

The New Paradigm

Volume 7

2012 through 2014

These are a continuation of information presented in the previous six volumes. Please understand that nothing is missing; between 2006 and 2012, there was a break in these particular journeys. Janu continues as the Gatekeeper, introducing the Master Noeth Atule. Janu's comments are included only if they expand upon the topic of the day.

The New Paradigm continues

April 1, 2012

JANU: Yes, greetings, my brother. I am Janu speaking once more, harboring, if you will, that needed for the continuation of that which you have requested, that being the New Paradigm Series.

We have before us this morning that one which will continue this series. Yes, the Master Noeth Atule. We bring, then, into account that which has preceded in this series to negate any attempts for corruption by those who are not so attuned. Let us proceed then, with this.

NOETH ATULE: Yes, a challenge it is, our brother, this continuation, for there are those who would deem these discourses premature. We have our own counsel and choose otherwise.

Now then, where to begin again, that which includes a further understanding of the doctrine, if you will, of change? This New Paradigm Series treats, or deals with, the coming together of those elements of life that bring the blossoming or flowering of potential in the human journey, and others as well. This series incorporates the awakening of the individual, as one component, to a new reality. This lifewave of potential has journeyed far and wide and brings with it potentials that have been opened or initiated. To greet these or engage these into your life, one must let go of the old as that which dominates, molds, and shapes perceptions. This is not an easy task for many. It is a continuous challenge, even for those who have journeyed in this way.

This New Paradigm realizes that there is a need for communication through and beyond the spectrums of life, for the potential is rich thus far. This new lifewave includes the realization of communication with other worlds, other realities, and other aspects yet unaware of within the individual. Communication with clarity with the other species of your world will come into view, into focus. There will be those who look another creature in the eye and connect and both will understand each other. There is within this new lifewave potential the ability to become one with your material world, both energetically and physically, and to make changes. The wisdom of these changes is yet to be discovered.

The New Paradigm understanding will, in effect, allow for an opening of self-awareness in a far larger way. Your perception of your identity, who you are, will grow dramatically, changing your relationships, as your perceptions are enhanced.

We would leave you with this introductory tidbit this morning as groundwork for continuation. Yes, I am Noeth Atule. Namaste, our brother.

A Bright Star

May 1, 2012 A

JANU: We have with us this morning the one whom we have requested to address this subject that you have called the New Paradigm, meaning the advancement of human consciousness into the next lifewave of potential, which has already begun, our brother, but not in full sway at this time. This one of whom we speak has marshaled a vast array of understandings and capacity for loving the truth of life into being. We stand by at this time for his arrival. 'His' being a relative term here, for this being is beyond gender.

NOETH ATULE: May we begin by announcing that there is a bright star on the horizon for humanity. This coming in the form of much anticipated uplift, a breath of fresh air if you will, to the human journey. This bright star is a gift from, a thought gift from the core reality of the life of creation. It is needed at this time, for there is much dismay in the human psyche.

This New Paradigm understanding which we address at this time has to do with the moving back of the darkness, so to speak, that seems to enshroud every attempt by individuals and groups to overcome pessimism and the feeling that 'the light at the end of the tunnel,' if you will, seems to be withdrawing. This New Paradigm understanding in this area encourages the reaching into the depths of your understanding, your heart's desire, the core of your being, for a new thrust into the life bringing clarity to the confusions of the past and the confusions of others. Because of your social and heritage connection with each other, the influences are strong, one to another. As you reach for the Light within, you build a direction of uplifting that is connected to each one. So never to see your struggles, your reaching within, as a journey for you alone.

Let there be, then, this layer of reality in humanity's consciousness and experience: of the upwelling, the welcoming of, and the loving into being the Light that you truly are. You are a Light in the life. You are this star of becoming. You are the peace the world yearns for. You are the hope that opens hearts and brings peace to minds. You are the richness of life's promise, and you belong to the universe.

We of the countless Brotherhoods of Light salute, honor, respect, and uplift who you truly are. So, you see, our brother, you are this coming star for humanity. Each one has this, yes.

There is a growing consciousness collective throughout creation of sentient beings becoming aware that their connection with each other is unbreakable, unmistakable, and a guarantee that life continues and is enriched.

