature, and its many correlations to a root pattern from which other life forms or species spring from. Therefore, the human and ET of this image have common ground. To understand this correlation, this root, one must look beyond appearance and more into the parallel paths of destiny, evolution, and the appreciation of life. To understand the ET experience, or reality, is to understand your own. This offering is that opportunity.

The DNA code of your recent discovery is a pattern of life that has behind it, at its root, that which this disk describes. It is this root, then, that must be discerned. And there is a mathematical equivalent that can form a bridge of understanding. Your DNA code can be, and is perceived by many from dimensional perspectives as this root. One perspective is the human body of your world. Another is this ET, and there are many

Sparsholt, Hampshire
Aug. 15, 2002
photograph by Steve Alexander

others. One must grasp this Codex more spatially and can be a lens of perception. When viewed from any perspective would reveal the likeness of many other species. This Codex is a gift to develop that ability. Viewed as a collective reality, your DNA from one perspective reveals the human structure as well as other body patterns. From another perspective, one can see in reverse through the lens into the causal pattern. Once achieved, a change in perspective will reveal this being.

A challenge to grow in universal understanding and opportunity to realize the truth of your own existence.

T-141: One life made of many, co-existing BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: We are the Brotherhood of the One Light and understand that we coexist with many others and the region of our knowing persists by virtue of this. We collaborate in many ways with this association, bringing to the fore that which is held in your knowing. To do so we must exist at parity with many forms and configurations of life and there is wisdom in doing so.

For today's adventure, we turn our attention to this glyph of your choosing and would examine it carefully, for it coexists as well, in the region of its knowing, with many other configurations of life indicated by its numerous configurations of seemingly unrelated symbols. To mature your consciousness into this understanding, one must adventure into your background and that of humanity, such to bring about a collective foundation to build your adaptation to the nature of this glyph. For the gift of this understanding is the re-awakening in the journeyer as to the collaborative nature of your existence, as relates to the many configurations of life. Let us do so at this time, our brother. We shall proceed.

You have been re-established rather quickly into this configuration and are now ready to proceed. Remember the earlier theme in another journey: one life made of many. You have become one with this glyph, coexisting with many configurations of life. Each collaboration of multiple life configurations means a collective life of unique character, quality, purpose, and capability. When one chooses to embrace a collective and contribute to and benefit from that one life, one takes on a nuance of existence added to their being that enriches.

This is a seed understanding of that which comprises larger collaborations of other collaborative groups of varied purpose and capability and character. One life made of many. Embracing reality in this way makes for successful encounters with life's diversities, whether being or circumstance. Acknowledge, then, the circle of life that is the thread that strings the pearls into one knowing. This recurring theme, of one made of many, to be understood in greater and greater depth and greater and greater intimacy. And your view of life and your own being will pass a new threshold, changing forever who you think you are. Explore this principle as you may and discover its depth.

Sept. 30, 2003 A

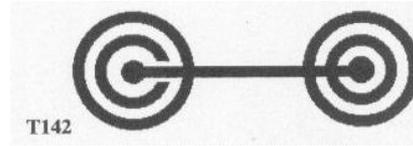

T141

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

T-142: The importance of vibration and resonance

Oct. 6, 2003 A

JANU: Today's glyph represents a tonal quality of any moment or element of life and its significance. It identifies, you see, its nature, its character, its qualities, and even its potential for expression and influence. This theme of today's glyph restores a knowingness and through this facilitates a return to a creative state, or estate, in human consciousness that relates very nicely with other venues of life where this is the primary theme of expression and creativity and even identity.

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: Yes, resonance, my brother, is the theme here. Resonance occurs when that which has the capacity to adjust to the movements of life responds to, relates to, moves with another pattern or, if you prefer, vibration in such a way as to bring about a metamorphosis, to a degree, of awareness that succumbs to an experience of the nature of the new pattern, you see. Resonance, then, begins with the giving and receiving of movement. This nature of life is inherent in its being, for it is the vehicle of ongoingness. It is the messenger of the Source of Life, a vehicle, if you will, of communication and mutual enrichment.