A Wonderful Life

June 1, 2012 A

NOETH ATULE: Today's journey broaches the subject of everlasting life. What this means is: the journey is ongoing, regardless of humanity's predilection for self-destruction. The human spirit embraces the wonder of discovery and, through discovery and engagement of its gift, human spirit is nurtured and attracted to the fullness of the discovery, you see. This New Paradigm of Understanding layers this truth amongst many others, for the wonder of discovery and its results feed so many others, so many other layers.

Now then, as to this wonder of discovery, let it be known that there is a compelling from Life itself for this to be. Human ego consciousness is generally unaware of this, but it exists, our brother, and is necessary. What is this compelling? What is its nature? Its nature is that which creates universes. It is at the root of creation itself. It brings about a peaceful embrace of life and fulfills every dream, every possibility that humanity and others imagine. It is wise to allow wonder into your thoughts, into your imagination, for life is a wonder, full of wonder, and wonderful.

We of the Brotherhoods of Light, of service and understanding, reach into wonder continuously. It is a constant theme in engaging life, for there is always that which brings wonder and fulfills it, ever extending your reach into the fullness of life. So wonder is the theme at this time, our brother, and wonder inspires hope and faith from the present into the future. Have a life, then, filled with wonder and the fruits of that. It keeps open the doorway to the flow of life yet to be discovered.

Things to come

July 1, 2012

NOETH ATULE: What we greet you with this morning is the continuation of these layers of approach to understanding and experience through manifestation: the new lifewave of potential that is already upon you.

This lifewave extends into the realm or reality of mastership, to a degree. The mastership we refer to here is that which conquers fear, opens new roads or pathways to revelation and realization of your own nature, the nature of life, the reality of worlds, cross-culture experiences beyond your Earth, the nature of energies in and beyond your current understanding, the harmonious use of these, the cooperation with other intelligences multi-dimensionally. In other words, our brother, a far larger world of embrace, understanding, and service. We continue with these understandings with the knowledge that they will bring that which comforts humanity in its unfoldment, brings confidence and realization into the truth of life and its own existence.

Your world will become your partner in these, for there is consciousness as well in your world and in others. The sun in your system is a major player, you see. You feel its effects, of its being and its radiations, but have yet to understand their true nature.

This New Paradigm aspect, or layer if you will, brings humanity into a level of awareness or consciousness that expands and extends all you think you've known, your perceptions and your wisdom. Bringing about, then, a new humanity of sorts, with new values, new depth, new appreciation of the richness of life. Much must be left behind in terms of so-called ultimate knowing or so-called truth. Left behind in the sense of "this is the way things are," for they are not, our brother. They are much larger, diverse, intense, and subtle, and interactive with a range of life yet to be known by humanity. We would summarize this perspective this morning by saying that there is coming new dimensions of life, wisdom suggests to engage.

A new religion

Aug. 1, 2012

NOETH ATULE: At this time, we bring forward that which supports this evolution in the human journey in consciousness and in relationship with each other and life. 'Life' meaning those who are yet to come on the scene from other worlds and realities. We address at this time the encouragement of a new found religion, so to speak, in the hearts and minds of people. This religion speaks of acceptance, brotherhood, tolerance, understanding, support, modification of perceptions, and the agreement to serve the best interests of other life forms and other worlds.

Let there be, then, among you those who embrace such and bring about a new order of living. Religion then in the sense of a philosophy of life, a foundation for development, an understanding that it is in everyone's best interest to cooperate on the journey of life. This understanding, this religion, while it will have the earmarks of human perception, has a basis in a universal understanding being developed in many other worlds. The universe is coming together, our brother. And through these movements of lifewaves of potential, the communication across the spectrum of life continues. Life comes together, bringing its seeming differences, into a larger union of purpose and service. Each one has within them vast potential of creativity, embrace, and connection with life. This religion encourages this. It deserves the respect, and greater, that is given to lesser religions—lesser in the sense of scope and timeliness.

We encourage, at this time, this New Paradigm add this layer of understanding and reality to the human journey. We of the Brotherhoods see this with clarity and a love for life. We thank you, our brother, for this opportunity to express this and encourage its flowering in the fertile field of human endeavor.

From the old to the new

Oct. 23, 2012 A

NOETH ATULE: I am Master Noeth Atule, speaking to you once more regarding this matter of un-dimension and the progression of the human journey. This understanding reveals much to be proclaimed about the course of humanity in an era, a time, when there is much to proclaim as to the movement of life and its unfoldment.

The human journey has been described in the past as one that seems to stumble, with moments of glorious achievement by comparison. Let us relax, then, into a new understanding on the human journey of stumbling no more, as it pertains to moving from old patterns and tradition into developing their replacements.