This glyph of today's journey is one that initiates a return to striking a note or chord of life in your consciousness that behaves in such a way as to bring about many resonances, near and far. There are overtones and undertones and the rippling movements of life that ensue bring richness and depth to the tone and that which resonates to it. For all of life is in motion and sings its song. And in the truth of its reality, we are all composers of life, creating its symphony, which is ever changing and expanding and telling its story through life's symphony. If one would choose to align themselves with, or obey the principles involved, and bring into their awareness and experience these movements and their response to each one's note of life, one could ride these waves as a medium for understanding all things, for the movements that have been of all past, all present, still exist and are exploring all of life's potential.

How important, then, dear one, is this glyph in your life? It adds or affords a dimension of experience that is in your nature to reawaken to. It adds to the completion of your journey into conscious intimacy and engagement of life. Your own heart's rhythm is a pulse that life is aware of and within all vibration, all structures of life, there is rhythm, there is pattern, there is configuration, there is vulnerability, and there is creativity. You are no different, our brother, for if this were true, if this were so, this universe would not be your home. Rhythm, cycles, vibration, expression, resonance, response, creativity, manifestation, direction, memory, potential, being, are all embraced with this understanding, with this reality. That is part of who you are. Another element of your completeness to be embraced.

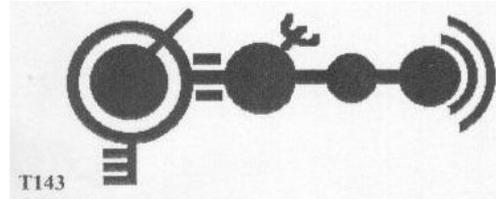

T-143: One life

October 14, 2003 A

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: We survey this understanding as to its significance in the course of human journey and reclamation of its state of consciousness. We refer to today's glyph as you have selected, it being one of a few that bring to point the merging of, the union of what you call spirit reality being with that you call human consciousness, being mostly third dimensional.

What then is there to re-awaken in this area? Much is talked of this merging reality yet it remains, in human understanding, two separate worlds. The merging to be understood is that the separation is a condition of perception and choice but, beyond the scope of this perception, the reality exists and is a continuous one. This movement of perception balances through the triggering by the choice to awaken, not just intellectually but by direct embrace and loving anticipation.

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

Let us magnetize this, then, as we configure by way of this glyph, remembering and embracing this union that already exists. Yes, you sense the union is the loss of neither but the combining into one reality. The experience of being alive, vital, present, aware of endless nuance and the reciprocation of being heralds the merging. Once again, the theme, our brother, one life of many and from this perspective, you love and cherish your physical existence and ultimately everyone else's. But it is revealed as a part of your life and by no means all of it, although all of your life is present.

When engaged in this way of intimacy, one no longer needs structures of configuration that cause one to identify solely with their Earth life, for the enlightened one sees the beauty and the eternal wisdom in it as well. Slowly humanity will awaken to the intimacy of life, its eternal theme of loving ongoingness and mutual influence and benefit. In time, the perception of the larger life body will release the need for exclusive individual identity, for your identity will include many.

This is the journey of union with depth and richness and clarity beyond measure. All victories are shared. All challenges are shared and known. All discouragements and frustrations are loved and understood with patience.

As you choose to awaken, our brother, we do so with you, for our awakenings are shared. Share yours with others, that they realize the beauty of life, including their own.

T-144: A doorstep to keep open the portal of conjecture of doubt and uncertainty

(Not a true crop circle pattern)

Nov. 18, 2003 A

JANU: Today's glyph represents the culmination in an effort to circumscribe events leading to the demise of these so-called circular representations. The intent of this one who proclaims this so-called pattern was to befriend an associate, determined to undermine the acceptance of those open to these patterns. This one was chosen by your contact to examine this effort and bring about a conviction as to the enumeration of false prophets, as some might describe. This pattern begins its journey as a doorstep, to keep open the portal of conjecture of doubt and uncertainty. It serves this purpose well when continued investigation by researchers, who begin to grasp significance of this system of communication, of reawakening, reach for a definitive line separating the wheat from the chaff.

T144

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

We do not portray this pattern's existence, or its creator, in any light of condemnation. The Brotherhood of the One Light will expand upon this principal, this purpose, at another time. Let this one pass with this understanding. We are told that this one too shall open to a higher order of understanding--and by 'higher' we mean 'complete.' Namaste, our brother.