The replacements we speak of today, at this time, have to do with the summation of, or the summary of, those achievements that mark progress of an uncommon nature and what they lead to: the movement in equality throughout the species; the movement in openness to life beyond Earth; the movement into the reality of consciousness and its elevation; the movement into the breadth of the nature of life and creation; the movement into the understanding of universality and eternity. These significant moments in human consciousness pave the way for the New Paradigm of understanding.

Let there be, then, an unfoldment of a movement into the mastery of self as a creator in harmony with the majesty of life and its endless variety of gifts; a movement into a conscious awareness of more and more of life beyond your current understanding; a movement into connection with other worlds and, more than that, other realities, the realities of which we speak from, throughout the vastness of your universe and the subtler realms; a movement into the coexistence of everything. Humanity's journey, from a perspective, is just beginning, from a foreign existence beyond your Earth, to brotherhood and a mutual love of life, which includes everyone.

So, you see, the New Paradigm understanding is one of inclusion, connection, and oneness, which is a reality few understand but speak much of, but have yet to own. We of the realms know of this and these realities make this communication possible. Agreeing to understand new possibilities is the hallmark of a species evolving. This is the way and the wave of the future, our brother. Encourage each other in this direction. The rewards are many, not just for yourselves, <but> for every being, every species, and every world you encounter. What nobler path is this, on the path of becoming?

Spread the word

Dec. 4, 2012

NOETH ATULE: We are Noeth Atule, communicating in this way to progress our understanding of the next threshold of life for humanity, and not just humanity, you see, but all who are involved in this new lifewave of potential. Considering, then as we may, more of that which is to come and that which has arrived.

Yes, humanity will be going through genetic changes. The biochemistry will modify to a degree but understand that these modifications, though small, have profound impact. The DNA structure of the physical body will elongate somewhat, allowing for more movement of light energy components. These, in turn, will influence the so-called solar chord or spinal chord quickening the chakra, opening the crown and energizing those beyond the crown chakra. Humanity here and there will begin to perceive more of life, experiencing awakenings and quickenings of faculties, sensitivity to the reality of others, and some confusion as to how to manage these, what to make of them.

This is part of the New Paradigm journey, our brother, and welcome it, for it brings a new kind of life to everyone. Those that understand, that can cope with these changes, need to encourage and instruct others not so privileged. Your plans for worldwide communication of these journeys are necessary and laudable. All part of a system of life, a string of events, a continuation of movement. The New Paradigm groupings will inspire many to look within themselves for understanding. This ennobles and enriches the journeys of life.

Now, understand this, our brother, that the elements of outcome, of progress through these efforts will contribute to an assessment of the success of these approaches to serve life. This is not done just for the benefit of humanity, but for outcomes that will serve many. The New Paradigm is the new model for living, born of humanity's investment in life up to this point and the creative opportunities of the full potential of life.

Let us bring, then, into this mixture of currents of life, this current as well. And the interactions, the outcomes, the responses will influence the content and range of these discourses. Let it be so, our brother.

Wonders to come

Jan. 15, 2013

NOETH ATULE: It is of some consequence that humanity is moving into the dawn of more responsibility, greater joy and fulfillment in its embrace of life. Many will come to know this as a key moment in a contribution that brings light to the table, so to speak. Even though we can anticipate the many wonders that await humanity, it is for humanity to discover them, choose them, engage them, and master them. This is the way of life, our brother. This is how we all grow.

Now, as humanity makes choices, these choices can be looked at and discussed with some revelation. The New Paradigm understanding is, indeed, a new model for living and we would have you understand this model. What humanity chooses to do with it is its choice. That is the true power of life, the freedom to choose. Part of the contribution of others is to inspire choice and the possible choices, you see. Not all of them but a few here and a few there, now and then. Understand this, our brother, that the grand puzzle of life is still being drawn. All of the puzzle pieces have not manifested yet, and we of this Brotherhood not only are aware of this, but understand that the wonder of life yet undiscovered is an inspiring component of continuing. The New Paradigm model encourages the embrace of this, regardless of what those opportunities may be.

As we continue on this path of life, this model leads to a growing bond, respect, passion, and caring for each other, as we discover new mysteries of life. So continue to enrich your journey with moments of wonder, as you embrace a new model for living. There are wonders yet to be realized anywhere, and wonders realized yet to be discovered by many, everywhere. The range and scope of life is an unending mystery to be revealed and this speaks to the nature within humanity, of the desire to discover, for this enriches life for everyone. The new model for living is a guide to embrace all of this, and serve life through the embrace. Join with us even more fully, our brother, on this journey of life and discover how we are all one.

The next three attunements are also part of a book entitled The Now

The future is now

Feb. 24, 2013

JANU: I am Janu speaking, welcoming then this morning this grand opportunity to further develop that which we have achieved in understanding on the New Paradigm. This morning's discussion will include the relative importance of this and the path to engagement and fulfillment. Let us turn our attention, then, to the one who knows and embodies this change, the Master Noeth Atule.

NOETH ATULE: I am Noeth Atule, welcoming this opportunity to further explore this new model for engaging life. And 'model' it is.

A new model can have a tradition to draw upon, being mostly the direction you take in life, still filled with many choices and opportunities. Without such a model, the journey of humanity would evolve into stagnation in the larger life that is always in motion, you see. This brings confusion and frustration and degeneration. A new model is essential for a continuing life and flow of creativity that enriches everyone.

This new model is not described completely, for it is yet to manifest fully. But it does include a journey for humanity that transcends the limitations of what you call time and space and the limits of physicality in a reality of life that is so much more. We encourage you to consider that which belongs to the native awareness of life here and there throughout the universe. In life's fundamental reality, is more profound than even this New Paradigm, you see, but the New Paradigm is based upon it. So life is. And the New Paradigm is a model for embracing its flow, its motion, and its potential.

You are correct in your memory. This paradigm is the fourth in a series for humanity. Many more to come. The scientists of your world will, in time, come to embrace the non-physical reality of life ever more fully and, in due course, more identify with it and engage it as if it were their own nature—which it is, our brother. But this movement in your understanding opens the door to so much more than any have imagined. How could you, for the instruments of understanding that you use are not attuned to such things? The instruments will be discovered on the journey into the larger life.

Our conversation, our relationship at this time, speaks of a new way of life. For how could this be in a world only of physicality and limited technology and understanding? Your world sees the future as something in the distant future, far off. It is not. It is in your midst. You only need to perceive it and embrace it and it reveals itself to you. The New Paradigm understanding arranges for humanity to become, essentially, this new understanding, this new model, and everything it is a model of.

Reach into the future, our brother, as if—and it is—coexisting with your traditional relationship with life. They coexist. Be aware of them both, and much more. You are the future, you see, and it is Now. These movements in your consciousness and understanding will bring this ever closer to a fuller relationship and experience.

Embracing the Now

Apr. 5, 2013

JANU: Yes, greetings, my brother. I am Janu speaking, reaching then into the wisdom of this focus, being the New Paradigm. Let us continue, then, these journeys based upon an understanding into the next phase of the human journey in consciousness as presented by the Master Noeth Atule. We attune then to this focus and benefit from his wise counsel.

NOETH ATULE: Yes, I am Noeth Atule, continuing on the journey we have taken to embrace this new understanding for humanity. For it is time for its development in consciousness, its awakening. Let us pursue, then, another element of this model for living.

Reaching then into what some might call the distant past of the record of humanity's experience and journey through life, we discover that humanity has been this way before, only to a lesser degree than what is to come. For life does continue in cycles, brother, as do universes and everything they contain. The attempt here is to recapture cycles of life, even taking a new step at the same time, new in the richness of its content.

We of the Atule focus our communication in this way to discover possibilities, even as we speak. So then, the new element for this communication is the ability to listen to life. Listening on these levels of reality is the path to awakening to what is and what will be. In addition, listening in the state of consciousness that is one with the Now of life attunes one to what the time-and-space consciousness would call the past, the present, and the future as one reality. Letting go of time and space perceptions is a great revealer of the truth of life and this element of the New Paradigm is on your doorstep, our brother. Approaching life as an intimate experience with this freedom of the Now shines the truth of life everywhere, every-now.

The consciousness can embrace multiple truths simultaneously, our brother. The personality is not accustomed to this, or even equipped for it, but the conscious personality is not who you are; therefore, this journey sensitizes you to who you are in a larger way. So, in asking a question or focusing your attention on anything, choose to let go of the limitations of time and distance. For anything you choose to discover has its reality in the Now and you will perceive all your focus has been and is and will be as one reality, not three aspects, one truth. How then can secrets exist? Deceptions? Manipulations? And contradictions? Focus, then, our brother, on your own life journey and understand and experience all you have been, all you are, and all you will be as one truth, one reality.