T-146: Integrating the complexities and diversities of our existence forming a natural return to our true nature

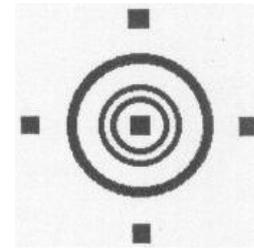

Dec. 5, 2003 A

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT:

Viewed with some compassion, this glyph 1-4-5 is understood to be intent by an individual to make their connection with what they hope and perceive to be communication with the stars. This individual's purpose was not to confuse public perception but to insert a vehicle for communication with the unknown sources of these glyphs. This one bears or merits some attention for deep within was a sincere yearning for communication and understanding. We leave it at this, as not a subject for this series of discourses.

T145

T146

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

Moving then to 1-4-6, we begin our procedure. Now then, to begin with, let us understand this pattern. As a commission to prolong the understanding of the natural human record by the ongoing consciousness of humanity, the four cardinal points of manifestation being represented, and the concentric circles--spheres, domains, regions of the propagation of life--being entwined. Let us move now, then, into a summary of this by direct experience.

Ascribe, then, to these formations of life through configuration of consciousness and the bodies of your existence, for they are one with this pattern. Allow there to be a catalytic action of memory and transformation of your point of reference for existence. You are beginning to experience this transformed perception of your existence. Awakens you to movements through the densities of manifestation. As a being of thought and presence and perception, moving as easily in as out of density, from one manifestation through another. Well maintained, the connection with your patterns of existence in manifested identity. A human so awakened to this reality touches all manifestations of life, unlimited by human identity and framework of perception and free of judgement as to worth, significance, and comparative merit of any element of life, one with another.

Soon humanity will add this dynamic to its relationship with life and become free once more to choose a wider range of possibilities of existence, of connection, of service. Let it be, then, understood that this glyph embodies the principles of life in such a way as to bring about order and connection where there seemed little, for the integration of complexities and diversities of your existence is a natural return to your true nature.

T-147: Understanding the source of human inequity & resolving it Jan. 20, 2004 B

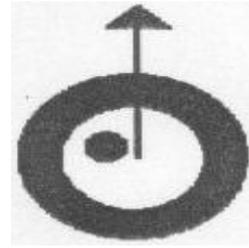

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: Today's glyph begins with an understanding that progressed along the lines of human behavior is a certain inequity in justice, as you term it, one to another. Today's episode, if you will, begins by exploring this and surmounting opposition to equity in living.

The root cause for such inequities lies further into your past than you may realize, for they are not borne of the human journey originally. They come from a time when there were disagreements among those who challenged the natural order of life—'natural' in the sense of tradition—and began a portrayal of their differences in the form of inequities to be played out as research into understanding dispute. These implants into the human journey occurred seven million years in your time of history. And this glyph of today's journey is a doorway into the remembrance of this and, by so doing, lift human consciousness out of the morass of such behavior through understanding its origin.

Let us move into this portal, if you will, and configure for an element of human behavior, pattern, and consciousness not solely of humanity's making, you see. The arrow, if you will, represents dispute and inequity. Allow your symmetry briefly to skew to this pattern. We will hold your core symmetry for the purpose of return. As you will, our brother, at this time.

You are correct. As you are experiencing, this dispute was borne of a mental dominance or bias that struggled to find its own meaning, its own purpose, in a field of symmetry that from its point of view was a blend that did not satisfy this desire. Such has been for some time in the human journey, the struggle between what you call 'heart' and 'mind' and the revelation through this path of the conflict and dispute is the awakening of, the maturing of, the Mental Body to refine itself, refine its knowing through the compassion and the joy and the faith of heart-mind. For the Mental Body became self-aware in the beginning and did not know itself yet desired this and, being a body of action or 'doingness,' had no other instinct or faculty for self-discovery.