Without the limitations of time and distance perception, everything is in this moment. Past, present, and future are intimately involved in this moment and always present. Observe this understanding, our brother, and allow it to be the theme of your explorations.

An introduction to the NOW

May 26, 2013

JANU: The Master Noeth Atule will join us in a moment to continue his outline of this new beginning for humanity. This morning's presentation will include a continuation of the reality of Now in this pursuit. Let us attune at this time.

MASTER NOETH ATULE: I am Noeth Atule presenting, then, at this time that which is coming to humanity, some of which is already available, engaged. Let us continue with this series, then, in the manner described, bringing into focus with that which illuminates and at the same time compels the adventure of life. That's what this is, our brother, an adventure.

In the Now consciousness the adventure is not just the future. It is the entire journey. The Now reveals this and, in the Now, the entire journey is understood in its completeness, its wholeness, and reveals relationship and nuance not otherwise seen. Even this New Paradigm we speak of is understood more fully in the context of past, present, and future as one interrelated truth. For the paradigm of human existence can be seen as one paradigm, one model for living, for every moment is one with the entire journey and to consider a beginning and end to the human destiny is a limitation, for consciousness does not disappear with physical universes. The patterns of life have imprinted or are recorded beyond physicality, beyond time-space, and beyond energy.

The New Paradigm is part of this reality. Quite a transition from limited time-space perceptions, but nonetheless, our brother, this reality exists, functions and is at the root of the life you understand. We, of the Atule, are one with this understanding and welcome all of consciousness in life to awaken to it.

Your question is interesting, asking, "What of the long process of evolution?" And the Now consciousness is at one with the entire spectrum of life, including evolution. Evolution is a process, our brother, within a certain spectrum of life but, in the Now consciousness, all spectrums add vitality and connection and relationship. Remember, our brother, once more, life is neither this or that reality. It is all realities, in motion, in the Now. This paradigm model we speak of is part of the Now, and it is evolution in consciousness, of which there have been others, and it has its purpose in the scheme of things and allows experience to contribute to wisdom and the reality of oneness in the Now.

See this in this larger way, our brother, and we will continue with these journeys, for they have merit on the human journey. We are Noeth Atule.

Awakening

July 16, 2013

JANU: Yes, greetings, my brother. I am Janu speaking. We have with us this morning the one requested, the Master Noeth Atule, to proceed with this series on the New Paradigm, the path of discovery for humanity during this next phase of the journey of life. Change is coming and change is here and change we will, as we always have.

NOETH ATULE: For this day's understanding let us progress along the line of awakening to the rest of life, or at least much more of it. In your vicinity of existence, there exist grand principles of life engaged and playing out, as it were. We have seen this coming for some time, for this is occurring in many areas, many regions. We of the Atule are a group that encourages the embracing of these profound changes and the more awakening that takes place in humanity, which of course includes more than your world, the more that can be revealed and encouraged and explained.

The awakening of humanity is not a reality that can be placed in a container or a box, if you will. It is ongoing. However, during this evolution of consciousness much involvement by those who have achieved a greater degree of this, for their awakening reveals that, for them to continue, humanity must evolve. For, in ways yet understood by humanity, all of life is connected, mutually influenced, and embraced universally. When appreciating the reality of the Family of Life, in the sense of a larger common purpose and destiny, one's consciousness takes on a dimension of realization through appreciation of the diversity of life. On one hand seeming unique and independent, but in a larger way contributing to the one Life. The presence of meaning gives insight into the unity of life.

There are traditions, our brother, of consciousness that hold integrity for the purpose of reaching into a universe of life that exists with vitality and cohesiveness whose strength is the vast diversity of life being one life. Awakening, our brother, for humanity is a growing theme of life. It occurs in its own way, in many aspects of your cultures: sciences, philosophies, humanitarian concerns, and love of life.

So we encourage and inspire, our brother, for humanity to love its future into being and, yes, join us on this grand journey of becoming, filled with joy, riches, discoveries, and the true power of peace, founded, rooted in a love of life and each other.

Inspiring humanity to embrace its future

Sept. 6, 2013

JANU: I am Janu speaking, preparing then for this morning's journey into the future of humanity. And the future, our brother, is on your doorstep. Let there be light on this subject, the light that inspires humanity to embrace its future.

NOETH ATULE: Yes, I am Noeth Atule, my brother, engaging this opportunity once more to bring to you and others insight into what is on your doorstep, and the doorstep of others as well, others on other worlds, for humanity's reality is much larger than the Earth and this is known widely. The inspiration at this time is one that brings into view the profound complexity and pervasiveness of awakening into a new paradigm of engagement of this next lifewave of potential. And, yes, our brother, we have spoken of this before and you are moving from the third to the fourth lifewave, even as we speak.

The model of engagement at this new threshold resembles a shuffling of the cards into a new deck, or arrangement. This analogy represents addressing the layers of engagement of experience and wisdom of the current lifewave. How humanity has embraced it, learned from it, and developed its consciousness. This next lifewave requires a totally different set of cards, so to speak, all new, all fresh, and all ready to play the game of life. And a game it is, our brother, when seen through the eyes of joy, peace, and the wonder and magic of new life ever unfolding. And it embracing it, and you embracing it. A partnership, which is part of you, and you are part of it. This is the inspiration for this journey: the oneness of life, the oneness of human destiny with what is to come.

Now, what is coming is not an imposition, to control or direct your lives. It is an opportunity for paths to choose, for opportunities to engage and turn into a growing experience beyond anything currently engaged. The New Paradigm, our brother, is a new expression of the reality that humanity and life are one, and both are evolving together. The lifewave we speak of is a region in the universe, not only physically, but energetically and in universal consciousness. It has created an opportunity for new adventures. So, in no way is this lifewave separate from humanity but a product of it, and this occurs in regions all over the universe, and beyond. This is how life moves forward, our brother.

You will see opportunities with new perception, new eyes so to speak. You will hear and sense the pulse of life, relationships in a new way. For you will, in consciousness, plumb these opportunities, these movements of life—for, as you know, life is in motion. Always has been, always will be. You will read the currents of life with new understanding and require more of its revelation, exposing itself to you, so to speak. For in a very real way, you are life exposing itself to itself for the purpose of unity of adventures, of efforts, of the quest to become.

In time, you will become aware of other thrusts of life, other lifewaves of potential already fully engaged, revealing so much more of life and its potential. Humanity will see more clearly more of its bright future that it has longed for, for ages. New ways of negotiating, cooperation, mutual support as it moves into what some have called universal or cosmic consciousness. In many ways it is like a treasure hunt for the jewels, the gems, the pearls of wisdom are already there to be found, understood, and lived.

Enjoy your journeys. They are without end and every one brings its own richness and inspiration. Share your experiences with others, bringing encouragement and the promise of life. The New Paradigm series has this purpose. We share our journeys with you, our brother, and all of humanity. Discover the true power of peace, its genius, its creativity, its enduring nature, and the power of its connection to all of life everywhere.

The nature of lifewaves of potential

Oct. 27, 2013

NOETH ATULE: We are Noeth Atule, challenging then humanity in a positive way to explore more of life, reaching into its depths and the 'newness' of new possibilities. These excursions into discovery will bring profound understanding to life's many realities.

Understand this, our brother, that these lifewaves of potential exist throughout the universe. And, yes, beyond. It is an arrangement whereby life, as it explores itself, recreates the field of opportunity, the potential to continue to develop and expand its own awareness of itself. And we are among its vehicles for self-exploration. There are many models, many paradigms elsewhere that have come and gone, yielding life expansion and development humanity has yet to experience. And these paradigms are not all the same, and they change as a result of the engagement of the life that engages them. These models for engaging life are not limited to physical life, but include energetic life and worlds and more. Humanity tends to perceive life as locations, sizes, intensities, with physical limitations and boundaries. Life being much more diverse than this, so are the paradigms.

You intuited earlier that humanity will experience more ability of engaging life beyond physicality, and manipulate and contribute to existence as effectively as if molding material physically, using the mind, the emotions, and the True Nature. For your vehicles of expression include these, more than the body you occupy. Humanity's maturity and consciousness has yet to access this because of potential for destruction, including themselves. The depiction in human history of the gods of life, the lords of this and that exhibiting miraculous powers and egos and temperament and ensuing destruction can be possibilities for the lack of wisdom, maturity, and a loving oneness with all of life. The New Paradigms are a method for achieving these wisdoms and new capabilities, or powers if you will, with a developing maturity and harmonious relationship with life.

We have touched upon, briefly, elements of the New Paradigm, encouraging that humanity engage this with patience and clarity and responsibility. Move slowly, our brother, but with deliberation and commitment and a love for life. We are Noeth Atule.