Humanity fancies itself as a sovereign entity, self-determined, self-destined, and self-purposed and not a part of other creative events and realities, with agenda of their own. Even though humanity has its own life, but it's life within life within life within life. And this glyph of today's choosing is a window into concentric realities. So the original conflict was not of humanity's choosing or doing but is its opportunity to enrich itself as it integrates the magnificent purposes of the elements of its existence, fulfilling its potential. The lesson may well be here the integration of the dualities of your current estate to a unified and superior truth and freedom.

T147

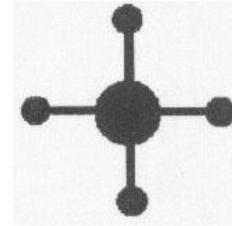

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

T-148: The Fourier curve architecture of life forms

April 8, 2004 A

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: Today's pattern of opportunity is to explore the dynamic force called into question and play when one surmounts the obstacles of life as a progression of understanding into the Fourier curve of understanding. This link, or structure, or glyph as you will, brings spin balance architecture into the Fourier curve.

Curve architecture or structure in the forms of life provides easy access to multi-dimensional realities that co-exist eternally, providing opportunity for multifaceted assimilations of life structures as opposed to what you would call straight-line movements of life or forces. Curves provide symmetry and balance to accommodate infinite variables and influences. What this refers to, our brother, in this series of understandings is curved understanding, curved consciousness, curved approach to the fluid dynamics of the currents of life and consciousness, interactions and patterns.

T148

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

How then does one configure in such manner to begin the process of systemic movement with the flows of life? This begins through the quality of marveling at life's symmetry of diverse realities. This patterns your consciousness into this flow curve and reveals an awareness of life and your own existence of simultaneous wholeness of the object of your interest. This means you can perceive the entity not perceived through characterization of one or a few characteristics. There is an entity reality to any life system that only can be perceived and understood when as a complete entity. The same applies to perception of self with a consciousness being rooted in co-existence of complexity, wholeness, and simplicity. When these three become one in your perception, you embrace the is-ness of any part of life.

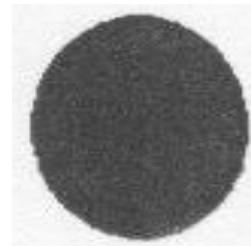

The quadrants of this glyph speak to the nature of this. The four-square architecture of a four-cell human development as an example parallels this understanding. In the larger view or perspective of the human awakening, which these glyphs serve, this one awakens, re-awakens, a connection with all life not seen by superficial examination. This allows one to connect with any part of life in a complete way, not restricted by species identification, you see. To embrace another life form, especially those not of your world, and the perceived connection in a fundamental way begins profound communication. Let this lesson be understood, then, as a light to light connection with life. So be it, our brother.

T-149: The abyss of consciousness and its relationship to life

BROTHERHOOD OF THE ONE LIGHT: Let us say, at this time, that this one represents the cyclic nature, on many levels simultaneously, of the abyss of life or consciousness and its relationship to life as it ebbs and flows. For there is much to be sought and understood in the nature of this, for it compels movement into a conscious relationship with life that takes advantage of this collective reality.

Let us move, then, into a brighter experience and understanding through this portal we have called the abyss. Do so by engaging the properties of life that best demonstrate this cyclic nature of expression and withdrawal, of ebb and flow, return to the memory of this in your own life patterns that extend to all of your existences as if they were one. Do so now, our brother.

April 19, 2004 B

T149

copyright © Colin Andrews 1995

Experience the vitality of life that is this change of flow and expression. There is a kind of pumping action within each resurgence of life that revitalizes and energizes. Yes, life is vital and has rhythm and movement. This glyph allows for human consciousness to re-harmonize or pattern itself into the advantages of this structure of life to bring one in phase with the timing of life, available then for the intersections with the endless stream of events, opportunities, and their timing. For they have their frontal wave as they move through life and these waves are knowable, readable, and prepares one for opportunity. These waves exist across the spectrum of time and its dimensional counterparts.

The beauty of this glyph is the return to the rhythm of life, transcending consciousness beyond the concept of the perception of linear reality and, as you can see, affording simultaneous connections with life in every direction. As you can see, experiencing this abyss is rich indeed. Center then your consciousness in the moment and bring about a relaxation into your current dimensional reality, leaving then for the moment the dominance of this experience yet always available.