Coming maturity and enhanced capabilities

Dec. 1, 2013

NOETH ATULE: For this morning's journey through this understanding, let us convey our message having to do with this new model for human engagement in the next lifewave, which is already underway. Now, the embrace or engagement of this lifewave by humanity is a long process, which unfolds throughout this lifewave's experience. We have spoken earlier of some of the changes in the human experience having to do with awakening consciousness and enhanced faculties. What we address this morning are the changes in physicality and its ability to interface or perceive expansion of consciousness of the other realities of life.

Now the DNA changes, our brother, are on the table as well, so to speak. The developing consciousness brings with it a maturity and a wisdom that allows the DNA changes to take place, which is why they haven't to this point, for the lack of maturity. All awareness, our brother, all understanding carries with it a responsibility to participate in life that benefits life. The fundamental qualities of service prevail. This is why awakening will precede the DNA changes, facilitating them, which enhances the implementation of a growing awareness of life. These developments must coincide, and do, for there to be enhanced capabilities of humanity to participate in, contribute to, fundamental life changes and the evolution of life throughout the universe, you see.

Now, humanity's evolution is not isolated from life but part of the larger reality. And others are developing these capabilities, and have developed them. An awareness of each other is growing. For other worlds, humanity has been known as an emerging culture, awakening to its destiny, but primitive by comparison. Therefore left, for the most part, undisturbed. Species evolve, emerge, when their time is right, when the ingredients have fallen into place naturally, not by way of disturbance from those who are more aware. For their awareness came with maturity as well, to know the difference between interference and assistance. Humanity has been assisted, our brother, many times and many ways, but for the most part not interfered with.

Oh so many humans are impatient with these changes. Patience, our brother, is part of maturity, as is responsiveness and responsibility. In approximately 13 years of your time significant changes will become apparent here and there in your world. Not just privately but publicly as well, for significant changes have already occurred in your world, but not widely known. There will be the expected mixture of emotions, fears, attitude changes, and motivations of exploitation. They will not prevail, for they will no longer be able to hide in the shadows, as a growing consciousness and awareness of life reveals them for what they are. Let us be strong in these times, vigilant, persevere, and committed to a new life for humanity.

Exploring the next life wave

Jan. 24, 2014

NOETH ATULE: I am Noeth Atule, presenting this information to benefit humanity in its growth and in its service.

The New Paradigm understanding enriches life by way of its utilization. These live waves of understanding, of potential, are rich beyond description for the essence of life, the essential nature, and in time with those who have engaged it. Once again, a life wave of potential is a region of your reality in the universe that has developed through experience in a life wave of potential that, in its way, creates a new wave of new potentials. It is how life evolves, our brother.

Now, how does one, you ask, explore these life waves for engagement and fulfilling in their purpose? It is accomplished, our brother, through awakening, attuning to, becoming aware of life in motion, for these are in motion as well. They do not progress as such from one region of the universe to another. They are re-created by those consciousnesses that embrace life and become one with it and master it. So, when yours has been fulfilled, a new one replaces it by virtue of your experience of fulfilling the previous one.

Now, this life wave of potential is far larger than your world. How much larger is a function of all of those worlds and consciousnesses and their collective, growing maturity. As you awaken, you can become attuned to and aware of the scope of this movement of life, should you choose. Your participation in this life wave can have its elements of leadership in the sense of pursuing this experience to the limits of your consciousness and ability to absorb new understandings, gaining new wisdom.

The obvious questions arise concerning “What are the ingredients, the potentials, in this new life wave?” These we have discussed before. They are in part in the direction of awakening faculties of perception, engagement, and creation; a maturing management of your abilities, and a growing sensitivity to their interaction with the abilities of others; and an appreciation of the collective reality of life.

In the healing arts, medicinals will be left behind more and more, for the innate healing abilities of your vehicles of expressions, bodies if you will, and consciousness will begin to be expressed, utilized. Many if not most of your illnesses are the result of environments you have created; dietary choices; the corruption of natural foods so to speak; emotional and mental energies that have been modified, lacking harmony with your systems of life; a loss of confidence of your own ability to maintain perfect health inwardly through wiser choices and management of your faculties.

Your scientific and technological pursuits will come from a new vision of life that favors being in harmony with the nature and flow of creation and the enhancement of understanding and engagement that is beneficial. In time, our brother, technology, science, and awakening will become more harmonious, mutually beneficial, as you engage life and its potentials.

We of this Brotherhood have moved through many life waves and speak from experience as we anticipate humanity’s bright future and the future of many others. Service is one of the keys to successful living, so we serve in this way, our brother.

The opportunities to come

Mar. 19, 2014

NOETH ATULE: Testing the newness of this paradigm compared to the previous one, which is still in effect, one must only open to new experiences, new understanding unlike any before. For many, the awareness of being engaged in any paradigm lies somewhere in a distant memory, much less a new one. But that is the nature of unenlightened existence. But even though unenlightenment exists, so do the beings, which means they are part of the stream of life in one relationship or another.

What we are speaking of here is opportunity and the participation in it. Not the dichotomies of good and bad, better and worse, and such. And the opportunity here, with the new lifewave of potential, is a fuller and richer life gaining momentum, achievement, and wisdom. Mentioning love is not an aside, our brother. It is fundamental to everything, and your embrace of its unlimited reality evolves as well.

The journey of the New Paradigm is its own revelation for, by choice, engagement progresses, experiences ensue, and the consciousness is aware of more and more. The journey of awakening is life, our brother, for it witnesses and engages even the creation of life, the modifications of life, and entirely new experiences and understanding, which includes a more complete understanding of everything that has gone on before.

There is nothing to fear in what awaits you. Embrace this next lifewave, which is already upon you, with enthusiasm and open heart and mind, and a conviction and commitment to awaken. Remembering that the collective experience and understanding that has evolved in the previous lifewave with all beings engaged, created the new lifewave, not to your detriment but from the passion and desire to know more, to realize more, to have a fuller and better life, rich with the wonders of what can be.

We of the Atule understand this very well, for we have created our own lifewaves of potential, only now, through awakening more consciously, we influence the creation of these. The mystery is no longer the creation of the lifewave, but what lies beyond even it, yet unimagined. But confident the opportunity is there. We will continue to help you explore and open to this new opportunity. So, no need to despair of the difficulties in your world at this time, that are minor and will pass away. For enlightened beings leave behind such behavior, for they see its futility and interference with a fuller life.

Expanding self-perception towards universal oneness

NOETH ATULE: We shall proceed again to explore the New Paradigm, as you have termed it, this emerging lifewave of opportunity, of potential for your region of the universe.

Humanity has done well in creating this new lifewave of potential, but the best is yet to come, our brother, as these changes in consciousness approach and become realized. Be not in fear or trepidation, for many changes are on your doorstep, letting the old ways of thinking, behaving, and being slip from the forefront to the background, opening to new and challenging opportunity. Be not dismayed, for these new experiences are of humanity's creating. It is the natural order and way of life, for life to progress itself and provide opportunities to do this. We of the Atule have long known of this process, embraced it, and moved beyond it to a degree to new realities for the evolving of consciousness and the enriching of life.

Humanity still perceives themselves as individuals and, for many, physical beings only. Much to change here, our brother. For the next lifewave, which is upon you, one must see limitations for what they are and understand that they are limiting, but the question arises: "Limiting from what?" And that's what this lifewave is about. The physical universe still exists and operates as it has, but the universe is far more versatile, complex, and active. And it will take an opening consciousness to allow this change in understanding and self-perception and so-called natural laws of existence. They will still exist, our brother, but no longer humanity's only path.

Always be apprised of the reality that humanity is far more versatile in its existence than physicality. And now, the exploration of the subtle universe will include the investigation of the subtle human. You will sense, intuit, appreciate, and actively engage these realities, new to humanity but old in reality. There will be a paradigm shift in what it means to be human, and what does it mean to be an eternal being. The human experience for each one is but a moment in time, temporary, but the richness in consciousness through the experience will continue; and continue to serve the next adventures for those who have chosen to experience the human existence.

Initially, this is probably the most significant challenge and opportunity for consciousness: a paradigm shift in self-perception and awareness. What was thought to be impossible to experience will in time become common and a normal way of living. Humanity will not be the first, for these discoveries have existed from the most ancient of times. And even this concept of past and present and future will blend into one understanding of all that has been and all that will be known. Difficult at this time to embrace.

Challenges of perception have been mentioned, and they are real, but they are opportunities, our brother, rich with purpose and meaning. Consciousness is moving inexorably to oneness, universally. We welcome humanity as brothers on the grandest of journeys without end. We are of the Brotherhood of the Atule and we encourage and inspire your achievements.
